

GUIDE TO HALLEY'S COMET

By Frederic Campbell, Sc. D.,

President Department of Astronomy, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences

(Copyright, 1910, by Frederic Campbell.)
 The visit of Halley's comet to our skies, after an absence of seventy-five years, is one of the supreme events of a lifetime. While the popular frenzy and superstition associated with its appearance in 1456 are not now to be looked for, it is safe to say that the nightly presence in our sky of this monster of celestial depths will excite universal interest. It is with a view of enabling one to keep track of this stranger for a time at the following dates and facts are brought together:

March 27—Comet passes behind the sun, 195,000,000 miles distant, and enters morning sky. Also crosses Venus' path coming.

March 28—Comet now in morning sky till May 18, and, rising earlier and earlier before the sun, approaches the earth.

March 31—Comet begins to be seen in east before sunrise.

April 1—Comet's distance, 130,000,000 miles.

April 4—Comet rises, 4:44 a. m.

April 12—Comet moving more than 100,000 miles an hour.

April 16—Comet rises, 3:45 a. m.

April 19—Comet at perihelion—nearest the sun; speed fastest, 1,878 miles a minute.

April 24—Comet rises, 3:09 a. m. now turns back east among the constellations.

May 1—Comet's distance from the earth, 63,000,000 miles close to Venus in the sky today.

May 6—Comet rises, 2:38 a. m., earth crosses comet's path, where comet will be May 26, but not in same plane.

May 7—Comet 5 degrees south of star Gamma Pegasi.

May 8—Comet rises, 2:46 a. m.; comet's greatest elongation west of the sun, as seen from the earth. Comet 10 degrees north of Venus.

May 9—Comet crosses Venus' path retreating.

May 10—Comet rises 2:24 a. m.; distance from earth, 33,000,000 miles.

May 12—Comet rises, 2:32 a. m.

May 14—Comet rises, 2:40 a. m.

May 15—Comet rises, 2:49 a. m.

May 16—Comet rises, 3:08 a. m.; 7 degrees south of star Alpha Arietis.

May 17—Comet rises, 3:32 a. m.; distance, 12,000,000 miles, about its nearest; came within half that in 1835.

May 18—Earth and comet passing; comet in conjunction with the sun on nearer side, and at the same time at descending node, the two resulting in a transit of the comet across the sun's face, occurring between 1:31 and 1:45 a. m., eastern time invisible in this country, but between 6:31 and 6:45 a. m., Greenwich time, hence visible in Europe, Asia and Africa. Earth and moon now proceed to pass through the comet's tail, but without result.

May 19—Comet again in evening sky, appeared ever higher in west, and moving rapidly; today 3 1/2 degrees north of Aldebaran.

May 20—Comet sets, 8:11 p. m.; enormous size.

May 21—Comet just where it was among the stars about October 1; today passes close to Gamma Gemini. Comet sets, 9:12 p. m.

May 22—Comet sets, 9:57 p. m.; passes 7 1/2 degrees north of Procyon.

May 23—Comet sets, 10:28 p. m.

May 24—Comet sets, 10:34 p. m.

May 25—Comet sets, 10:55 p. m.

May 26—Comet sets, 11:06 p. m.; crosses beneath earth's path, at a distance therefrom of about 6,000,000 miles, in retreating into space.

May 27—Comet sets, 11:17 p. m.

May 28—Comet sets, 11:22 p. m.

May 29—Comet sets, 11:23 p. m.

May 30—Comet sets, 11:29 p. m. now gradually approaches the sun again, as seen from the earth, and fades away as it retires into space.

July 7—Comet crosses Mars' path, retreating; again retires behind the sun during the month of July.

July 27—Earth passes the perihelion point of comet, where it was April 19.

August—Comet passes again into morning sky, but visible only in telescopes.

September 11—One year since discovery of comet by Wolf of Heidelberg, then distant 350,000,000 miles.

May 20, 1911—Comet crosses Jupiter's path, in retreat.

A. D. 1885-1989—Halley's comet next due.

CARROLL SETS ARBOR DAY

ISSUES PROCLAMATION FIXING DAY FOR OBSERVANCE, APRIL 29TH.

THE SCHOOL WILL PLANT TREES

The Governor Urges the People of Iowa to Plant Trees. Shrubs and Vines to Make Homes More Beautiful.

Gov. B. F. Carroll has issued a proclamation naming April 29, as Arbor Day, and urged that it be observed in a fitting and consistent manner by the planting of trees, shrubbery and climbing vines to make the environment of home, church, school and city more beautiful.

His proclamation is as follows: It is fitting and proper at the time of year when Iowa is enjoying one of the most remarkable spring seasons in her history, and when the state is taking a leading part in the nation wide movement for the conservation and development of the diversified resources of our country, to call the attention of our people to Arbor Day, a day set aside by custom and annual observance for the planting of trees.

Dating back to the early settlement of Iowa, when the hardy pioneer drove his team of oxen, hitched to a prairie schooner, into our state and established his home upon the wide-sweeping and fertile Iowa prairies, the planting of trees has been a most commendable custom. Bare plains have been made beautiful; handsome groves dot the landscape where dwell a happy and prosperous people. Many of our venerable pioneers can look upon the spreading branches and handsome symmetry of large and noble trees of their own planting with justifiable pride and without regret for the labor and pains necessary to grow them.

In conformity not only with the custom grown old by observance, but with the principles of conservation in which tree culture is an important and necessary factor, and to encourage the growing of trees and the reforestation of our state, I, B. F. Carroll, governor of Iowa, do hereby proclaim April 29, 1910, as Arbor Day, and respectfully urge its observance in a fitting and consistent manner by climbing vines to make the environment of home, church, school and city more beautiful. I especially request that the public schools stimulate the sentiment of the day by appropriate exercises, instilling into the minds of our youth the benefit derived from the cultivation of our natural flora and the retention of our forest groves, and I further recommend that the farmers and land owners of our state take advantage of this day for the planting of orchards, forests and groves, and that added interest be taken in the matter of tree planting and tree culture.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Iowa.

Done at Des Moines, capital of the state, this thirty-first day of March, 1910.

(Seal) B. F. Carroll, Governor of Iowa.
 W. C. Hayward, Secretary of State.
