Our Buck Grove school closed last Friday afternoon with a very pleasing program by the scholars. The teacher and pupils were very much pleased by the interest manifested by the parents and others who showed by their presence their appreciation of their efforts. The school house was filled to its capacity by visitors never before have so many turned out to a school entertainment, and all expressed themselves as more than repaid, for the scholars certainly did credit to their teacher's training and acquitted themselves well without a single exception. There were thirty-eight scholars and each took some part. Special mention must be made of the ten little tots, who each spoke a piece for the first time. The songs were well rendered, without a discordant note, which is doing fine, considering there was no instrument to help along. Both teacher and pupils deserve congratulations.

Henry Hink, on going into his store one day last week found a quantity of cotton baton, which was on an upper shelf, on fire. With rare presence of mind Henry carried the burning cotton out doors and so saved his store. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought, that possibly the head of a match might have lit up there, or been carried by a mouse and ignited by the animal chewing it, but all this is only conjecture.

Dr. Bonney went down to Mr. Slater's timber one day last week and helped that gentleman and Mr. Haines cut down a bee tree, or rather the medical gentleman looked on while the others did the work. The doctor did his part when it came to getting the honey out. Messrs Slater and Haines were to have the honey and Dr. Bonney the bees. There proved to be only about two pounds of honey, but a nice colony of Italian bees which the Doctor hived and took home. They will have to be fed but if they winter well, he will replace the Italian queen with a Caucasian one in the Spring and so increase the number of non stinging bees, he being now in possession of one hive of the latter.

A great many of the Arion people attended the funeral of S. E. Dow, Thursday. Mr. Dow was always a friend to the poor and needy and for several years was the wealthiest man in the county, but was always unassuming in his ways and was the first to assist those who came to the prairies of Iowa, to help them and give them shelter until they were able to erect the rude dwelling houses that dotted here and there on this valley.
