

THE KIRON REVIEW.

NOTE—Mr. Clauson is empowered to receipt for subscriptions or to receive advertisements to be inserted in this column.

Joel Johnson and wife came down from Wall Lake on Wednesday to attend the Larson silver wedding and to greet their numerous friends, returning on Thursday evening.

Isaac Newton was a Kiron visitor on Wednesday and Thursday.

Chas. Dolk and Ole Strahn returned Thursday from a couple of days hunting near Mondamin. They reported shooting lots of ducks and upon being asked what they did with them, they replied that some were brought home, the balance they left. The boys believe that those they brought home were purchased and those left behind were those shot at and missed.

The material for the water works has partly arrived and work will soon be in full progress.

Big Ed. has filled the landlорship at the hotel the past week during the absence of landlор Johnson at Chicago. Ed. went at it just as if he had been working at that trade all his life.

The Louis Larson home south of town has been quarantined, Bead Olson being sick with a very mild case of scarlet fever.

Some grain was sown in this locality last week which makes it the earliest seeding for a number of years.

Modig who were pleased to again meet and listen to him. He was on his way to Sweden to visit his aged parents and expected to be back home within ten weeks.

We noticed the Deloit correspondent in last week's Review says they equal any town of its size for musical instruments. Well Kiron is away ahead, small as it is it can count nineteen pianos and twenty organs inside of its corporation, beside the drums, horns, cornets, violins and guitars. Kiron takes a front seat in musical ranks.

Fred Berendes came over on the noon passenger on Thursday to shake hands with the boys and look after business. He intends to leave next week with his family for Dakota.

Andy Ward and E. O. Berggren left on Tuesday to file and locate on a homestead. They are to be commended on their determination to make their own way through this world, even if it means a little deprivation to start with.

Sadie Bergstrom has become one of our townfolks, making her home with the Sedarberg family.

Blanche Olson came down from Odebolt last week to visit her friends in Old Kiron.

Born to E. Warren and wife on last Friday, a bright baby boy. Mother and little fellow getting along nicely and Warren was able to come to town Saturday night, happy as a lark over the little fellow's arrival.

Mrs. F. A. Burrows and Alice Sandberg enjoyed a pleasant ride across the country to Odebolt on Thursday where they visited friends a few hours.

Wm. Schernbeck who has been spending the past three weeks in the neighborhood west of Kiron, repairing and improving about his farm and visiting with his many old neighbors returned on Saturday to his home in Davenport.

Five new members were added to the Baptist church on Sunday morning through baptism, the service being attended and witnessed by a large number. It has been announced that there will be baptismal services again at the church on next Sunday morning.

A SILVER WEDDING

Prominent Kiron People Celebrate 25th Anniversary

SPLENDID SOCIAL EVENT.

Friends and Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Larson Rejoice with Them at Old Kiron

Special to Review:—On Wednesday evening of last week, March 20, occurred one of our most brilliant social events of our remembrance when everybody (it seemed that way) accepted invitations and went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Larson to help them celebrate and remember that they had been married a quarter of a century. Mr. and Mrs. Larson whose likenesses accompany this pleasure abounded, we use the expression in its fullest sense. This estimable couple joined hand and heart and commenced married life on the old homestead, which they still occupy and which they have so pleasantly improved and with their thrift and industry and perseverance, which is a pleasure to note. They have been amply rewarded and all join in saying with us that what they have and enjoy is well deserved. A family of ten children, five boys and five girls, adorn and bless their home, and they have been brought up to honor father and mother. Their home and homelife are model and our settlement boasts of nothing more convenient, pleasanter or better. They have been kind and charitable at all times. No one in need has ever been sent away empty handed. This alone speaks volumes for the kind heartedness of this couple and a visit to the home is proof in plenty of the writer's truthfulness. All in all it was an occasion not soon vided in loving remembrance. I. A. Goff, our Station Agent made a few remarks in his witty and taking style and referred casually to the fact that the signs of the times were pointing in no uncertain way, if his judgment were correct, to the sound of wedding bells in the home in the not far distant future. Dr. Burrows and C. C. Walters spoke briefly and to the point also. The names of the donors of the beautiful tea set had been engrossed and framed and will occupy a conspicuous position in their household. The elegant supper was served in courses and it goes without saying that all did justice to the bountiful repast. That Mr. and Mrs. Larson may "live long and prosper" as Rip Van Winkle has it is the unanimous of all present.

The guests from abroad were Mr. and Mrs. James Lindquist, Overton, Nebraska; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Wall Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Alf Lindquist and son Ray from Arthur, and Jake Anderson and wife, Chas. Larson and wife of Odebolt and Victor Lindman and wife of near Ida Grove. May they live to see and enjoy many happy returns of the day.

Sher Ainsworth is about to tempt fortune again as a clothing merchant in Laurel, Neb.

article are numbered among the best people anywhere and have won and retained the deepest esteem and respect of the entire locality. The fact that their elegant home was opened for an occasion of this kind was enough in itself to guarantee the best ever and those who were there had just that kind of a time. Their home was filled with friends and neighbors who were made to feel at home as they always do when under their roof. Mr. and Mrs. Larson know how to entertain and make all feel at home and it is just such things that make us enjoy ourselves and which assist in making us feel that after all life is worth living, and when we say that a spirit of sociability, joviality and to be forgotten and one could not but notice that the happiness of this loving and lovable couple is as full and complete as it was on their wedding day twenty-five years ago. Among the speakers of the evening were F. L. Johnson who was present on the marriage day. His remarks were good and he referred feelingly to the success of the two hearts now beating as one, to their happy home, their loving and beloved children and said that here was one of the numerous cases which proved marriage a success and not a failure, and which leads directly to our success as a nation. "His Honor" G. A. Norelius in a neat speech presented the gifts, among which was an $85. tea set which had been pro-
