

Iron Clad Youths' Shoes

This is one of the best shoes made for the youth who is hard on his shoes. They are made of plump weight kangaroo calf. Iron quilted oak soles—and the uppers go down over the vamps and prevent ripping or getting out of shape—If your boy is hard on shoes come in and get him a pair of our No. 429—You will get more than your moneys' worth. Price, 13 to 2. $2.00

At Kelly's Shoe Store.

The board is in session. John Reimers of Schleswig was a Denison visitor today.

Mrs. Faye Mann returned last week from a visit in Hastings, Nebr.

A newsy letter from Aspinwall was received too late for publication this week.

Postmaster Wiggins of Dow City had an operation performed on his eye today at his home.

Mr. Schlumberger is hearing good reports from his daughter, Miss Grace who is attending the St. Catherine Episcopal college for young ladies at Davenport.

W. A. Porter the old union soldier went to the hospital Tuesday and submitted to an operation on his eye. His friends hope the outcome will be helpful to his eyesight.

The Baptist ladies held a successful supper and bazaar at the Normandy on last Friday evening. The supper was served hot, and in good style and those patronizing were well pleased. Some sixteen of the efficient force of clerks at the Halle-Brodersen store attended the supper in a body headed by the popular and smiling Julius Baile.

Rev. De Pree will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday both morning and evening.

Prof. C. E. Humphreys and Prof. Jacob Johnson attended the Ames-Nebraska foot ball game at Lincoln on Saturday.

Mrs. B. R. Cowdery, Mrs. Ewing and Miss Kittie Cowdery all of Humphrey, Nebr. arrived today for a visit at the Conner home.

Sixty-six hundred weight of print paper was received by the Review this week. Not a very big shipment perhaps, but it was the largest Denison has ever had. It cost about $3.25 a hundred and will last the Review about three months.

Matt Wibleshouser has sold his residence and a strip 75 by 300 feet in North Denison to John Way of Charter Oak. The consideration was $3000. Mr. Way, who is one of the pioneer citizens of Denison, has sold his Charter Oak property and will make Denison his future home. Mr. Wibleshouser tells us that the sale was affected so suddenly that he has made no plans for the future. He will go out of the chicken business however and offers all of his thoroughbred chickens for sale.

AN ELEGANT DINNER.

Complimentary to Judge and Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gulick gave an elegant dinner Tuesday evening, covers were laid for eighteen guests. The table decorations were pink and white, pink roses were the flowers used, cherry center piece and dolly over pink and bon bons of the same color and candles in crystal candle sticks completed the color scheme. The dinner of was unequalled excellence and was served by Miss Gulick and Willetta Strahn. The guests were beside the guests of honor, Judge and Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Laub, Mr. and Mrs. Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Criswell, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyers, Mr. Scriver and Mesdames Sewell, Ley and Young.

Denison has no more delightful hosts than Mr. and Mrs. Gulick and an invitation to their home means an evening of unalloyed pleasure.

This is Denison's busy week socially—Monday night the lecture by Judge Conner and reception given by the D. A. R. chapter—Tuesday night the club dance and dinner given by Mrs. E. Gulick, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Shaw—Wednesday, night the S. S. shower for Miss McAhren—Thursday the Coffee club meets with Mrs. J. B. Romans—Friday Mrs. D. W. McAhren gives an afternoon party as a pre-nuptial for her sister-in-law, Miss McAhren and Saturday night a dinner for Mr. Norris and Miss McAhren.

Henry Clay Laub gave a party on his eighth birthday which was pronounced "dandy" by his little guests. Jack O'Lanterns were the timely favor that sent each little guest home after a fine supper delighted with the party.

It never rains but it pours in the S. S. club and one by one the showers arrives. Wednesday night one is booked for Miss Clara McAhren at the club room. Miss Gulick has charge of the menu and Miss Thureson of the program so a good time is assured.

Miss Gladys Tucker gave a very nice Hallowe'en party. Her invitations were in rhyme and gave a hint that was well fulfilled that a good time was to be expected. Very nice refreshments were served and Miss Tucker, who is one of the popular high school girls gained new laurels as hostess.

A very elegant dinner was tendered Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conner by Mrs. Mary Young upon Friday evening. One very delightful feature was the presence of Mrs. L. M. Shaw of New York. The dinner was served in three courses and was very high tribute to Mrs. Young's skill as a cook. The guests, who were all old friends and hence very congenial, were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conner, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gulick, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, Mesdames W. H. Laub, Sewell and Ley and Mr. Scriver.

In spite of the way the weather man acted Thursday evening the bride whist party given by Mr. and Mrs. P. D. McMahon was a great success. Besides the guests of honor Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conner, there were present, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Lally, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Jessup of Dunlap a sister of Mrs. McMahon's, and Mrs. Johnson and Miss Meyers. Storm and rain were soon forgotten in the pleasure of the game and with the cordial and charming hospitality of the host and hostess.

Mr. Patterson won the first prize for the gentleman and Miss Meyers for the ladies. Both prizes were the hand work of Mrs. McMahon which gave them an added value. Mrs. McMahon served a very nice two course supper to which ample justice was done by the guests.

Frequent Weddings Reduce Stock of Male Eligibles.

Marriages at the rate of one a day have left but comparatively few eligible bachelors in Denison. The wedding mite has never been so active as it has this fall and it is predicted that even some of our most staid bachelors are getting the fever. In order to help the good work along we catalogue a few of the bargain counter snaps still left. Interested damsels may send their proposals via the Review and we will see that they get to the right parties. Next week we will publish another chapter. We would warn correspondence not to write unless their intentions are serious. In case of correspondence leading to matrimony the Review will expect the usual fee.

Bargain No. 1—Young professional man, extremely handsome, blond speaks two languages always. Good habits. First-class politician and bound to rise. Prominent attorney has publicly promised valuable wedding gift.

No. 2—Young business man. Whitest man in town, college graduate, strictly reliable and very susceptible to a little kindness. Has no sense of humor, but a kindly heart.

No. 3—Clerical Gentleman, handsome, dreamy eyes, has no habits. Good provider, equable temper, neat housekeeper.

No. 4—Young Highlander, versed in the law, extremely diffident and will be hard to ensnare. His brother married at the age of 47. Excellent habits, expert whist player, noted from good judgment. Is a bit hasty but otherwise O. K.

No. 5—Clerk. A perfectly square young man, or nearly so, understands all about ladies wear, good provider, kindly, steady and industrious.

No. 6—Clerk. Fine head of hair best of habits, does not drink, smoke, chew, play cards or flirt. Good salary and saving money.

No. 7 and 8 Clerks—High-graded kids, patent leather finish. Rumored that both are taken.

There are still others, among them three young business men, of whom we will speak next week providing the results of this advertisement are satisfactory, as we believe they will be.

Address all communications to Review Matrimonial Bureau giving bargain number.

Later—There is no use writing to No's 7 and 8.

SOLDIER

Last Wednesday A. H. Wendt and wife and son Willie visited with her father in Ricketts a couple of days. They intended to go home Thursday but the rain kept them until Friday afternoon.

Saturday evening a birthday party was given at the home of Henry Stamp and wife, it being Mrs. Stamp's 28th birthday. A large number of friends gathered and a pleasant time was spent. We all wish Mrs. Stamp many more birthday's and good times.

John Eck and family visited at the home of Theodore Eck's over Sunday.

A number gathered at the home of Louis Krolls Sunday. The evening was spent very pleasantly.

Last Sunday a crowd of young folks gathered at the home of Willie Croll. Mr. Croll's birthday and his little son Edward's birthday, were celebrated.

William Baak and Clara Wendt started for a trip to Omaha to visit Mrs. A. H. Wendt, and from there they will go to some other places. It will be a pleasure trip for Clara as she has been pretty steady at her work in the store all the year around.

LANGFORD OF THE THREE BARS

By KATE AND VIRGIL D. BOYLES

A Story of Cattle Rustling Days on the South Dakota Plains

This realistic presentation of life on the ranch holds intensely interesting scenes, dramatic situations and exciting moments, arousing and keeping the reader's complete attention to the end. — Grand Rapids Herald.

The book abounds with the spirit of the great plains and an eager vitality throbs from its pages. It is brim full of abundant, dramatic action, strength and color. — Des Moines Mail and Times.

A rattling story of the South Dakota ranch life in the days of cattle thieves. Seldom has a book contained so many characters that stand for plains life as it actually was in those days, or so many that have a faculty of appealing to the reader. — Fort Worth Telegram.

A tale full of life and action, and thrilling situations, with none of the characters overdrawn. Convincing and well knit together, the novel should take its place with the best fiction founded on life in the wild and breezy west. — Chicago Evening Post.
