TEACHERS IN AUGUST

Program of County Normal is Now Announced.

DATES OF INSTITUTE.

County Superintendent Hoffman Makes Important Announcement Concerning Institute.

County Superintendent F. L. Hoffman has just made announcement of the coming Teachers' Institute fixing the dates from Aug. 7 to 18.

The corps of instructors will be as follows:

W. C. Van Ness, Pres. Denison Normal and business College. J. H. Beveridge, Supt. Missouri Valley Public Schools. W. C. Barloon, Supt. Carroll County Schools. W. S. Mitchell, Supt. Charter Oak Public Schools. Miss Elizabeth Sheehan, Primary Supervisor in Public Schools of Columbus, Neb. John E. Cameron, Instructor of Natural Science in Cedar Rapids High School. A. N. Palmer, Pres. Cedar Rapids Business College and Editor of Western Penman.

Lecturers—Chas. Eldred Shelton, President of Simpson College, Iowa. John E. Cameron, M. D. M. S., Cedar Rapids High school.

County Superintendent F. L. Hoffman, Conductor.

The sessions will be held at the college buildings.

The following is what Supt. Hoffman has to say to the teachers:

To The Teachers of Crawford County:—The regular annual session of the Crawford County Normal Institute will be held in Denison from August 7th to 18th. The institute is for all those who do not attend and who do not make an acceptable substitute will not be expected to teach last March was held the best county teachers' meeting our county has ever had. More than 205 teachers were present and privileged to hear, free of charge, the very able addresses of President Seerely and others. This meeting was quite an example to our institute fund, hence we ask every loyal teacher, even though making a good substitute for actual attendance, to enroll and thus enable us to look forward to something just as good for next March. Last spring nine of our townships raised teachers' wages. Indications are that more will do so next spring. The graded schools of our county are raising wages generally. There is a demand for better wages, better teachers, better schools. Progression is the slogan all along the line. We feel assured that no teacher in Crawford county will in any way retard this progression. We believe that each and every one knows his responsibility and realizes the great need of self improvement to keep pace with this advance to better things.

Tommy was a little lad about five years old. One night he went to bed off up stairs in the dark. Along in the night his mother heard a muffled thud and then Tommy's voice crying out. She immediately guessed what had happened and running to the stair door called out, "Why Tommy, what's the matter? What made you fall out of bed?" Tommy, through his tears, answered, "I don't know, mamma, but I guess I went to sleep too near where I got in."

Teachers, whether you teach in the finest of graded schools, or out in the little two-by-four country school house, by all means do not go to sleep too near where you got in. But come to institute and partake of the good things we shall have for teachers. Come and get your share of the social enjoyment, up-to-date methods, academic review, vital inspiration, and professional credit which we expect to have in almost unlimited supply.

Announcements.

In our music work we shall use Bartlett's Music Reader. For an outline of study we shall use the Revised Manual for Iowa Institutes. Be sure to bring these two books with you.

Bring with you such text books as you will expect to use in making a good, thorough review of both matter and method in the studies you take.

On Thursday evening, August 17th, at eight o'clock the rural graduating exercises will take place in the college chapel. A good program will be arranged and a fine class graduated.

Lectures.

On an evening of the first week an illustrated lecture will be given by John E. Cameron, M. D. M. S., of Cedar Rapids Iowa, August 17th Pres. Chas. E. Shelton of Simpson college will make two addresses to the teachers during the day and deliver a lecture in the evening. These men being among the very best institute lecturers and speakers in our state, we are looking forward to something good.

Institute Classification.

Those holding state, special, or first-grade certificates will enroll in the A grade and may select the work they take, subject to the approval of the county superintendent. Those who expect to take the examination for a first grade certificate will enroll in the A grade. The B grade work in elementary civics and beginning algebra is planned for those who hold a second grade certificate and have had one year's experience. At this stage one should begin to work for a first-class certificate. The C grade is for third-class certificate teachers and high school graduates. The D will comprise all who are not eligible to the other grades. Changing from one grade to another is emphatically forbidden.

Certificates

For first-class certificates candidates must have 36 weeks' experience in teaching and attain an average of 90 per cent, with no common branch below 85 per cent and no special branch below 80 per cent.

For second-class certificates candidates must have had one term's experience and attain an average of 85 per cent with no branch below 75 per cent.

For third-class certificates candidates must be at least 18 years old and must attain an average of 80 per cent with no branch below 70 per cent.

Examinations.

All examinations will be given on August 18th and 19th. The number of examinations a teacher must write is determined by her institute attendance and professional record. The work will go on without a thought of examinations until the announcement during the second week. The renewal of first-grade certificates will be made without examination, provided the applicant attends institute and has an acceptable record.

THE HAIL SUFFERERS.

The Review extends its sincere sympathy to those who saw their growing crops destroyed by the severe storm of last week. The fields of corn and grain meant many weary hours of toil and they told of many comforts, many hopes and plans and fond ambitions to be realized when the golden grain was gathered in. The farmers of Crawford are thrifty and fore-handed, there will be little actual suffering imposed on anyone, but it is nevertheless hard to see the work of a summer blasted in an hour. We are glad to say that the destruction while widespread is not universal and it is hoped that many fields will yet yield a half crop. We believe that hereafter more farmers will carry hail insurance as a wise precaution against just such visitations. Again we repeat that the losers have our sincere sympathy and it is our hope that another year they may have much better fortune.

Mr. C. L. Voss has purchased the Sage farm in East Boyer. There are something over 200 acres and it appears to be a bargain at $55 per acre.

A BALD PROPOSITION.

The REVIEW is in receipt of an advertising proposition from the manager of a hair raising establishment in Chicago. The manager evidently knows the guilelessness of the country newspaper man. He urges us to run his advertisement five times, at the end of which time if the advertisement has paid him he will pay us half. The half of what, he does not say. He further intimates that it would be kind of us to run the advertisement five times free, with the hope that if we do, and if it pays him, he will advertise with us for a year. This is an opportunity we have long sought. The REVIEW is purely a philanthropic institution, we have no bills to pay and life is one long fretful dream of devising ways and means so that we may not die rich. If we could but have it on our tomb, "He put uncounted hairs on uncounted heads" what better epitaph could we wish. Andy Carnegie would not be in with us. We could string our golden harp with hair from the heads of our grateful benefactors. But we have put the temptation behind us. The ghost that walks on Saturday night cannot be laid with hair oil. But the nerve of that man. We shall admire it to our dying day. He certainly is a hair raiser, and we expect that he will find many editors less mercenary, less sordid and avaricious than ourselves who will jump at this chance to get "half if it pays him and he cannot get it free."

Since writing the above we have received a letter from the enterprising advertiser telling us in a firm but kindly manner that we are "crook cranks" and that they are "plenty of News papers who accept my advertisements under the conditions that you refuse". He further states that "we only intend to place advertisements in papers that pays to advertise in".

Evidently the construction being that they do not place their advertisements with papers that it requires pay to advertise in. We submit that while the hair raiser man does not require nerve treatment, a primary course in English might do him good.

DOWN IN MOBILE.

Mr. R. A. Romans returned last week from a ten days trip to Alabama. Mr. Romans is one of a syndicate who have purchased land on a narrow peninsula south of Mobile and extending to Fort Morgan. Mr. Romans tells us that a deep water harbor is being opened up near his land and that a railroad is to be built at once. The navigation of Mobile Bay is an expensive and difficult operation for large vessels and it is expected that a new city will spring up at the deep water harbor which will be a great rival for the old southern city. If this is the case the land owned by the syndicate will become very valuable. Mr. Romans declares that the climate near Fort Morgan is delightful there being a continuous breeze, either from the Gulf or from Mobile Bay. We hope that the Iowa speculators will be richly rewarded for their enterprise.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICE

During the pastor's absence services will be held as follows at the Presbyterian church, July 23rd, preaching by Rev. Daniel Williams of Storm Lake. July 30th, no preaching service, the congregation uniting in the farewell services of Rev. Mr. Morphy at the Baptist church. Services regularly each Sunday during August conducted by Rev. C. W. Creighton of Kentucky. Prayer meeting and Sunday school as usual.

Prof. E. N. Fellows has come to Denison and after a visit at G. Innell he will move into the beautiful Gronau residence on Main street. Thus far Prof. Fellows has made a most favorable impression with all of our people and there is every reason to believe that the school year will be a successful one.
