ABOLISH THE FREE TICKET

Des Moines Register and Leader: There is a growing dissatisfaction among newspaper men with the free ticket method of compensation. Every year fewer and fewer free tickets are accepted. Advertising is being brought to a cash basis. Neither advertiser nor publisher is wholly satisfied with a swap of courtesies.

The free ticket is leading to gross impositions. The Seattle exposition paid a large salary during the past year to a promoter who agreed to deliver thousands of columns of complimentary newspaper notices. Advance men everywhere are in demand in proportion to their talent for exploiting the newspapers. Getting something for nothing from the newspapers has been made a source of revenue by shrewd agents of publicity.

Every project, whether for financial gain or for public enterprise, should make a legitimate advertising expense a part of its preliminary programme. If it is worthy on its own account the newspapers may be relied upon to aid. But newspaper publicity should not be counted on as a matter of course. In every editorial meeting the matter is up for debate and the inclination is growing stronger to refuse to accept courtesies, and to refuse to notice enterprises of any sort unless they are promoted in a business-like way.

EDUCATE THE HANDS.

Esterville Enterprise: The Enterprise is strongly in favor of a more practical form of education than is taught in the common schools today. It does seem to the average man, and naturally so, that too much time is spent in the schools teaching history, languages, literature etc., as compared to the time spent in teaching the boy and girl practical things. No one underestimates the value of higher education, and of the tone it gives to citizenship. However, it must be admitted that the school should be run in such a way as to benefit the most of the children. What kind of a school would be the best for the majority? Take for instance the boy, as he is the one that will soon be at the head of affairs in this country. The majority of boys are soon thrown upon their own resources and come up against the practical in life with a theoretical education. They have been taught how to busy the mind, but seldom how to busy the hands. The great majority of men work with their hands for a living. That being true, and as the future of this country is dependent more upon the man that works with his hands than the man that schemes with his mind to get out of honest toil, it naturally follows that the schools, which are developing citizens, should do more to develop industrious citizens. A boy will grow to be industrious a great deal faster and surer if the school would spend a part of the time training him to do with his hands. Manual training is the only thing. The public schools must take this up if they expect to do the most possible for citizenship.

Coon Rapids Enterprise: When Harvey Ingham spoke at the Old Settlers' picnic at Coon Rapids in August he was introduced in a cordial way by a standpatter and all the day trusted with the greatest cordiality by them as well as all others. How differently his treatment of President Taft at Des Moines; insulting cartoons and editorial and personal references.

Where shall we go for lessons in politeness and courteous treatment of guests? To big cities like Des Moines, with their editors like Ingham, or to the provincial districts—the little towns and the country people? But suppose Ingham had previous to, and at the time of his coming to Coon Rapids, been insulting cartooned and referred to by the press, called an "ass" etc., and embarrassed in many ways, in accordance with the Ingham way, what would he have thought of Coon Rapids. He would have thought our people not only uncivil, lacking in common courtesey, but boorish and coarse, and we would have been justly deserving of such estimate by him.

Try This in November.

Thousands upon thousands of families who have not been regular eaters of Quaker Oats will begin on the first of November and eat Quaker Oats once or twice every day for thirty days of this month; the result in good health and more strength and vigor will mean that every other month in the year will find them doing the same thing. Try it! Serve Quaker Oats plentifully and frequently for the thirty days of November and leave off a corresponding amount of meat and greasy foods. You'll get more health, more vigor and strength than you ever got in thirty days of any other kind of eating. While you are trying this see that the children get a full share. Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and large size family packages.

THE GERMAN.

Ft. Dodge Messenger: The first colony of Germans settled at German town, Pennsylvania, just two hundred and twenty-six years ago today.

Germans throughout the country are celebrating the event and they have every reason to do so for the new world has certainly been good to them. But America, also has cause to rejoice for the millions of Germans who have come to her shores have been a source of substantial wealth to her.

There has never been any difference of opinion about the value of the German as an immigrant. No nationality has contributed more to the upbuilding of our country.

Perhaps more than any other nationality the German stands for a single type, but the type is a good one. The very name suggests thrift, enterprise, industry and also home, contentment, music and simple pleasures.

These are just the things America needs today and it is to be hoped that the German will teach them to his neighbor instead of forgetting them himself.

We need to learn to forego present indulgence and extravagance for the sake of a sure and independent future. And on the other hand we need to learn to enjoy the quiet, simple pleasures of every day life as we go along without waiting until we have "made our pile" and the end perhaps has come.

Family Reunion.

The home of M. Shupitar seven miles north of Vail on Sunday, the 10th, was the scene of a pleasant family gathering. There were present Mr. and Mrs. T. Bundt of Breda, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Westcott of Sac City, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kotas of Glidden, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wiemer of Charter Oak and the Misses Clara, Sadie, Lizzie and Elsie Shupitar and eight grandchildren. A bounteous dinner was served after which they enjoyed visiting, music and games. Indeed, it was a happy time for all the children to be at home, all at one time again, and it was altogether too soon when the time came for them to leave for their different homes.

THE FOREIGN REFORM SOCIETY

The Register and Leader is a great anti-monopoly paper outside of Des Moines. In its home town however it stands as the organ of the telephone monopoly, the street car monopoly and all the other vested interests. It is so easy to stand for reform, away from home.

The telephone business of the state should be regulated BEFORE any one company is allowed to monopolize the entire business. The little companies should be protected by a law compelling telephone companies to exchange business just as railroads do. Next the city exchanges should be compelled to pay enough wages so that competent operators may be employed and that they may be able to earn their living by their work for the telephone company. Next the charges should be regulated. But all of these things should be done BEFORE not after the great merger has taken place.

"INSURGENTS" TO ORGANIZE.

Kansas City Journal: From time to time rumors have come from Washington that important plans are under way for the organization of the house "insurgents" at the coming session of congress. It is said that Representative Hubbard of Iowa, the original "insurgent," originated a scheme for a "rump" house of representatives to be composed of erstwhile Republican regulars who have enlisted under the "insurgent" banner. Until near the end of the special session the irregular Republicans; were but poorly organized and conducted their campaign in a desultory way as individuals and with poor effect. But the fight upon the tariff solidified them and the idea of a caucus organization was born.

The house "insurgents" number twenty votes. The idea among them is to band together as a third party caucus and to vote as a unit on all important measures. This third party caucus will have its committees as have the regular party caucuses, to follow all branches of legislation and special bills and to report to their associates upon voting programmes. The main fight, of course, will be against the house rules and Speaker Cannon. But the scope of operations is expected to widen until the "rump" organization would wield considerable influence. It would be absolutely independent and could unite with the Democratic minority whenever it felt like it. Holding no allegiance to regular Republicanism, expecting no favors from either the president or the speaker, it would not jeopardize the house interests of its members by anything it might do.

If the "insurgents" have gone so far in their party disloyalty as to forswear regular party caucus for one of their own formation, then the result is inevitable. They will represent a new political element and to all intents and purposes a new political party will be created. No representative who joins the "rump" caucus can claim fealty to Republican principles even under the guise of being a reformer. The "insurgents" have come to the parting of the ways. Henceforth, if the new plan is completed, they must come out in the open and fight under a strange banner. Representatives in congress elected as republicans who deliberately band themselves into a permanent caucus and become political buccanniers to unite with the enemy whenever they feel like it, sever their connection with Republican constituents then and there.

is the original—has been the standard for thirty-five years.

There are thousands of so-called "just as good" Emulsions, but they are not—they are simply imitations which are never as good as the original. They are like thin milk—SCOTT'S is thick like a heavy cream.

If you want it thin, do it yourself—with water—but don't buy it thin.
