SID GREEN ESCAPES.

Well Laid Plans For Capture Are Foiled.

LAME LAID TO CALIFORNIANS

Released on His Own Recognition He Breaks Parole—Whereabouts is Now Unknown.

Sid Green—Banker—Cattle King—Free Silverite—Outlaw has again escaped justice and his whereabouts are now unknown. After months of watching and waiting, while much unjust criticism was heaped upon him, County Attorney P. J. Klinker finally located the fugitive but on account of the stupidity of credulous California officials Green escapes the well laid plans to bring him back to justice.

During all these months the County Attorney with the assistance of Deputy U. S. Marshall W. J. McAhren has been watching to obtain authentic news of Green's whereabouts. At last definite information was received through a resident of Dow City. Marshall McAhren was the man who got the information which he immediately laid before Mr.

It was stated that he was at Winters, Calif. Knowing his man, Mr. Klinker resolved to proceed as quietly as possible giving just as little chance for escape as he could.

The information was received July 18th. On that date Mr. Klinker wrote to the Chief of Police of Winters, Calif. giving description of Green, sending his photograph, and instructing the California officer, if his man was there to have him shadowed and to wire at once so that extradition papers could be obtained. On July 22nd came the answer.

Winters Calif.
P. J. KLINKER County Atty.
Denison Iowa.
"Your man is here."
GEO. W. OVERHOUSE,
City Marshall.

On receipt of this message Mr. Klinker at once made application for extradition and wrote Overhouse full particulars of his plans, the crime for which Green was wanted, the necessity for great care and precaution but stating that arrest was not to be made until officers started, in order to give Green just as little time as possible to institute habeas corpus proceedings or to hide the officers as he finally succeeded in doing.

The extradition papers were received at Des Moines on July 25th and Mr. Klinker wired Overhouse as follows.

"Arrest our man wire me and officer will start immediately."
And the same day came the answer.

Winters Calif.
P. J. Klinker.
Denison, Iowa.
"Your man is locked up, W. S. Green."
GEO. W. OVERHOUSE
City Marshall

Mr. Klinker responded,
"Officer with requisition papers leaves for California on first available train."
P. J. KLINKER

Green Makes A Bluff

It was at this time that Green made his grand stand play probably a part of the game by which he persuaded the California officer to let him out of jail on his own recognizance. For at this juncture Mr. Klinker received the following remarkable dispatch.

Winters Calif.
July, 25th
P. J. Klinker,
County Attorney,
Denison Iowa
When waive extradition papers, will go any time you want me.

SID GREEN.
Fully realizing that this was only a bluff and little dreaming that after all his letters and telegrams the authorities would be so utterly foolish as to let Green out on parole, Mr. Klinker at once authorized Marshall McAhren to proceed. He reached Sacramento, to which place he was obliged to go to get the proper papers from the Governor of California, on July 29th. He at once proceeded to Winters only to find his bird had flown. The following dispatch published in the Register and Leader of Sunday last gives all the details of the escape so far as known.

Winters Calif July 29th

"H. S. Green arrested here on a charge of fraudulent banking at Dow City, Ia. and held on his own recognition, broke his parole last night and left the country. It is supposed he went to Portland, Oregon. An Iowa officer arrived at Sacramento to-day to secure extradition papers for Green who was president of the Dow City Exchange Bank when it failed in 1904. He has been a resident of California eight months and of Winters for three months."

A message received from Mr. McAhren on Tuesday tells us of his arrival at Winters and repeats that Green has gone and that he can find nothing as to his whereabouts. Doubtless upon Mr. McAhren's return we shall learn more of the manner in which Green effected his escape. If the California officers were honest, as we hope they are, they were to say the least both stupid and incompetent.

County Attorney Klinker is much chagrined that the capture was not effected after all the time and expense put on the case and he is resolved to capture Green and make his arrest one of the main objects of his remaining time in office. No blame can be attached either to Mr. Klinker or to Marshall McAhren. They proceeded with caution but with all the haste possible and did not fail to impress on the California officers the importance of holding the man arrested.

The crime for which Green is wanted is too fresh in the minds of the people to need a recital of the facts.

They are hundreds of people in Crawford county to-day who are suffering for his misdeeds and abuse of confidence. It is our sincere hope that County Attorney Klinker may yet succeed in his praiseworthy ambition to capture Green even though he may be at the end of the earth.

EIGHTY ODD YEARS YOUNG.

Dr. Philander Tabor, of Independence, Iowa, who visited last week at the home of Mr. Chas. Tabor, is, in many ways, a remarkable man. For many years he was the most popular and best-beloved physician in Independence. It is many years since he retired from active practice, but he is still as active as many a man thirty years his senior. He has never allowed his heart and mind to grow old. He is both a reader and a thinker today, but his great delight is with the children. He is a veritable Hans Christian Andersen when it comes to fairy tales—Buron Munchausen is in second place in stories and Hermann, the Magician, could not do more than half his clever tricks. The children recognize him as their very own because they know they give him as much pleasure as he gives them.

Having gained a competence during his active professional career, Dr. Tabor is able to gratify his taste for travel, and he has a regular annual circuit which extends from Nebraska to Florida. He has but one unbreakable engagement during the year, and that is to be at Independence each November to cast his ballot, and this will be the first year for more than half a century that he has not voted, the biennial election law being responsible there for.

The Doctor has a theory that nearly everyone eats too much, and for years he has lived on a daily ration which would not make a meal for ninety-nine men out of a hundred. He believes that a little plain food, well digested, is enough for the wants of the body and that anything more is a tax on the system rather than an up-building force.

The years since he has passed the allotted three score and ten, have been perhaps as happy as any in his life. He is taking his Heaven as it comes, with no one to begrudge him of his daily joys and happiness. He appears but little more aged than he did at seventy, and there is no apparent reason why he should not pass the century mark. But should he not, we are sure that he will die as happily and as contentedly as he has lived, and with as little fear for the future.

READS HIS OBITUARY.

The reported death of Capt. Wm. Farnilton was untrue. The rumor was persistent enough all last week and although unable to get any particulars THE REVIEW thought it had the report perfectly authenticated. Mr. Farnilton is now at the home of his daughter at DeWitt, Iowa, and is in a very weak condition, and it was probably this fact that led to the rumor which THE REVIEW accepted as true. We trust that no harm has been done, but that the Captain may enjoy with relish the rather unusual privilege of reading his own obituary. We trust that he may regain his strength and live to a still riper old age.

The Review was not the only paper in error as the item was reported in the Council Bluffs Nonpareil and other daily papers.

YOUNG LAD MAIMED

Joseph Smith is Crippled by Cars at Deloit.

WAS IN STARVED CONDITION

Three Weeks Tramp for Work Ends in Accident Which Costs Half His Right Hand.

Maimed and helpless, penniless, and well-nigh starved, Joseph Smith was brought to the Denison City Hospital on Monday morning from Deloit, where sometime during Sunday night he had fallen under the wheels of an Illinois Central through freight. The exact manner of the accident is not known, as he was not found until early Monday morning when Agent C. N. Thwing of Deloit, had occasion to go to the platform to flag the west bound flyer. He thought he had discovered a corpse at first, but soon found signs of life and the lad was brought at once to the Denison City Hospital, where every medical care was given him. His head was badly bruised, there were severe contusion on the body, and two fingers on the right hand were completely severed. He has now revived sufficiently to tell a part of his story, and it is a pitiful one.

His name is Joseph Smith and he is the seventeen year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Smith, former residents of this county. He has a sister, Millie Smith, who, for the past few years, has been working at the Clark Dillivan home in Milford township. According to the boy's story, which is corroborated by his sister, he was on his way to the Dillivan home hoping to secure work in the harvest fields of this county. He had been employed in the fields of Kansas and he was assured that he could get work here. Accordingly he started for Iowa, leaving his Missouri home three weeks ago. Most of the journey was made on foot and his shoes soon began to fall to pieces, his clothing became dusty and travel-worn, and soon he found himself without money, and refused food on account of his tramp like appearance. He was finally forced to the fields to eat the growing wheat, and this, with water, made up his bill of fare.

Sunday he was in Denison, friendless, penniless, and was almost famished. Sunday evening he caught a freight out of Denison, hoping to reach Deloit where he would be near his final destination. Coming to Deloit he either tried to jump from the moving train, or else fell from sheer exhaustion, and falling too near the train he was dragged under the wheels with the serious results already mentioned. He does not know at what time the accident occurred, but it is probable that it occurred about two o'clock, and that for at least four hours he lay bleeding beside the track.

It seems that his father and mother have not prospered since going to Missouri and that the boy had been contributing his earnings to their support.

It appears to us that this is a case where the practical charity of Denison should show itself. We have beautiful homes in Denison; let us show that we have large hearts as well. Cannot some systematic effort be made, not only to relieve this poor boy's present necessities, but to see that some path is opened up in life for one who is to be a cripple during all his manhood days. THE REVIEW would place the matter before the mothers of Denison, who have brave lads of their own, and we know that, in his distress, this boy will be cared for tenderly.

BUSINESS MEN ATTENTION.

Regular Commercial Club Meeting Next Wednesday Night.

On Wednesday Aug. 10th is the regular meeting of the Denison Commercial Club. This is the dull season of the year and there is not a merchant in town who cannot give that evening to a discussion of city affairs if he will. Plan now to be present, let nothing interfere with the plan and let us make next Wednesday's meeting a big one. We know of no special business to come before the meeting but there may be some of which we are not aware, at any rate it will do the business men good to get together and talk things over. Let us all be on hand.

Later—Pres. J. E. Balle has called a special meeting of the Commercial Club for to-morrow Thursday night to hear the reports of Fourth of July Committees to decide what shall be done with fireworks now on hand, and to consider plans for the Old Settlers' Picnic.
