Card of Thanks.
Words fail to express our heartfelt gratitude to the friends and neighbors in our late bereavement. We appreciate your thoughtfulness in sending the beautiful flowers. We thank the singers and those who so beautifully decorated the church. Your kindness has helped us to bear our cross.
Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Brake and Family.
Easily Coaxed.
The new schoolteacher had a talk with Mrs. Hobart one day in regard to discipline. "I don't see how you manage Bobby as well as you do," said the teacher. "I like him, but he's such a mischievous little fellow, and he will not mind, yet every one says he minds you. I wish you'd explain it to me."
"Well," said Mrs. Hobart doubtfully, "I'd just as soon tell you, but I'm afraid it won't help you much. You see, I kind of coax him."
"Coax him!" echoed the teacher.
"Yes," said Mrs. Hobart, "that's what I do. I say to him, 'Now, come, Bobby, wouldn't you rather be mother's good boy and have griddlecakes and syrup for supper and play games till 9 o'clock than have just plain bread and milk that's been through the separator and go to bed right after it, with the curtains drawn so you can't see the stars?'"
"I can most always coax him that way."
"Once in awhile, if he's real set to be naughty, I'll say, 'See here, Bobby, which'd you rather have—mother fry you some doughnuts or cut a little willow switch, not so very little, either?'"
"I can coax him that way sure if the other fails."—Mouth's Companion.
Incontestable.
Mary—I'm positive Fred loves me and intends to make me his wife.
Helen—Why? Has he proposed yet?
Mary—No, but he dislikes mother more every time he sees her.—Jugend.

Giving Her the Benefit.
The seamstress looked at the bill which had been made out for the plain little frock and then threw up her hands in horror. "That will never do," she said emphatically. "Twenty for making and $3.13 for findings. How would that appear on paper. $23.13! Why, the lady would look upon the frock as hoodooed and imagine that every time she wore it it would bring her bad luck. Here! let me have the list of findings." She figured rapidly and soon had the bill $24.37.
"There," she said contentedly, "that will satisfy her. And she will be still more pleased when I discount the change and accept an even $24."
"But," said the girl who had made out the bill, "isn't that somewhat of an overcharge?"
"Oh, well," answered the dressmaker, "an overcharge isn't nearly as bad as an unlucky number. Besides, I couldn't very well charge her less than the real amount, could I?"—New York Press.
Animals as Weather Prophets.
Before a rainstorm a cat nearly always washes its face. Why? Some claim that the atmosphere excites the electricity in the cat's fur, and to overcome the tingling sensation she sets to washing herself.
Or if there is no cat in the house you may possess a parrot. If the bird sits down and makes a sort of hissing noise, look out for rain in the night.
One need seldom fear getting wet in the country. Horses, cows, sheep, hogs, dogs—all evince certain peculiarities before a storm. Dogs bury bones; horses flinch and neigh; cows lie down; hogs grunt.
Some day you may walk into a field and see a flock of sheep in a corner, all with their backs turned to the north-west. If you wait long enough you will feel a wind blow up from that direction.—London Answers.
Space.
"Nobody realizes the immensity of space."
"Except the man who has to fill a daily half column with alleged humor."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
All the Same.
The "horny handed" calls what he lives on "pay," the skilled mechanic "wages," the city clerk "salary," the banker "income," a landowner "rent roll," a lawyer "fees," a burglar "swag," but it all comes to the same in the end.—London Scrap.
In Doubt.
"Did you ever have appendicitis?" said the insurance man.
"Well," answered the skeptic, "I was operated on. But I never felt sure whether it was a case of appendicitis or a case of professional curiosity."—Washington Star.
