THE DENISON REVIEW

THE REVIEW PUBLISHING CO. (INCORPORATED.)

Entered at the Postoffice in Denison, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

A PROPHECY.

Unless Denison wakes up and gets some real factories Manilla will be the largest town in Crawford county inside of twenty years. Manilla is at the head of an important branch of the Milwaukee railroad. The nature of its location is such that its importance as a railroad center must grow steadily. Already there are many train crews located there. The payroll of the Milwaukee at Manilla is today larger than the entire payroll of Denison. It is the payroll that makes the town. Shade trees and palatial residences won't do it. They are all well in their way, but the thing that counts is the payroll. Denison business men should seriously and effectively study ways and means for increasing the payroll. If we cannot get a big factory let us get a half dozen small ones. Let us plan to make the year 1911 a better one than 1910 has been.

DECREASE IN POPULATION.

The decrease in the population of Iowa is due to the high price of farm lands. The investment is too large for young men to undertake. The man whose capital consists largely in willing hands and an eager brain can gain no foothold on an Iowa farm. That is the reason why they have been leaving Iowa by the tens of thousands for newer states and cheaper if poorer lands. No amount of publicity will change matters. It is simply the working out of an economic law. Some day there will be a re-action. Iowa will become more of a manufacturing and dairying state, the farms will be cut up and intensive farming will support a much larger population. It will all come in good time, but we do not believe that we can do much to hurry it.

BOMBAST VS. ACCOMPLISHMENT.

The "interests" do not fear the bombast of loud-mouthed reformers nearly so much as they do the quiet work that brings them before the courts and compels them to obey the law. We have never been afraid of the man who threatened to lick us. It is the man who says nothing and strikes quick whom one wants to look out for.

During the present administration suits have been commenced against the Standard Oil company, against the American Tobacco company, against the packers and now against the sugar trust. These suits have been started without any great blowing of trumpets and are being quietly pushed to a conclusion. The two suits first mentioned are now before the supreme court, the final step.

President Taft has urged these suits, has instituted the investigations and in so doing he has accomplished more than all the loud-mouthed demagogues with whom Iowa and other states have been afflicted. But the people dearly love to be humbugged. The "Big Noise" carries lots of feeble-minded followers with it. The result of the "Big Noise" has been to turn the country over to democracy and to threaten the entire country with hard times and business disaster. At the same time President Taft has been quietly pursuing his way, doing business for the people. He has been reviled and ridiculed and cartooned and abused, but he has accomplished more than all the national charivari club of noise makers in the country.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Make this Christmas just as happy for your loved ones as you know how or as you can afford. You may not have another chance. You will never regret bringing joy to your little one or winning a smile of love and thankfulness from your wife. Something may happen. It may be their last Christmas and it may be your last Christmas. Such things do happen. They may happen to you.

We know a father who had a little boy. The youngster trudged by his side and the father knew his heart was set upon a pair of roller skates, steel rollers, with ball bearings. The boy knew all about them, just where to get them and just how much they cost. Something put it into the father's heart and he said, "Son, I think you ought to have a pair of roller skates, skates with steel rollers and ball bearings." The look of joy that came into the boy's face has been a benediction to that father ever since. Oh, the joy of picking out those skates and buying them, and seeing them wrapped up and taking them home for mother to see.

The little fellow never wore them, but he had them on the bed with him when he was sick and he played with them and fondled them and looked his love and gratitude when the tired lips were too weak to form the words.

This year that father will not give a present to his little boy, but how he wishes that he could and how glad he is that he did when he had the opportunity.

Do not lose your opportunity. It may be a foolish thing the little fellow wants, but he wants it just as bad as you want wiser things. Make the coming Christmas just as happy and just as merry and just as glad-some as you can. Make every day a happy one for your loved ones if you can, it is the only way to be happy yourself.

STATE AID FOR ROADS.

The Review is not a crank on the method of obtaining good roads in Iowa. We feel that we must find the way and state aid may be the right one. Some people seem to think, however, that state aid will come as manna from heaven, without human intervention. State aid must come from the people of the state. The tax payers must pay. The question is whether we care to have the money of Crawford county tax payers put into good roads in Lee county, for instance. For all the benefit it will be to us we might as well put our money into Box Butte county. Neb. We ought to have good roads. If we do we must pay for them. We think each county should have the right to bond itself for the purpose of building permanent highways. The counties which wish to go ahead could do so and they would get just what they paid for. Crawford county does not need state aid. It can afford to build its own roads and it ought to do so. The present tax is nearly sufficient is well applied. If the county had the privilege of issuing bonds and the law was so amended that the present road tax could be used systematically in building permanent highways. State aid, as we see it, simply means that the poorer counties should help the richer counties to build their highways, thus delaying the time when they could afford to build their own highways for themselves.

Just one man stands in the way of republican harmony in Iowa. There is no need to mention his name.

The wise ones do their Christmas shopping early.

TABOR AND TABOR.

Thirty-seven years ago two brothers came to Denison. They were intelligent, clean, honorable, well-educated young men, and their efforts to establish a law practice in the little western town were soon crowned with success. Their ability was recognized and they almost at once became leading spirits in the town and county. They were prosperous, they had happy homes and life seemed exceedingly bright before them.

And then the black scourge of diphtheria fell upon the land. There was no "anti-toxin" in those days, there were no effective methods for fighting the disease and it raged practically unchecked, taking its heavy toll of victims from the young and from the old. It entered the home of a neighbor of the younger brother, the daughter of the household was stricken and there was no adequate help. It was the call of duty and the young man and his wife responded. The little girl regained health and strength, but the dread disease fastened upon those who had nursed her and within a few weeks, side by side, they were laid to rest.

If it was given to Frank Tabor to die for Denison, it was given to Charles Tabor to live for Denison. How well he has done it only the scores of people whom he has helped with love and kindness and material aid can tell. The sweet and gentle spirit of the younger brother lived in him, just as the old firm name of "Tabor & Tabor" lived in the battered, almost illegible street sign, that hung, unchanged, before the office stairs for nearly a third of a century.

How many boys have been educated, how many unfortunate ones have been aided, how many orphans have been cared for, how many whose cares have been relieved and whose burdens have been lightened in Frank Tabor's name, even the recipients will never know.

In this hard, practical, sour-visaged world it is good to know that there are some hearts in which sentiment finds an abiding place, that there is one brother who keeps the memory of another alive in his heart through all the years and who performs deeds of love and generosity and kindness just as he knows his brother would have done had his life not been made a sacrifice.

No kinder, truer, braver men have ever blessed any community and we would indeed be ingrates did not our dearest love follow them through time and through eternity. No man has been blessed by dearer loves and dearer memories than has Charles Tabor; his brother, his wife, his mother, all of them filled to overflowing with the milk of human kindness, and he has been true to all of them in word and thought and deed.

When the long roll is called and the Saviour shall say again those fateful words, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, even so ye have done it unto me," Tabor and Tabor will be among those upon whom it shall fall as a gracious benediction.

In the meantime, wherever he may go the heart of Denison beats loyal to Charles Tabor.

"Better lo'ed ye canna find, Will ye na come Hame again?"
