Dow City.

If the succeeding numbers of the lecture course equal the one given on Monday evening, Dow City may well consider herself favored. The Parland Newhall Co., gave the best musical entertainment ever given in our town. Very rarely does one hear a quartette which give so varied a program. The vocal numbers were rendered in a particularly harmonious manner, the selections being well chosen and new. The rendition of a portion of the opera "Il Trovatore" was most pleasing as given on the piano, cornet and French horn interspersed by a tenor solo. The bell ringing captivated the audience, the four were artists in this as well as in their singing and playing of brass instrument. The cantata, "Grasshopper sat on a sweet potato vine," was well received. In fact some are still laughing. The concert closed with the much loved song "The Lost Chord."
