There Are No Disappointed Losers— Every Reader is a Prize Winner.....

Experience shows that the various prize contest schemes entered into by newspapers cause twenty heart aches for every one who wins. In the eagerness to win, people are tempted to spend large sums of money which they can ill afford. It is not the hard working agent who wins the prize, but the girl whose people vow that by the Great Jehosphat they will win that prize if it costs a thousand dollars. The publisher sits back and grins while the poor dupes rush to throw in their money urged on by vanity.

It is all well enough for charity for some public enterprise, but a private undertaking it is not good business. Such Contests Have Caused Embezzlements and Broken Hearts.

At the final "secret balloting" you must put up many times the value of the prize if you want your girl to win. Do not be drawn into such foolishness. If your girl needs a watch, or a pony, or a piano, buy it for her, pay cash and you will save 100 per cent over any prize you may buy for her, for Buying the Prize is what it amounts to. And what of the losers—they have strained their resources, chased their friends to death, and they get little or nothing for the money they have put in.

THE LOTTERY SCHEME IS BETTER.

For there each man pays his bill and gets his chance. He has a chance to win himself, in the prize contest schemes the winner is the man with the biggest wad, and he pays mighty dear for his whistle.

If you have from $100 to $500 to spend for a gold watch—or for nothing—by all means let your daughter get all stirred up over a newspaper contest.

THE REVIEW'S PLAN IS FAIR FOR EVERYONE.

You pay your money and get your money's worth. There is no temptation to spend more than you can afford, and you are a safe winner.

TO REPUBLICANS:

We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress.

The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and, that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents issued by the Committee.

Help us achieve a great victory. JAMES S. SHERMAN, Chairman. P. O. Box 2063, New York.

BARNUM'S OLD PLACE

THE HISTORIC MUSEUM THAT STOOD IN LOWER NEW YORK.

Facts About the Famous Curio Hall That Brought a Fortune to the Energetic Showman—Forty Thousand Persons Saw It Consumed by Fire.

"We will ascend to the top of St. Paul's skyscraper and take New York city in a glance," said my friend as we passed the corner of Broadway and Ann street. Entering the doorway and taking the elevator it took but a few moments to find ourselves at the top where from the windows we not only "took in" the entire city, with its brick walls and smoking chimneys, but as far as the eye could reach we saw water and green fields. As we descended we could not help thinking that on this spot for many years stood Barnum's museum, once the dream of all children and a place of universal interest to every one.

Among the many sights and curiosities seen in the museum some are familiar to this day, as Niagara Falls, with real water, trees, rocks, etc.; Joice Heth, the aged colored woman, 161 years old, who had once been nurse to General Washington; the woolly horse, said to have been captured by the Fremont exploring party in the Rocky mountains; the Indian wedding dance; the club that killed Captain Cook; Tom Thumb, the dwarf who drove around the city in a stylish little coach and who married Miss Lavinia Warren, the wedding taking place before a vast assemblage at Grace church while multitudes lined the sidewalks outside; the living whale that was kept in a tank of salt water pumped in from the bay; the hippopotamus, the tropical fish, Commodore Nutt, known as the $30,000 Nutt; the two dromedars; the lightning calculator who could add a square of figures at a glance, and who became a Methodist minister; the fat boy; Anna Swan, the Nova Scotia giantess; the tallest man in the world; the fat woman; Pashasharend, "the what is it," no one knowing whether it was a man or a monkey; the boa constrictor, seen inside a large glass case; the cherry colored cat; the happy family, a collection of cats, rats, adders, rabbits, parrots, birds, etc., all in one cage; also two vast alligators, the living skeleton, the baby mite that weighed only three pounds, the fish with legs, the Fiji mermaid, the giraffe, the rhinoceros, with the tropical birds, parrots, cockatoos, mocking birds, humming birds, vultures and eagle, and the well remembered dog and baby shows.

Then there were the wax figures of pirates and murderers, Franklin Pierce, Patrick Henry, General Washington, James Buchanan, General Marlon, General Lafayette, James Madison, Governor Morris, Prince Imperial

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS.

The reds in Russia threaten to make the czar's title good. —Bartholomew in Minneapolis Journal.

of France, Mme. Roland, Mon Plucher, Nathan Hale, Poor Richard, Daniel Lambert, the Velled Murderess, etc.

In many of the plays thrilling scenes were produced, as in "The Storm at Sea," where a vessel was struck by lightning and the crew rescued by being drawn by a rope up a rocky summit and the army ascending through the narrow defiles of the Swiss Alps.

The museum was burned on the afternoon of July 13, 1865. The fire, it was thought, originated in the engine room, it being necessary to keep up steam to pump fresh air into the water of the aquaria and to propel the fans that kept the heated halls cool. The flames began in the manager's office and extended to all parts of the building. The manager showed great presence of mind by depositing several thousands of dollars in a safe before he escaped from the building. Fully 40,000 persons witnessed the fire, who saw the tall woman lowered by means of ropes to the sidewalk and heard the shrieks of animals in the menagerie and the growls of the Bengal tiger. The lion and his mate, who had escaped from their cage, were seen walking along the floor and an encounter beneath the roof between the eagle and a serpent, when the victorious eagle bore off his enemy in his talons amid loud cheers. The polar bear, escaping from the building, walked through the streets to the custom house, where, ascending to the balcony, he fell and broke his neck. Other animals, jumping from the windows, caused the crowd to stampede, when some lost their hats, others had their coats torn, and many became awfully disfigured by falling in the mud. The remains of the two whales, the kangaroo and crocodile were found in the ruins. The loss of no other building in the city could have caused so much excitement and regret as Barnum's museum.—Brooklyn Citizen.

When Men Wore Bustles.

"Bustles were ridiculous," said an antiquary. "Do you remember the bustle of 1885? It shot straight out from the waist, a broad seat on which, honestly, an adult could have sat. Yes, bustles were ridiculous, but no more ridiculous than the tournures of Francis II. The tournures were worn by men. They were bustles—front instead of rear ones. Yes, in the time of Francis II, portliness was considered stately, and men tied on tournures, or false stomachs, in order to achieve an air of dignity."

Dual Morality.

One never hears of a duke going wrong. Every one bearing any other title in the peerage may be perhaps subjected to the temptations of "the world, the flesh and the devil," but a duke never! Indeed, the old Scotsman's verdict that dukes are "verra, verra respectable people" seems one about which there can be no doubt.—London Tatler.

"Johnny," queried the teacher of the juvenile class, "what is the difference between electricity and lightning?" "You don't have to pay nothin' for lightning," answered Johnny.—Milwaukee Sentinel.
