While feeling greatly improved, he will not resume his work at the bank for some time yet, thinking that a rest for some time will benefit him and assist in bringing him back to his usual good health. He expects to remain for a short while before going west on a trip for the benefit of his health. He is missed at the bank and the many customers and friends are in hopes to see him back at his old place soon.

About two months ago young Axle Lundberg left Kiron for Minneapolis and shortly afterward parties in Kiron received a letter from a firm in that city, stating that Axle had taken sick and was placed in a hospital, where he died. As he had no relatives here no investigation was made and his friends here believed the report to be true. Much to the great surprise of his acquaintances, Axle stopped off the Friday morning passenger train, and for a while he was puzzled at the way everybody eyed him and the questions that were asked. When an explanation was made Axle was equally surprised. How the firm at Minneapolis got Axle mixed up into the affair is as yet unknown here.

The Misses Ollie, Nellie and Rose Larson left Kiron Friday, and after a short visit at Denison, Charter Oak and Sioux City will join their parents at Aberdeen, S. D., where they expect to remain. Crawford county loses three excellent school teachers and fine ladies in every respect in their leaving. They have made Kiron their home for the past eight years and during this time have made many acquaintances and lasting friends, who regret to see them go away. They are most exemplary young ladies and Aberdeen's gain will be Kiron's great loss. Their school work in Kiron's district was very efficient and efforts were made to retain them for the full term, which they declined. The well wishes of a large circle of friends follows them into their new home.

The home of Gust Sanders is under quarantine for scarlet fever, his little daughter, Elora, having the disease in a very malignant form. She was taken ill last Tuesday morning with symptoms so severe and complicated that it was some time before the doctors developed that would enable the doctors to make a positive diagnosis. She has been making a brave and vigorous fight and is dangerously sick, but the latest reports from her parents are somewhat encouraging, and it is the hope and prayer of many that she may outride the storm and be restored to her parents.
