By buying early you get the best selection and if the color or size is not right we cheerfully exchange them after Christmas. Buy here and get the best and save from 25c to $1.00 a pair. Now, gloves will be scarce with a possibility of higher prices. You might as well have the right color and size as to take what you can get later.

HANDKERCHIEFS

Lots of them. Here you can get dainty handkerchiefs for 5c and on up to $6.00. And taking the materials and work into consideration, the $8 ones are as reasonably priced as those we sell for a few cents. You'll see lots of handkerchiefs here ranging from 10c to 75c that will make you wonder how any one could put so much work on them even if the prices were twice as much. We have a way of getting the best as well as the prettiest handkerchiefs for a good deal less than the general run of stores, and as a consequence we give you more varieties, finer qualities and daintier designs than any other Denison store at equal prices.

Thanksgiving Linens

OF greater interest is our linen stock this year on account of our own recent importation of German linens, purchased at factory at Munich by Mr. Balle personally. This purchase eliminates the usual middleman's profits and enables us to offer German linens at unusually low prices. German linens are the most enduring of all linens; are bleached in the sun, taking from 6 to 8 months for proper bleaching—which accounts for the long wear as compared with the chemically bleached linens from England and Ireland

China and Cut Glass

A magnificent display of fine china. The fall shipments of dinner wear and tea china are in, showing many new, very pleasing features and decorations. Judging by the popularity of our china department, the heavy and lively sales that our books record, and the increasing frequency with which we have to replenish our stocks, we may well say that hundreds of homes in our vicinity draw their table supplies from our store. And this is how we strive to merit the patronage of the careful, economical housewife. Whether it be a dinner or a tea set of plain white or gold, one of delicate daintiness or a set of deep, rich elegance—no matter what your choice in pattern or styles, you can get the set here that will delight the eye and please the pocketbook.

Cut glass and art wares. Distinction of pattern and shape to commend them—and little prices to make it worth while to buy now for future gifts as well as for personal and immediate use. The price details are interesting as a sight of the fine wares themselves.
