THE MAN WORTH WHILE.
 (S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record Herald.)
 It's easy enough to be pleasant. When you've much over which to gloat. But the man worth while is the one who can smile when his collar saws his throat.

The class of 1906 were well remembered with presents. Spoons, gold watches, books etc all found their welcome way to the bright young members of the class. Its a pretty custom if it is not overdone.

"How foolish is the pessimist, Despondent and forlorn, Who always when he gets a rose, Goes hunting for the thorn!"

The city Federation has undertaken a great work in taking charge of the cemetery, but what could be a more womanly or beautiful work than this? It is all we can do for our beloved and lost to make their last resting place a thing of beauty, and it is also true that we make our own place of rest one that we could wish. But this is not the thought that prompts the work being undertaken.

TOM SAWYERS CAVE DESTROYED

The disheartening news comes from Hannibal, Mo., that soon Huckleberry Finn's and Tom Sawyer's cave will be no more. Commerce has marked the spot for destruction, and before long the historic cave, where Tom Sawyer and little Becky Thatcher were lost together and suffered the pangs of hunger and the terrors of darkness; where the murderous half-breed "Injun Joe" met his tragic death; where Tom and Huck found the treasure—will have disappeared into the capacious jaws of a ten-horse power stone-crusher, to be converted into up-to-date cement. Soon all that will be left of McDougal's Cave, where Mark Twain, who every body knows was the original of Tom Sawyer, played as a boy, will be a pile of macadam, or building stone, or best of modern concrete. The destruction of this old cave is an act of vandalism paralleled only by the recent passing of the "old swimming hole," endeared to thousands of boys since it was first pictured by James Whitcomb Riley, which was destroyed by the growth of the ambitious, but prosaic little village on the banks of the Brandywine.

It awaits for some enterprising Iowa insurance company to institute "Old Maid Insurance." Such a plan is worked successfully in Denmark. Women, who have one of those inspirations or "hunches," that they may not be blessed or afflicted (as the case may be) with husbands, pay so much a year and at forty receive pensions for life. Should they wed before the prescribed age, what they have paid in premiums goes to swell the amount available for the benefit of their less fortunate sisters. To be sure, the field in Iowa would not be so lucrative as in certain eastern states.

"Problems of state confront the great And love is bitter sweet, But the question that perplexes us And worries us and vexes us, Far more than love or politics, Is simply—what to eat."

The other day a Buffalo young man nearly lost an outbound steamer in New York, because he stopped to take a farewell kiss. He endangered his life in the leap he made for the deck. But he made it and had the generosity to call back: "It was worth it!" Good for young America.

MAKES VERY RICH STRIKE

Denison Boy Finds Gold In Nevada—Has Made A Fortune

Well authenticated news comes to Denison that Nick Fitzpatrick, son of Frank Fitzpatrick, has made a rich strike in the gold fields of Nevada. He made his lucky discovery in May and states that there is more than one hundred dollars worth of ore in sight at his mine. He has sold the mine on a ninety days option for the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This means that a company has taken hold of the mine and will test it thoroughly, at the end of ninety days they either buy it at the price named or it will revert to Mr. Fitzpatrick together with any improvements they may have made. It is a big thing for the Denison boy in any event.

Immediately upon locating the mine Fitzpatrick also located and laid out a town-site. Lots are being eagerly bought at from fifty to two hundred dollars each and this money also is enriching him. Fitzpatrick went west about seven years ago. He and his friend D. W. McAhren spent one winter prospecting through Colorado. Since that time Fitzpatrick has devoted himself to the mining business. Dr. Sewell tells of meeting him in Nome several years ago. This is the first big strike he has made but it seems that this will be sufficient to make him independently rich for the rest of his life. Nick was a popular young man here. He is a careful, industrious young man of about thirty and is possessed of good health, good habits and a good constitution. His many friends and relatives in Denison rejoice with him in his splendid good fortune.

FORM NEW MARBLE FIRM.

R. L. Hill Sells Half Interest to H. B. Seeley.

R. L. Hill has sold a half interest in his old established marble works to H. B. Seeley of this city. Mr. Hill has built up a good reputation for his fine workmanship and his reliability. Under the new arrangement he will be able to give his entire attention to the work of production, overseeing all the work himself and thus guaranteeing nothing but the very best. Mr. Seeley is an experienced salesman and has a wide acquaintance in this and adjoining counties. He is well equipped for the work of soliciting orders and we believe he will be able to keep the Denison end of the concern busy filling orders. The Review wishes the new firm the utmost success and believes it will be able to make this one of the important industries of Denison.

THEY SELECT THE BRICK.

Building Committee Chooses the Brick for New Hotel.

On Friday the building committee of the Denison Improvement Co. met a representative of the Omaha Hydraulic Pressed Brick Co. and decided upon the brick to be used in the new hotel. After lengthy consultation the committee decided upon a mottled pressed brick, very similar to that used in the Review building. The trimmings will be of a reddish pressed brick and will make a very handsome structure. Architect Barber promises to have the plans and specifications completed by July 5th, and the contract will be let on or about the 15th.

WAY THE BIG WALLACE SHOWS TRAVEL.

The Great Wallace Show is such a mammoth aggregation that it is compelled to visit points of the country where it is sure of liberal patronage. This fact requires it to travel from 20,000 to 30,000 miles annually, visiting only the big cities and the larger towns which are surrounded by productive territory. But whether it be in an Eastern city or in the prosperous town on a Western prairie, the Wallace Show is fully capable of pleasing the crowds in either place.

Even in Washington, D. C., the home of the official dignitaries and political aristocrats of the nation, a place where some people might think a circus would not attract, the Great Wallace Circus was unable to accommodate the crowds.

There are many times when it is impossible for the route of a circus to be arranged so that there will not be a long "run." A seventy-five-mile jump is a good average run for the ordinary circus, and most of them rarely attempt one any longer. Most roads will not haul the average show faster than fifteen miles an hour. It was this fact that prompted B. E. Wallace to spend a fortune for rolling stock and he now has several trains of cars that will stand it to travel as fast as a passenger train if it is necessary, and sometimes it is.

This year Mr. Wallace has added more new cars to his show. They include sleepers, horse cars, box cars and flat cars and they are, each and every one, capable of making passenger-train time.

The Great Wallace Show visits Denison on Thursday June 21.
