Mr. and Mrs. Al Eggers leaves this week for Crofton, Neb., where Will and Al have bought a two hundred and eighty acre ranch. They expect to specialize on the breeding of fine cattle and horses. Mr. Eggers is a fine horseman and will doubtless make a great success of the business. They take the Review with them in order to keep in touch with the folks at home.
Farmers who feel that they cannot get to town on account of the awful roads should appreciate the faithful carriers, who with their teams from day to day bring the mail covering often twenty-five miles. If there is a miss once in awhile do not grumble. We hear that carriers at some of the adjoining towns have cut a number of miles off their routes on account of the mud. The Denison carriers have so far been very persistent in reaching every patron except in rare cases.

Dr J I Gibson made Denison friends a brief call today. He reports that Mrs. Gibson is well, that he is busy and that Morine is doing finely in the Des Moines high school. His visit was entirely too short.
S. P. Gulick was down from West Side Monday afternoon to hear the lecture by Dr. Gunsaulus, but of course was disappointed. He made the best of the situation by interviewing his many friends and relatives here.
Miss Emily Schneekloth was home over Thanksgiving Day from her college work at Cedar Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Spottwood were down from West Side for a family reunion. Miss Emily returned to school Tuesday morning.
A small blaze started one night last week in The Peerless establishment. The vigilant nightwatch, Lew Baer, discovered the fire, however, and put it out with no damage done. Had it not been for Lew Baer the whole south side of Broadway might well have been destroyed. Mr. Baer has saved Denison thousands of dollars by his efficient service.
U. G. Johnson writes a very impertinent letter which we publish in another column, questioning the Review's statement that he was the founder of the Penelope Club. The next thing we know U. G. will be taking exception to the Bulletin's statement that he was entertained at a dinner party given at the hotel last week. When a man gets to criticizing the press he is up against it. Mr. U. G. Johnson was the founder of the Penelope Club. Mrs. Johnson and Miss Meyers started it, so tradition says—but the real founder was U. G. He was so grouchy at home that his wife was driven to found a club just as some men are driven to drink. He was so mean he would not let his wife eat an onion in the house, not a single onion, so what could the poor woman do but start a club? The responsibility cannot be shirked and heaping insults on the club does not change matters. The truth is U. G. is jealous of the attentions shown his better half and it is currently reported that he bribed the society editors of both papers to leave out the "a" in their notes last week so that he might get the glory.

M J Barrett of Dunlap was a Denison caller yesterday.
An important business change will be announced next week.
The Penelope Club meets with Mrs. C. L. Voss on Tuesday next.

Miss Mary Walker has returned to her school in Morgan township, where she will teach school this winter. Miss Walker has taught four years in one school in Morgan township.

The local Rebekah lodge held a social in their hall in the Review building on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 24th. A large number of the members were present and an enjoyable time is reported.
Spirited special meetings are now in progress at the hall of the Holiness congregation. Rev. W. E. Stevenson of Botna and Rev. Craig, two well known evangelists are here. All attending will be welcome.
The local lodge of the Woodmen of the World will hold a smoker at their hall in the Review building on the evening of December 11. The election of officers will be held and refreshments served.
Miss Lizzie McNeal left for Melhall, Okla., Saturday morning, where she will teach the coming winter. She was accompanied by Miss Florence Hutchinson, who goes to Oklahoma City for an extended visit with relatives.

Mr. John Cunningham of Yetter, Iowa, was a Denison visitor Monday, having brought to this place a quantity of hogs for sale. As the market is at the top now Mr. Cunningham is congratulating himself on his good fortune.
Walter Huettmann is in receipt of an invitation to attend the wedding of his brother, Hugo and Miss Frieda Grote. The wedding takes place on December 18th, at Lihue, Kanai, in the Hawaiian Islands. Hugo Huettmann will be remembered by many in this vicinity. While here he worked on the farm for five years for Mr. Martin Saggau. He is a bright industrious young man and Denison friends will join in congratulations. Walter has decided not to go to the wedding for although it is in the United States he could hardly get back in time for the Christmas trade.
