For the Best
Ears of Corn
See Other Side

You'll Have to Tie it Down

—But is it any wonder? There never was a food that so pleased the tastes of the little ones—or so well agreed with them. And the same is true with grown-ups. All are ready and anxious for more before the next meal comes around. It's all in the flavor—the delightful, different flavor that has made a nation of Corn Flake eaters. But this flavor is found only in Kellogg's, the kind that you should ask for and insist on having. Your grocer has it or can get it for you.

KELLOGG TOASTED CORN FLAKE CO., Battle Creek, Mich.

We offer $1000 in Gold for the best ears of corn. Contest open to everybody. No money, no fee of any kind. Simply endeavor to produce the best sample and send it to Prof. B. W. Crossley, Iowa State College, Ames, Ia., before Jan. 5, 1910. Watch this paper for further particulars.

One of the most thrilling sights took place on S. D. Newton's farm south of Deloit Thursday about 5 p. m. when the threshing machine of Chas. Wagge and Chas. Cose backed down the hill crashing into the corner of the barn. The boys had finished the oats and were pulling to the wheat stacks on the hill when the accident happened. Mr. Newton had told them of the two roads, one being up through the timber and the boys decided as it was dry they could make it up the hill past the barn which is very steep. Ye writer and her cousin wishing to see it make the trip went up into the barn where John Cose had previously hauled a load of oats and had unhooked the team and put it in below as the barn had a brick basement. Mr. McNeal and John Cose and son, Dale, were up in the barn. I had gone into the door and was standing with my back to the machine when my cousin called, "Its coming back, its coming back." I turned and saw it moving slowly towards the barn. I thought I could escape over the fence and down a steep grade. I called to my cousin, I made for the fence and supposed she would follow, but she stood as if rooted to the ground and when she did make a move tripped over the wagon tongue and fell backwards and when the crash came she was still there powerless to move and expecting the engine every moment to come on her, McNeal and Dale Cose ran through the barn and jumped to the ground. The engine struck a stone and couldn't catch so it threw the weight all on the other side and the counter shaft broke and let her back. It came slowly at first and the boys made all preparations to save the machine and themselves, shutting off steam then prepared to jump. It swerved a little to the left so only struck the corner of the barn. The engine crumpled and turned the separator over on the side. Newton's barn is badly wrecked and it looked as though it was going clear over. The foundation or basement will nearly all have to be rebuilt. Its a big loss, yet all are thankful no lives were lost. Ye writer was an eye witness to the whole scene as I had to face it in trying to make my escape, saw the boys jump and also the crash as I was going over the fence. I shall forever believe in short dresses as I believe mine helped to save my life. Friday the boys got the stump puller and straightened the machine. It is badly broken up and the boys have not decided yet what they will do.

Death made a call in Old Kiron Sunday forenoon and the home of S. M. Moline is now in mourning. Mrs.

Moline, after an illness of some two weeks breathed her last shortly after ten o'clock at the age of 54 years, 5 months and 7 days. Three doctors, an efficient nurse and near ones did all that was possible for her restoration but the Divine ruler had planned otherwise. She was married to the now mourning husband in Sweden December 23, 1876, and together with him and family immigrated to America and located in Kiron, having resided here since. This union was blessed with nine children of whom two are dead, the other seven residing in this vicinity and it was her privilege to have them at her bedside during the last hours of her stay on earth. She so lived with her husband and her children that her going away has caused sorrow and a most vacant place in the home. When the time drew nigh and it became certain that she would not get well, she was satisfied to go as she had made peace with her Saviour. Funeral services will be held from the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon and her remains will be laid at rest in the Kiron cemetery. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved ones.

The Readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that it is Catarrh Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
