TWO YOUNG PRIESTS.

Home Coming of Andrew Bauman and Patrick Brosnahan two Young Men

Among the honors which Crawford county can claim is that it has given two of its young men to the priesthood of the Catholic church. On Sunday last and for a number of days, both were again here and accorded a warm reception among their friends. The elder of the two was Father Andrew Bauman who has been a priest for ten years. He was known as a school boy as Maurice, but on being ordained was given a new name. He is a member of the order which conducts the Missions. These are what the Protestant churches call revivals. The church has some of its brightest priests in the mission work for it is their duty to arouse the unzealous Catholics to renewed devotion and to make converts from those not of the faith.

They are supported from a common fund, and receive just living expenses. Often on entering this order the new priest will give all the money he has to the common treasury. It will thus be seen that Father Bauman is in the work through zeal for the cause rather than to receive worldly things.

The home coming of Father Bauman at this time was made pleasant by the return likewise of his brother Robert who holds a government position at Colony Oklahoma and whom his friends have been glad to welcome. Father Bauman has returned to his labors in Chicago.

The other welcomed guest of his mother and friends was Father Patrick Brosnahan. The son of Mrs. Maurice Brosnahan of this township. He had not been home for six years for he was fortunate in being able to receive preparation for the priesthood at the American college at Rome covering that length of time. He studied three years at Chicago and six at Rome, and so is equipped for his life work. Before returning home from the Rome he took an extensive trip over Europe. He said his first Mass since returning to America at the church in Denison on last Sunday.

He likewise belongs to the missionary order of the priesthood.

The Brosnahan and Bauman families are closely related. Mat Wolf and family were down from Spencer, Neb., to meet the two priests who are related to them.

HIS FAREWELL SERMON

Rev W E Bryce Preaches His Farewell Sermon Sunday Last

Rev. Bryce whose likeness we print in another column gave his farewell sermon at the Presbyterian church on last Sunday morning. The church was well filled with the membership and many warm friends. It has been his custom to give each Sunday morning a special talk to the children before beginning the regular sermon. This he did not forget on Sunday. The children were given a last kindly word and their ambitions aroused to make good, strong, noble, christian men and women. The sermon was based on the admonition of the great Apostle Paul to Timothy that he continue in the things which he had learned knowing that the bible is able to make one wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. The speaker fortified with illustrations scripture quotations and human experience the necessity and advantage of belief in the scriptures and the living of an upright life. He hoped that prosperity and God's richest spiritual blessings might come to the Denison church. During the service he admitted to membership by baptism and profession of faith, Mrs. Spencer, and dedicated to God in baptism the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cochran giving him the name of Robert Enoch. It was announced that there would be preaching at the church on next Sabbath morning.

P. E. C. Lally returned on Tuesday from Okoboji to attend to business matters for a few days. He tells us that the lake is high, but the fishing very poor.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith on Tuesday, July 30th a daughter.

A BOOM FOR KUEHNLE

State Papers Name Young Denison Man as Gubernatorial Possibility.

The Register and Leader of July 28th contained the following very kindly notice of Hon. Carl F. Kuehnle as a possible candidate for Governor.

"Hon. Carl F. Kuehnle of Denison may enter the race for the Republican nomination for governor next spring.

So many republicans have urged him to be a candidate that he is giving the matter consideration. He was in Des Moines a few hours yesterday, and while he said that he had been compelled by the insistence of some prominent men in the state to consider the possibility of being a candidate, he had not made up his mind, and there was nothing to be said as coming from him.

Mr. Kuehnle was in Des Moines on his way home from Seymour, where he addressed a large gathering held under the auspices of the Pythians on Wednesday. He has made some fifty or sixty speeches at fraternal and kindred gatherings this year and his efforts have given him high standing among the public speakers of Iowa, of whom no state produces the equal.

While he has not been a candidate for office for himself, hitherto, he has been close to the point where the game of politics has been played. However, he has consented to help others, in politics, and has devoted his chief attention to business, his success in which is one of the pleasing things contemplated by his claims. He has held high positions in every circle in which he has exerted himself. For instance, as an alumni of the state University, he has twice served as president of the alumni association, a place to which the alumni have elected such men as Frank O. Lowden, James G. Berryhill and others of like standing.

It is not unlikely that Mr. Kuehnle will enter the race for governor. He resides in the Tenth District which also is the home of Lieutenant Governor Garst. Next year's contest, however, is not a matter of district organizations but it is anybody's fight because of the primary election, each candidate going to the whole people with his claim."

The above from the Register and Leader came as a surprise to Denison people. Mr. Kuehnle while naturally much pleased with the kindly comment is not inclined to take the matter too seriously at present. It would be a great compliment to Denison should a second governor be chosen from among its citizens.

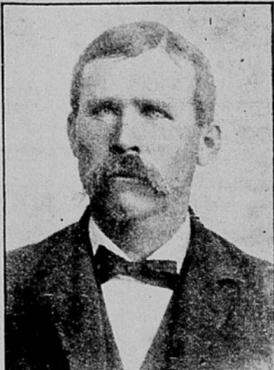

Mr. Kuehnle is one of the young and active republicans of the state, but at the same time is a veteran in the game of politics. His prominence in the work of the Pythian order gives him an extensive acquaintance through the state. His friends will watch development with much interest and if he decides to enter the race will do so with his characteristic vigor.

That the article in the Register and Leader has been well received is evidenced by the following editorial from the pen of Mr. W. O. Payne of the Nevada Representative one of Iowa's leading county papers.—The Representative says:

Mention is made in the papers of Carl F. Kuehnle of Denison as a possible candidate for governor. If he is the "young native born Iowan" whom some of the papers have been anonymously suggesting for some time, it is to be said that the suggestion will be more pleasing in the concrete than it was in the abstract. The suggestion has carried an impression of "freshness," but there is nothing "fresh" about Mr. Kuehnle. He is one of the thoroughly equipped public men of the state, never having held important office, but always concerned in state affairs and fully advised as to business and politics. He is a man of sterling character and approved ability and worthy of the confidence of the party and of the state. We are not advised as to his purpose in the matter, and the reception to be accorded the proposal of his name is as yet to be made evident; but he is fit to be governor, and the people will have no occasion for regret if he shall be nominated and elected.—The Representative, Nevada, Iowa, July 28th 1907.

CROPS IN CRAWFORD.

The weather crop bulletin coming from Des Moines this week is gloomy in tone. While the crops of Crawford are up to the normal those of the state at large are in a precarious condition. This has been a wet season and in those counties where there is no surface drainage or no tilling the land has been cold and unfit for the best cultivation. Knowing as we do the lay of the land about Mason City we are sorry to see in the report "Heavy showers in north central district." The best Mr. Sage can say for corn is that on well drained land under normal conditions there is promise of a fair crop. That is pretty gloomy coming from him. The hills of Crawford are growing corn, the fields looking magnificent, and nothing seemingly but a short growing season will keep our farmers from having a good crop.

THE SLIVERS LOST OUT

Heavy-weights Victors in the Fat-Lean Game Last Week.

Quite the funniest thing ever happened to Denison was the Fat-Lean ball game played last week. It was too funny to attempt to describe. A large crowd was present and nearly fifty dollars added to the base ball fund. Every one got his money's worth. Boylan's loop the loop strong as pitcher was worth the price of admission. "Mab" Rouillier running U. G. Johnson off at third base and the injured look of U. G.'s face made folks laugh till their sides ached. Carl Kuehnle "vumed" that if he ever got to first base he would score, but he didn't. Alf Larson who received the full effect of a baseball bat in the eye while practicing the day before pitched one inning and his black and blue spots made him look as if he had just escaped from a wild west show.

Will Miller made as handsome and lady-like a fielder as we ever saw outside of a bloomer nine. Chris Lorentzen pitched one inning but complained because the umpire warned him that fast balls or curves were barred. Chris would like to have us believe that he could throw a curve. Mayor Carey, efficiently aided by a big pistol did the field umpiring. The fats won by unfair methods, putting Wilroth, who isn't much thicker than a two dollar bill, into the box. Next time they will have to disguise him with a pillow, although he swears to a hundred and ninety pounds.

Nearly every hit was a safe one as the fielders all ran like rabbits when they saw the ball coming—Ran the other way.

The boys are going to try it again and we would advise everyone to go. It is a circus, a minstrel show, a moving picture exhibition and a church social all rolled in to one glorious, side-splitting aggregation of riotous hilarity. We gained three pounds and seven ounces, and several who were eligible for the "leans" when they went to the game laughed themselves into the heavyweight class before it was over.

The line ups were too varied to be given as few played the same position for over five minutes at a stretch.

The final score stood 15 to 12 in favor of the Fats. It is understood that the next game will take place on Thursday evening August 8th.

At the late meeting of the State bar association, Mr. Kuehnle was made a member of the executive committee.

A SAINTED MOTHER

Mrs. E. R. Barber Dies at the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. Glenn, Monday.

Once again do we witness a dear son and daughter sitting side by side and looking into each others eyes with the consciousness that their beloved mother has been separated from them by the hand of death. That mother who had nursed them in love and kindness since their earliest remembrance. The mother who in her declining years they had cherished and sacrificed for, to make her sickness and weakness easy to bear. It is said of Mrs. Barber that she led a quiet uneventful life. That may be in the eyes of some, but to those who know her, there is the knowledge that her life was one beautiful to contemplate, that a helpful loving wife, dutiful mother, consistent christian she set an example worthy of pattern.

In training to manhood and womanhood her son and daughter, Ada Barber Glenn and Edgar Lee Barber, two of the best men and women who have grown up in our city, she reared a monument to herself which speak volumes while they live in our midst.

Eliza J. Givens was born in the state of New York August 1843 and so was nearing the 64th milestone at the time of her death. When a babe in 1845 her parents moved to Juneau, Wis., and there she grew to womanhood. On December, 20th 1865 she was married to Mr. Edgar R. Barber at Juneau. Not long after they united with the Presbyterian church and both remained consistent members through life.

They came to Denison in May 1876 and after living in town one year built the improvements on the farm to the northeast adjoining the town plat. Mrs. Barber had her home there until the death of her husband November, 10 1902. She then made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Glenn in town.

Mrs. Barber leaves a brother, Mr. Ozro E. Givens of St. Louis and a sister Mrs. Richard Hargraves, besides her son and daughter. The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Her children have the sympathy of their friends over their loss, but all know that they are helped in this hour by the hope of the blessed reunion when there will be no more partings.

A CRY FROM CARROLL.

The Sentinel Mourns over the Fall of Its Favorites.

It would not be stating the fact correctly to say that the Carroll aggregation was in hard luck when pitted against Denison last week. The clubs played three games, one at Denison and two on the home grounds. We regret to state that Denison bagged all three games and scarcely gave our boys a "look in" for their money. The game at Denison is said to have been a good one as the score of one to nothing would indicate. But the two pulled off in this city were not up to the standard set by the locals on former occasions, when they swept the diamond like a whirlwind. Fink and Kirkham were off and could not connect with the ball and even our old reliable catcher was not at his best and caught one of Rothermel's twirlers in the neck which retired him from the game. The boys were all in the air pretty much and did some poor playing. The only satisfaction the fans got out of the game was to good naturedly roast the umpires, for we had a different one each day. They were both local men and as Harry says the grand stand got sore at the "umps" because they could not win the games for them. While the umpire is a good man to have on your side he has got to have a little support to win a game from Denison and this Harry says they did not have and we are inclined to believe he has the situation sized up about right. We were in hopes that we would see the sluggers from the west put to the test, but in this we were mistaken. Our boys were too easy for them on this occasion for one to fairly judge the visitors. It was an off day on both occasions and the locals were compelled to record two more games dropped to what we believe to be a weaker club.

Hon. Thos. Healey of Fort Dodge spent Tuesday in Denison.
