

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the fact public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not grip. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card, or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 1500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Sense of Danger.

Dr. Waldo of London holds that people should develop a sixth sense to inform them of the approach of danger in the streets. Lafcadio Hearn once said, "While in a crowd I seldom look at faces. My intuition is almost infallible, like that blind faculty by which absolute darkness one becomes aware of the proximity of bulky objects without touching them. If I hesitate to obey it a collision is the inevitable consequence. What pilots one quickly and safely through a thick press is not conscious observation at all, but unreasoning intuitive perception."

IOWA TRAINED HORSES IN SPECIAL VAUDEVILLE

In keeping with the policy to give the home product first preference in all things it has been arranged by the Iowa State Fair management that the most conspicuous of the special features for this year's fair will be an Iowa troupe of horses, bred and trained on a northern Iowa farm, and capable of performing the most remarkable of circus feats. This is the troupe trained and directed by Mr. C. J. Cimijotti on a farm in Cerro Gordo county. Mr. Cimijotti has spent much time and money in training these horses. They are handsome animals and make a showy appearance. Their feats rank high and in fact he was offered a large sum to go with one of the big circuses this year and show his troupe of animals. He has also been offered an immense sum for the horses but they are not for sale.

This will, however, be only one of very many special features at the State Fair, Aug. 25-Sept. 2. These specialties have come to be regarded as an essential thing at the fairs. They are mainly animal exhibitions or exhibitions of strength, skill and daring of individuals. The Fair management never presents anything that does not of itself teach some valuable lesson. All the specialties are high class and elevating in character.

The specialties are shown between races in front of the amphitheater and always without added expense. They are also a part of the two big night shows. One of these night shows is given before the amphitheater and includes the "Frontier Days in Iowa," and a great band concert, with a closing display of fireworks. The other is the live stock hippodrome in the stock pavilion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COLUMN.

Aug. 21.—Jesus Nearing Jerusalem, Matt. 20, 17-34.

It will be remembered that our lesson of last Sunday impressed on us the truth that humble service for Jesus would be rewarded fully as well as that given Him with much display. It will be found that the central truth for the lesson this week is along the same important line.

In tracing the history of Jesus in the last week of his life we find that since the events of the last lesson He has been at Bethany and performed His great miracle of raising Lazarus from the dead. The fame which this gave Him among the common people determined the Jewish leaders to kill the disturber of their peace at the first chance. Jesus knew perfectly well what was coming, yet he joined in the throng of people who were going up to the great feast. As yet what is called His triumphal entry into Jerusalem had not begun, but the people were crowding to hear and see Him, and the disciples began to see in vision that in the near future their Master would claim earthly kingship. This led to the occurrence of the lesson of Aug. 21. How little they understood the true mission of Jesus on earth.

In the opening verses Jesus is telling the disciples of immediate future events, how He was to be betrayed, condemned to death, crucified and that He would rise again the third day, but yet they would not understand. When the fearful tragedy had taken place, then they remembered as recorded in John 12:16. So it came about that James and John and their mother went to Jesus with the request that when He came into His Kingdom one man should set on His right, and the other the left hand. Jesus told them they little understood what they asked, and questioned whether they were willing to endure the things He must bear. They said they were. Jesus told them that these places were not for Him to give, but His Father would award them to those most deserving. Now comes the great central truth of the lesson.

Jesus told the disciples, and us also, that those who would be called greatest in heaven, were those who served best their fellow men. Then came the remarkable Golden Text: "Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto but to minister, and to give His life as a ransom for many." Jesus further made this thought plain when on the night of His betrayal He washed the feet of the disciples, an act done in those days only by the slaves and lowest servants.

We are thus face to face with one of the greatest truths of the bible, that the best work for Jesus is, in His name, to minister to, to help our fellow men. Jesus said that those who sought for place even in doing His work were acting on wrong motive. That wonderful literary production, "The Vision of Sir Launfal," brings out the great truth of our lesson most clearly, and we ask all readers who can, to get the poem and strive to drink in the lesson it teaches.

The latter verses relate how certain blind men were given sight. They called out to Jesus and the crowd about them could not make them stop appealing for help. The dear Jesus heard. He called to the unfortunate ones, and they came near, expressed faith in His power to cure, and were rewarded for their faith and persistence. Those who know and feel they need the help of Jesus should, like the blind men, heed not the people, but with earnestness seek forgiveness of sins and for salvation. Remember as told in the golden text, "He came to give His life a ransom for many," and of the many are you and me.

ACROSS THE STATE.

Dragged Road From Dubuque to Sioux City.

There is a movement on feet backed by Editor Parrott of the Waterloo Reporter, to secure another river to river road in Iowa, and the new project is for a great highway that will extend across the state from Dubuque to Sioux City.

Editor Parrott has written The Pioneer in regard to the road and says one of the routes being considered is by way of Ida Grove. Like the "River to River Road" from Council Bluffs to Davenport, the northern Iowa route will depend upon dragging and drainage to make it a good highway and there will be no extra expense or extra taxation.

Guide posts will be erected at every cross road on the route, and every effort made to make it an object lesson in good roads building.

Mr. Parrott says a prize of $5 will be offered for the best name suggested within the next few days for the road. The name must be something concise and appropriate.

It proved to be a fact that the River to River-Road in central Iowa was worth much in business to the town it passed through and it is up to Odebolt, Arthur and Ida Grove to get in touch with those behind the movement and have the road come this way. The letter from Mr. Parrott to The Pioneer would seem to indicate that the road will be routed this way if the people show the proper interest.—Ida Grove Pioneer.
