HAVE NEW PASTOR

Rev. C. H. Stull Accepts Call From First Baptist Church.

IS EXPECTED NEXT SUNDAY

Will Arrive on Saturday and Preach to His New Congregation Sunday. Comment of Waukon Paper.

The members of the First Baptist church are rejoicing that the perplexing question of the selection of a new pastor has been solved and that Rev. Charles Henry Stull has accepted the call extended to him.

The new pastor is a comparatively young man, but he has made a great success of his work at other points and the Baptists of Denison are prepared to support him with enthusiasm and unanimity.

Rev. C. H. Stull and his family are expected to arrive in Denison on Saturday and preaching services will be held in the church on Sunday. The Clergy of Denison are all energetic and clear headed Christian hearted men and predict that they will become more than ever before a force in the community.

The following extract from the Waukon, Iowa, Republican, shows the general esteem in which Rev. Stull was held in the city he just leaves:

Rev. Charles Henry Stull, pastor of the First Baptist church, of this city, will close up his work here and terminate his pastoral relations some time during the next week. It is expected that he will deliver his last sermon as pastor next Sunday. Our citizens generally regret to see Mr. Stull leave Waukon and especially so in view of the very successful pastorate he has had here in his church. He was called here from a pastorate in Kansas and assumed the work in the spring of 1902, since which time the old edifice has been replaced by a new and beautiful structure of stone and brick, a fine large pipe organ installed and dedicated free from debt. While the membership has never been strong numerically, it has nevertheless been strong in financial and moral standing in this community.

The resignation of the pastor was not accepted by the congregation, as it was thought that it might be withdrawn, for the entire membership expressed the urgent wish that church and pastor might continue harmoniously in the work. But Providence seemed to decree otherwise.

We extend our best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Stull in their new location. Any time they may have occasion to visit the scenes of their labors here there will be many who will be glad to greet them and hear pastor Stull speak.

We do not know what steps, if any, the church has taken to secure a successor, but it will probably be able to locate the right man in the course of a month or two, as the field is in a splendid condition for the incoming pastor.—Waukon Republican.

Canning Factory Project Goes a Glimmering. Capitalists Not Willing To Invest.

Last week Mr. J. W. Melchior of Toledo, Ohio, representing the Hastings Industrial Co. of Chicago came to Denison trying to interest the capitalists and business men of the city in a canning factory. The firm is in the business of building such factories and offered a proposition which was considered fair and above board by those who inspected it.

A meeting was called at the Commercial Club rooms and Mr. Melchior made a detailed statement of the proposition. He said his company had erected the plant now in operation in Council Bluffs and that it was satisfactory in every way and had been a paying institution from the start. After some discussion the club gave its formal approval to the plan. When Mr. Melchior began his canvass of the town on Friday, however he found that enough citizens could not be interested to make the matter a success and he abandoned the effort.

Having no funds to invest the editor does not feel it his business to criticize those who have the funds but who do not care to invest in that way. We believe the canning factory would be a good thing for the farmers and wage earners of the community, whether it would be a paying investment for the stock-holders we do not know. Some of our people objected to paying the bonus that must necessarily be paid the promoters of such a scheme. Nevertheless we can but regret that this project was not put through. We hope the opera house or the hotel project will not meet a like fate.

A FINE DINNER.

Mr. John Cook gave a delightful dinner on Friday noon complimentary to her guests Mrs. R. Robertson, Mrs. H. Robertson, Miss Robertson and Mrs. James McKim of Deloit. The Denison ladies who partook of Mrs. Cooks hospitality were; Mrs. J. L. Warbasse, Mrs. John Rohwer, Mrs. L. M. Bear, Mrs. J. Ph. Jones, Mrs. Gus. Moeller and Mrs. Chas. Bollen and they are unanimous in declaring that Mrs. Cook gave them a delicious feast and a most pleasant social hour.

BACK FROM NOME

John Sewell Returns After Seven Years Absence.

LIFE IN THE GOLD FIELDS.

Told By Denison Youth Who was a Pioneer in the Nome Gold Fields, of the Frozen North.

Mr. John K. Sewell has returned to Denison after an absence of seven and one half years all of which time was spent in the frozen north of the Alaska gold fields. Mr. Sewell looks to be in the very best of health and shows that hard work and cold climate do not harm a man. It is needless to say that his mother and sisters are delighted to have him with them again although he declares his intention of returning to Nome in the future. His only regret is that he did not return in time to see his father, the news of whose death he first learned from the columns of the REVIEW. The story of Mr. Sewell's experiences in Alaska read like romance to us "stay-at-homes" but there must have been plenty of hard work and privation mixed with the adventure especially for a boy brought up as John was in a comfortable home and without a prior knowledge of what hard work really meant. That he met the difficulties and overcame them is all the more to his credit.

The Ill-Starred Starbuck.

John left Denison in February 1898 and joined the far famed Starbuck expedition paying $200 for the privilege. They landed at Skagway with 15 head of horses and about 120 tons of freight. They freighted this across White Pass to Lake Bennett and there stopped and built two steamboats, which they had in readiness by the middle of June when the ice commenced to break up in the Yukon river. Starbuck and a few others took the smaller steamer and at White Horse Rapids they scooted on ahead leaving the bulk of the party stranded and with few resources. The deserted party kept at work however packing prospecting and boating down to Dawson. They reached Dawson Aug 15th and went to work at once to build huts for winter was fast approaching. Mr. Sewell hung up his sign as a dentist. Five dollars was the regular price for pulling a tooth and other work in proportion. In January 1899 John saw the bottom dropped out of the thermometer, it was seventy degrees below and worse and he was glad to stay close to his office. In the spring he heard of a "good thing" however, closed his office, and went 800 miles up the Yukon to the mouth of the Koyukuk river. He found nothing and during that summer he made his way to Nome reaching there in June 1899.

The Golden Sands.

He was at Nome when the gold was discovered on the beach. From the water line for 150 feet the black sand fairly glittered with the precious metal. Everybody went to "rocking" and John joined the crowd, making from $100 to $120 per day during that summer. When winter began he had quite a roll. The next few years saw ups and downs prospecting and practicing dentistry in the growing busy town of Nome.

A Modern City

Nome has a population of from 3000 to 4000 in the winter and about 10000 in the brief summer. The town is entirely of wood, the streets are paved with planks. Insurance rates are almost prohibitive but the fire protection system is one of the best that any city affords. The town has two newspapers and all the luxuries of home. The chief amusements are home-grown theatricals, dances and poker parties. In the summer heavy curtains are necessary to keep out the day light so that one can sleep. In the winter the shortest day has about 2 hours sunlight and 2 hours of twilight. Unskilled labor commands about $5.00 per day with board and lodging.

Mr. Sewell has of recent years devoted himself entirely to prospecting. He now has 340 acres of low grade gravel, a forty mile ditch is being built and when it is completed Mr. Sewell expects to be able to make this pay good money. He is also interested in a trading, trapping and prospecting company, which is bringing good returns. While John does not pretend that he returns a millionaire he has succeeded in earning a good living in an honorable way, in gaining a fair competency and in laying the foundation of an assured income for future years.

We are glad to see the young man at home again and trust that the future will have all the good things in store for him that his perseverance deserves.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

Until further notice the library will be closed all day on Sunday during the winter months.

A FINE SYSTEM

Denison People Can Soon Boast of Fine Sewage System.

LENGTH DOUBLED THIS YEAR

Completion of Sewer on Sweet Street Will Give Denison More Than Two Miles of First-Class Sewage.

It is only of late that Denison has given adequate attention to the sewage question. That it is of prime importance all admit, but in hilly Denison there was so much to do above ground that the sewage system was long neglected. The first sewage that our city had was the line run by the school board from the High school building south to the river, about one-half mile. Last year the city began work in earnest, a line being run on Main street from the opera house corner to the river. This year 5000 feet has been added to the system the lines running on Locust and Sweet streets, with intersections on Broadway, Chestnut and Railroad avenue. In the city system—not including the school system, there are now twenty-seven blocks or about 10,000 feet of sewage.

This affords adequate sewage for all the business portion and for a large number of residences. It is only a question of a few years now until the entire city will be within reach of this necessity.

The work done this year involves an expense of about $3,000, a large part of which has been paid to labor.

The story is told that one day last week Mr. Sears McHenry went down cellar to fix his furnace, when he came up stairs he was delighted to find that he was the father of a bright new baby girl. Sears had not done a very good job of fire building, and it was suggested that he go to the cellar again and see to the fire. "Not on your life," quoth Sears. "One is enough."

Dr. Lewis president of Morning Side College Sioux City was a Denison visitor last week. He was the guest of Charles Jones home, also enjoyed a short visit with his old time friend C. L. Voss. He is laboring hard for an endowment fund of a quarter of a million, for the college which is much needed to carry on his work successfully.

We thought we had been laboring under difficulties all summer, but this week has capped the climax. We have been unable to work full time on account of carpenter work in our shop room and it is only by the greatest effort that we have been able to publish the REVIEW at all this week even in eight page form. We hope the good time is coming quickly for we will confess that we are pretty well discouraged with the trying conditions under which we are forced to work. It has been the very hardest year we have ever put in in many ways and we beg the indulgence of our readers for yet a few weeks longer.

On Tuesday of last week a very enjoyable three course dinner, was given by Mrs. J. Rohwer, assisted by her friend Mrs. J. Cook, to a number of their lady friends. The menu was all that could be desired, and the hours of social converse that followed, will be a pleasant memory. The guests of honor were Grandma Cook and Mrs. Catt. Mrs. Cook is one whom it is a pleasure to meet, her eighty-five years has not made her less genial, and her sunny smile and pleasant ways endear her to all. Mrs. Catt is a lady of strong personality, yet so kindly and winsome in her manners that to know her is to love and respect her. She is a worthy mother of her illustrious son, in parting she expressed her self as deeply grateful for the loving sympathy shown by many friends, in this time of trial and bereavement. She departed for her home in Denver on Saturday. The best wishes of all go with her.
