

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack food, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COLUMN.

July 10. A Review Lesson.

The lessons for the second quarter of 1910 have been fine indeed. They have brought to mind most prominent scenes in the life of Jesus, the Christ, and impressed anew the greatness and importance of His teachings. All too often our pastors go wandering about through the Old Testament for their sermon talks, neglecting to feed their people on the true bread of life found in the words of Jesus, and the superb, uplifting teachings of Saint Paul.

Looking back over the lessons there stands out the necessity of FAITH as the leading thing taught. The bible is full of the triumphs of faith, and if Christians now were living up to their possibilities their lives would witness triumphs of faith matching anything the scriptures tell.

Among the instances of faith told of in the lessons one can well recall the faith of the woman who touched the hem of the Master's garment, believing thus she would be healed. In the same lesson the faith of the ruler who asked the recovery of his dear child is told. Another case, somewhat similar, is related, when a father came asking the healing of his child and was satisfied that it was so when told, "God is thy faith, be it unto this father was so sure all was right that he did not hurry home, having faith that all was done as Jesus had said.

The blind men were asked whether they had faith that Jesus was able to give them sight, and on their replying "Yes," the deed was done. In Mark 9, 23 Jesus declares "All things are possible to him that believeth;" words most wonderful and emphatic for us all. Peter was rebuked for lack of faith. The woman who was so persistent for her daughter was told, "Great is thy faith, being unto thee even as thou wilt." It would seem as if this was sufficient to show what is needed in every successful christian life. It is faith in God, and His promises in the bible.

The lessons are likewise important in showing that Jesus told of an accounting for deeds done in the body. The cities which did not receive the disciples on their missionary trips, persons who turned a deaf ear to the gospel were told that they need not think to escape responsibility. In a recent lesson Jesus told why the tares were allowed to grow among the good wheat, until a time of harvest when these would receive different treatment from the fruitful plants. It is most necessary to keep this part of the bible in mind. Paul seldom failed to tell of judgment to come, and it is as certain as death itself.

The fearlessness of John the Baptist should not be passed unheeded. He was not afraid to denounce sin in high places, as well as the lowly. The miracles of the feeding of the people, which led up to the wonderful talk of Jesus calling Himself the bread of life should have place in our thoughts of the past lessons.

That remarkable golden text of last week must not be overlooked. The great Paul declares a mighty truth when he said "The kingdom of God is no meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost." Our blessed Christian religion is something above the matter of eating and drinking. It is a spiritual religion. There is nothing carnal about it. It means righteousness, and this will bring peace and joy. We, therefore, in closing urge that all strive for the faith which will bring triumphs, and the righteousness which brings joy and peace, ever remembering the judgment for those who will not govern their lives according to bible commands.

From 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Chronic Diseases Cured

The doctor has had such wonderful success in the treatment of certain diseases that he feels fully warranted in making the following liberal offer. He will make a thorough examination and tell you just what can be done; what the treatment will cost and about how long it will take to effect a cure; you will not be required to pay any money, except for the medicine used until cured or thoroughly satisfied with the results.

Dr. Stockdale wants every person who suffers from a chronic disease—it makes no difference how bad their case is, or how long they have suffered, or who has treated them and pronounced them incurable, to call and consult him. He will make a thorough examination of their case, tell exactly what can be done, whether they are curable or not, how long it will require and all about it. He treats only chronic diseases. He has devoted twenty years of his life to the treatment of such diseases as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Stomach troubles, Liver disease, Constipation, Rheumatism, Bladder troubles, Diseases of the Kidneys, Chronic Catarrh in all its forms, Heart and Nerve troubles—in fact, every variety of chronic diseases.

Dr. Stockdale has a system of treatment which he believes is the best known for chronic diseases. He is able to cure many cases that have resisted other treatments—that are considered incurable. He wants it distinctly understood that he does not undertake any case that he thinks is incurable, and will tell the patient candidly when he has made the examination.

He has a special treatment for general weakness of men, which he would like to explain in person. He will examine every case that calls on him on the above date absolutely free.

If for any reason you cannot call or visit him personally, write him for an examination blank at his home office. Address
