Mr. Herrig, the retired German banker, has decided that the old white horse which he has been driving for years is too slow for these modern times and has bought an automobile. It is the same make as that of Mr. E. Gulick thirty horse power, seats for five. Mr. Herrig is having a garage made for his new purchase and proposes to run it himself. He promises his friends a ride when he is thoroughly used to the machine.
It is really unnecessary to call attention to the seven column advertisement of P. J. Eggers. It speaks for itself. Mr. Eggers has become the recognized leader in his line in the entire county. It must be that the farmers are satisfied with his business methods and with the horses he imports and uses, if this were not true he would not be able to remain in the business year after year with a finer and larger list of horses each year. The list this year included almost any class of horses and the farmers can secure the particular strain they think desirable. Mr. Eggers through his enterprise has been of great value to the farmers in improving the stock of the county, for it is just as cheap to raise a good colt as a scrub.

On Wednesday Mrs. George Sprecher gave a very pleasant party to a number of invited guests. Supper was served at small tables decorated in pink with a dainty Easter nest containing a favor for each guest. Pink and white carnations were the flowers used. Mrs. Sprecher, who is delightful and original hostess gives a series of parties this week as well.
On Monday noon Floyd Hoffert met with a serious accident while riding his bicycle on Main street. Riding over the crossing by the Review office, a good speed his machine broke, the front wheel went out from under and Floyd was thrown violently to the ground. He was unconscious for some time and it was several hours before he became rational. He suffered contusions on the head, face and shoulder.
Saturday was "Barborka Day" in Denison. The streets were bright with his carnations and the whole city visited the handsome, newly fitted store in Broadway. An unusual display of fine diamonds was one of the special attractions. Not only was this Mr. Barborka's opening day, but it was a celebration of his twenty-fifth year as a jeweller, for it was just a quarter of a century ago that he commenced to learn his trade, under his father, who is perhaps the most noted watch and clock maker in Iowa.
On Monday night Mrs. George Richardson gave an At Home to the Shakespeare Club and a number of invited guests. Mrs. Richardson is president of the club and this year the members have enjoyed many good times together. The gentlemen were guests of the hostess also, and they had a pleasant taste of the club life their wives so much enjoy. The club colossus and flowers, pink and white carnations were used for the decorations, the color scheme being carried out largely in the refreshments as well. A spelling match made lots of fun, Mrs. John Ainsworth, carrying off the laurels and also a paper knife for the prize. A two course tray supper was served, Mrs. Richardson being assisted by her daughters and Miss Cochran.

A Free Map of Colorado.
M. D. Carroll, for many years a valued subscriber to the Review writes us from Antonito, Colorado, a thriving city in the San Luis Valley not far from the New Mexico line. Mr. Carroll recalls old days in Crawford county and sends greetings to his former school teacher, Prof. Z. T. Hawk. He is now a member of the real estate firm of Menke & Carroll, and he was kind enough to send us a very neat little pocket map of Colorado with a map of Conejos county and a description of the resources of the San Luis country. He writes that he has been looking over the columns of the Review and sending some of these handsome little maps to the old-timers whose names he has seen and he adds that he would be pleased to send one of the maps free to any Review subscriber who requests one. If you would like one of the best pocket maps of Colorado send your address to The Menke & Carroll Realty Co., Antonito, Col. It is the kind of a map you usually pay a quarter for.

It's Surprising

What improvements can be made about the house by the use of a little paint here and there. Old chairs, old cupboards, old tables and dingy woodwork painted with

can change the whole tone of the house. A different paint for each purpose. Tell us what you want to paint and we'll tell you the right paint to use.
