Social Notes of the Week.

As Easter approaches there is the usual in social circles which usually comes at this season. When Lent is over society, will, no doubt, resume her activity and functions will be more abundant.

Miss Bessie Gillett was the recipient of a pretty miscellaneous shower on Friday evening at which time her friends presented her with a number of beautiful and useful gifts in token of their appreciation of her worth and ability. Miss Gillett's marriage will occur this week, after which she will reside in Omaha.

One of the most elaborate functions of the entire season was the St. Patrick's day dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scriver on Thursday evening. Covers were laid for twelve, the guests being seated at a round table which was artistically decorated in green and white. The center piece was a fancy basket of tulips and above it suspended from the chandelier was a profusion of the flags of the Emerald Isle and our own beloved stars and stripes in globe effect. The place cards contained sentiments appropriate to the occasion and the favors were potted shamrocks and tiny flags. After the very excellent dinner which was served in six courses each one perfect in itself, two very clever games were introduced. One in which Pat played a prominent part and the other consisting in guessing the names of old Irish melodies rendered on the piano by Mrs. McMahon in her usual pleasing manner. Irish songs and stories filled the evening with the most genuine enjoyment and the occasion will linger long in the memory of the guests present.

A very pleasant party was given in honor of Mrs. S. J. Woodruff on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. M. A. Penny. Two very novel and original games had been arranged by the hostess, each containing some pertinent suggestions to moving. The refreshments also carried out this same idea in a most pleasing and unique manner. Altogether the affair was a great success and a decided compliment to the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Laub entertained at tea on Tuesday evening.

The S. S. had a very enjoyable meeting on Tuesday evening with Miss Meyers as chairman of the menu and Miss Stevens in charge of the program. The supper was served by Mrs. Silto which alone is a guarantee of its excellence. Mrs. J. B. Romans delighted the audience with two of her imitable readings and there were a number of brilliant piano selections to add to the pleasure of the entertainment. An unusually large number of guests were present.

Word comes from Washington that the committee on Public Buildings and grounds will report a small bill at this session, one carrying not to exceed $15,000,000. This is discouraging to small towns and practically means that they will have to wait until a larger bill is presented.

Orange Judd Farmer offer will expire April 1st to the Review readers who pay one year in advance. More than three hundred of our readers have accepted this great offer. All of them are pleased. The chance will soon be gone. Let us hear from you NOW.

The merger of the telephone companies in which the Crawford County absorbs the Iowa Telephone Co. was consummated the latter part of the week, and the business is now all handled through the Crawford County Telephone Co. So far as we have heard expression, it shows that the people are pleased with the change. The fact that they are relieved of the expense of maintaining two phones is appreciated. The busiest place in town is the telephone office, and the citizens must bear with the management until it becomes fully accustomed to new conditions. We are assured that the service will be improved and have no doubt but it will be.
