We have it from good authority that on April 29th the Los Angeles Limited, the fast forenoon train west, will resume its old place on the Northwestern schedule. This is a fine train and one that gives splendid service to Denison passengers for Omaha and the west. It will leave here on its old time, at 9:24 a. m.

Commercial Band Has Fine Concert at Vail With Good Audience.

The Denison Commercial Band returned from its concert trip to Vail with many praises for the town band for the appreciative audience which greeted the program on Friday evening.

Mrs. Lou F. Martin, Miss Brackney, Miss Nachtman and Miss Allie Sewell were the Denison artists who helped the boys and whose presence on the program added largely to its enjoyment. The ladies were taken to Vail in the Voss auto driven by Mr. Boylan, and they made the trip in twenty-three minutes.

From those who attended we learn that the band did exceptionally well and earned fresh laurels. Chase Kemming played a baritone solo which was greatly appreciated. After the concert a dance was given and many of the young people enjoyed it fully. The band boys not only earned a neat little sum to apply on their new uniforms, but they feel that they made new friends and thank the people of Vail for their kind patronage.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Speck a twelve pound girl. April 18.

Miss Emma Ricketts and Miss Fern Wells of Schleswig visited here last Tuesday.

Master Miles Bradbury of Manilla was operated on last week and is doing very nicely now.

Miss Glau and Mrs. A. A. Fishel and daughter Miss Lula of Dow City were Denison visitors last Friday.

The Odebolt Chronicle declares that the Times-Republican is "fearless in editorial expression, almost invariably on the right side, ably edited and contains all the important news of the state and nation." The Rhodes Review says, "there may be a better paper for Iowa readers but we have yet to see it."

WATER WORKS MATTERS.

The committee of the council has let the contract for digging for water mains on Railroad Avenue, to Jas. Armstrong for 61 cents per lineal foot. The iron is expected within a few days and work will begin at once.

The object of this main is to give circuit connection with the west Denison lines. This is of great value as the water service is better, the "dead ends" do not have to be flushed, and when, on account of a break, the water must be cut off, it can be done without depriving a large section of its water supply.

Alderman Wright tells us that a similar connection is to be made in east Denison and that it will be the policy of the water committee to perfect the water system, rather than to enlarge it. Mr. Wright tells us that there is no adequate map of the water system. That for years no accurate records were made, so that the council must proceed in the dark. He tells of one instance where it was found that two houses were being supplied with city water without the knowledge of the council and without any rent being paid. At the present all changes, cut-offs etc., are being accurately mapped as made and the old lines are being mapped as accurately as possible. One result of the careless methods of the past has been to make repairs doubly expensive and to make the users of city water pay a high rate, much higher than it should be. Mr. Wright interprets the new law that the city can incur no indebtedness without a vote of the people. Thus it was impossible to accept the offer of a prominent citizen that he would advance the money without interest for two years if the mains were extended to his residence where not only this property owner but many others would be benefited. Mr. Wright also construes the law that the city cannot save money one year to expend it the next. It would seem to us, either that the alderman has misinterpreted the new law, or else it is a lame affair, seriously crippling the business-like administration of the city's affairs. We have a fine water supply which should be extended as rapidly as possible to cover the whole town. This should not be done however at the sole expense of the users of city water. At present they are obliged to pay, not only for the water they use, but for fire protection for non-users, for interest on debt, for sinking fund, for extension of mains and for water for all public uses. It is hardly a square deal, but we must confess that we see no adequate remedy.

MINE PLEASES MR. TEMPLE

Veteran Miner and Lumberman Makes Favorable Report on Kansas Mine.

Editor of Review:— Regarding my visit to the Kansas Lead Mine located at Elizabeth, Ill., which I have just carefully inspected I wish to say:

That this locality is in the Galena District and has furnished millions of pounds of lead to the world in former times. Elizabeth is a town of about 1200 people and is located on the Chicago Great Western Railway. I visited a number of the nearby mines. The Blackhawk and Wishon on the north, the Kansas and Illinois on the west and the Elizabeth and Skene on the south. These are all producers, though at this time several are in the process of enlargement preparing for the greater business this district is anticipating.

I found the Kansas to be nicely located on a 63 acre tract of land that joins the school yard and extends west to Apple River. Their buildings are well constructed and made of good material. The foundations are ample and substantial. The machinery is new and of approved patent and is doing excellent work. The plant is supplied with good boilers, pumps, engines, air compressor, hoist and all other necessary machinery usually found in the main building of a well equipped mine. Their main shaft is a beauty, being 6 by 18 feet in the clear, well built and timbered to a depth of 127 feet. From this their drifts radiate. It seemed like old times to don the miner's coat and boots and with candle in hand, to explore the underground work. Lead shows in numerous places in the different drifts, but especially in the "West Drift" where I took the pick in hand and worked for half an hour getting out nice chunks of ore, a small sample of which I am mailing to you. In less than an hour I took out enough to pay a day's wages to the miner.

I am especially well pleased to say that I found everything as it had been represented to me and that there seems to be no disposition on the part of those connected with the property either to over estimate its value or to make misleading statements. The plan is running economically and the manner of its equipment and location makes this possible.

It is my judgment as a business man and a miner that this property is sure to be a paying plant in the near future and I am much pleased with my trip. W. R. TEMPLE.

GRANT AT SHILOH.

It will ever be an interesting question whether Grant was surprised by the Confederate army at Shiloh. The battle ended in a glorious victory for the union arms, but more could have been accomplished if the pursuit had been vigorously made and there would not have been so many lives lost if the men had been given orders to entrench. When the boys had longer experience they did not need orders to begin to protect themselves. They began to burrow like so many rabbits as soon as it became evident that they were to remain any length of time in one place, or it was known that the enemy was near. P. A. Smith, the able vigorous ex-soldier, editor of the Scranton Journal who was on the battle field and thinks he knows what he is saying, insists that Grant was surprised to a considerable extent. He cannot reconcile knowledge of the presence of the Confederate army and the lack of the ordinary preparations to meet an enemy, and he thinks Grant was surprised at Shiloh. Mr. Smith also regrets that the Confederates were not vigorously pursued, for he says they were badly demoralized. Meade was criticised for not following up Lee after Gettysburg when the waters of the Potomac rose up and held the rebels for days in helpless condition. As to the retreat after Shiloh Mr. Smith has this to say:

"The fight on the 7th did not amount to much. By 9 o'clock the Confederate army was in full retreat back to Corinth. Gen. Sidney Johnston had been killed on the afternoon of the first day's fight. Gen. Wallace and Gen. Buell had arrived on the scene of action with some 20,000 fresh troops and the Confederate officers knew this and hence beat a sudden and hasty retreat. This is not guess work for The Journal editor in company with 2200 other prisoners of war was with them in their retreat. They actually abandoned artillery, commissary stores and nearly their entire train of wagons which a regiment of soldiers could have captured without firing a gun, had they followed up that retreating army."

WORK OF KING'S DAUGHTERS.

While the work of the King's Daughters is primarily spiritual there is in conjunction with it a large amount of material charity which is the natural outgrowth of true spiritual consecration.

It is becoming more and more apparent that there are many ways, both wise and unwise, of dispensing charity and it is to the credit of the King's Daughters that they have learned the better way. In towns possessing a charity organization they do not hesitate to be guided entirely by that society, and where there is none, the greatest caution is observed that their help may not prove a hindrance or induce pauperism.

At a recent Iowa convention, one of the founders of the order, Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, of New York, spoke this great truth: "The giving of Thanksgiving dinners to the poor is right so far as it goes, but never to the same family the second year." explaining the unusual statement thus: "Never take up a case to drop it. If a family needs your help on Thanksgiving day, do not rest until you have seen to it that they are in a position to buy their own dinner the next year. That is the only true charity, to help people to help themselves." And this is what the King's Daughters of Iowa are doing today.

REVIEW'S MARKET LETTER.

Furnished by Clay Robinson Co, the Well Known Omaha Firm.

South Omaha, April 20, 1907. While cattle receipts during the past week have been heavy, there being six thousand head more received than last week and nearly eleven thousand more than for the corresponding week of a year ago, it seemed to have had no depressing influence on the trade. Outside orders were quite numerous, and it is due particularly to this influence that we have had such a good market. Local buyers invariably endeavored to take advantage of the heavy receipts, but they found that their "bear dope" availed them nothing. For the week prices on good steers are fully five to ten cents higher, light, handy-weight steers meeting with most favor. Butcher stock has been even more favored, prices being fully 10 to 15 cents higher, the same preference for the good stuff being also shown in this division. Feeders have changed very little for the week. Steer prices on the basis of to-day's trade are about as follows: Good to choice 1200 to 1250 pound beef steers $5.40 to $5.90; fair to good 1050 to 1350 pound beef steers $4.90 to $5.40; common to fair warmed-up and short-fed grades $4.00 to $4.85, or prices not a great deal different from last week. Good to choice fat cows and heifers are quoted $4.35 to 4.90; fair to good butcher grades $3.50 to $4.25, with canners and cutters $2.25 to $3.40. Good to choice stockers and feeders $4.60 to $5.15; fair to good grades $4.00 to $4.50; common to fair stuff and odds and ends $3.00 to $4.00.

The hog market has been very uneven during the past week. The market to-day is a shade stronger, bulk of the sales being made at $6.30 to $6.35, top $6.45, this being five to ten cents lower than last Monday. We believe that supplies should come forward just as fast as they are fit. There does not seem to be anything in the trade that warrants holding for higher prices.

P. A. SMITH GETS PLUM.

Jefferson Bee Gives the Editor of the Scranton Journal a Well Earned Endorsement.

Greene county people doff their hats to Hon. P. A. Smith, of Scranton, upon his appointment, last week, as one of three members of the new state board of parole, established by the last legislature. The purpose of this board is to take out of the hands of the governor all cases of pardons for criminals except the board of pardons has larger powers than what the governor had under the old system. The bill creating the board, and establishing the new indeterminate sentence law is a good one, while "Pa's" appointment as one of the members thereof is popular in the extreme. Mr. Smith is a man who will give his duties careful consideration, one who will see that criminals get what they are entitled to, not only from their own side of the case, but from the standpoint of the public, justice and morality.

The other members are: Messrs. W. H. Berry, of Indianola, and J. M. Emmert, of Altantic. This leaves Mr. Smith as the only representative of northern Iowa on the board.

The board will take charge of the parol and parole business which now is done in the executive offices. It will establish a grade system at the new reformatory at Anamosa in pursuance of the indeterminate sentence law, and will pass on the cases of persons confined in the reformatory who deserve release or who earn parole and pardon. They also have charge of the transfer of convicts from the prison at Fort Madison to the reformatory at Anamosa, and vice versa. This board will employ a secretary who will maintain headquarters for it at the state house, but the members will not be continuously in session. They are paid a per diem of $10 for actual time employed and actual expenses incurred, while the secretary will be paid a salary.

SWEET SIXTEEN

The Dow City Enterprise Rounds Out Sixteen Years.

"The Enterprise has rounded out full sixteen years and with this issue we begin volume seventeen. The year just closed has been as prosperous as the average, but has not been up to what we expect to make it in the future. We thank all who have assisted us in the past and solicit your cooperation in the future. We can not make it what it should be without your help."

Under the direction of Mr. Rudd the Enterprise has been a good paper for Dow City. It has always been safe, conservative, reliable, the good has been maintained and the wrong shunned. The day may come when our neighboring town will even more highly appreciate than now the work of Harrison Rudd in the years gone by. Such men as he are an honor to the newspaper profession.

NOTICE.

Having decided to close up my business here by the first of May, I ask all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to me to please call and settle at once.
