

IOWA GUARDS HERE ON MEMORIAL DAY

Company From Carroll to Assist in Memorial Day Exercises, Sergeant J. McClellan to Come.

PROCLAMATION BY COMMANDER

Program As Published Below Will Be Carried Out Aside From Some Special Features.

Those having the Memorial day program in charge have secured a company of Iowa National Guards from Carroll to assist in the services. They will come down on the early morning train, and upon arrival will perform some maneuvers that will surprise even the old soldiers. A former Denison boy, John McClellan, is sergeant in this company, and it was mainly by his efforts that the boys were secured to come. It is understood that Past State Commander W. A. McHenry, will arrive from California in time to participate in the exercises.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found some very appropriate Memorial day reading matter, and also three columns of matter telling of the war of fifty years ago. This relates to the period immediately following Lincoln's second call for troops. It was in May, 1861, that W. T. Sherman was made a colonel in the Union army and George B. McClellan, a relative of Mr. J. L. McClellan, became major general. Old soldiers will find these pages interesting reading. Below is the Memorial day program:

Procession will form at 9:30 a. m., on Main street, right resting on Broadway, and proceed to the cemetery in the following order:

J. B. McClellan, Marshal.
Firing Squad Iowa National Guards, Co. D, 56th Regiment.

W. A. McHenry Camp, Sons of Veterans.
Floral Tribute.

John A. Logan Post in carriages.
Woman's Relief Corps in carriages.
Mayor and City Council in carriages.
Citizens in carriages.

On arrival of the column at the cemetery, Commander James Rollins will form the Post in open rank and heads while the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans pass in review, taking their place at the cenotaph.

Memorial services will proceed in the following order:

John A. Logan Post; W. A. McHenry Camp, Sons of Veterans; John A. Logan Relief Corps.

Music—Male Quartette.

General Orders No. 7; Series 1910-11
In the year 1868, General John A. Logan, then Commander-in-Chief, promulgated an order calling upon all comrades to observe the 30th day of May as Memorial day, on which occasion every comrade's grave should be decorated with the choicest flowers of spring time. Since that time by legislative enactment the 30th of May has become a legal holiday. It is the desire of the Commander-in-Chief and your department commander that all the comrades of this department, together with the Woman's Relief Corps and all allied societies, the teachers in the public schools with their pupils, and all the people gather together and garland the graves of the brave defenders of the union who have left secure to this and coming generations the heritage of the greatest republic on earth. It should be requested of business men that they close their places of business during the exercises. While our hearts, full of patriotism are thus doing honor to the loyal supporters of the union, let us not forget that of all virtues, charity is the greatest; and should you know of the silent resting place of a confederate soldier, pass it not by. The brave respect the brave, attesting thereby, that though we were once enemies we are now friends. As is usual the great American classic, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address" should be read at all Memorial day exercises.

The Sunday before Memorial day, being May 28th, should be observed by posts attending Divine service in their respective localities, inviting all patriotic societies to take part with them.

Since last Memorial day at least one thousand veterans have died in this state; one thousand more graves to decorate than last year. While their names are stricken from the active rolls here, may we not feel assured that they have been added to the permanent rolls of those who never die.

"They rest with the immortals.
For them no wail of sorrow, but a paeon full and strong;
So well and bravely have they done their work they found to do.
To Justice, Freedom, Duty, God, and Man forever true."
By order of

H. H. DYER.
Attest: Department Commander.
Geo. A. Newman,
Assistant Adjutant General.

MUST DRAG THE ROADS.

The New Law Becomes Effective at Once, Is the Opinion of the Attorney General.

Road dragging work commences in Iowa immediately. Those who were counting on having one year of nothing doing because they thought they had discovered a conflict in the law will be disappointed.

Attorney General Cosson, in a carefully prepared decision, completed last week, decides that there is to be no cessation in the road dragging work for Iowa. This in answer to a series of inquiries put to him by county officials all over the states. He decides that:

The 1 mill township road dragging tax must be levied this year and be available for use in 1912.

The township trustees ought to district the townships at once in regard to road dragging.

Road dragging superintendents should be appointed now and be got to work immediately.

The pay for road dragging this year should come out of the regular road funds the same as in the past few years.

A township trustee cannot hold the office of supervisor of road dragging, but one may be a road supervisor and superintendent of dragging at the same time.

The township clerks ought to call meetings of the township trustees at once to have the 1 mill tax levy made for use next year.

The legislature plainly intended that there should be no hiatus in the road dragging business and the fact that it was provided in the law that the trustees should at their April meeting levy the special road dragging tax, and the law did not go into effect until five days after that time, will not affect the law. The bill made provision for a special meeting to levy the tax and this can be done now. As for paying for the road dragging this year it can be done just as in the past and before any special 1 mill levy was thought of, for road dragging is general road and repair work and can be paid for out of the regular funds for road working. In short it was the intent of the legislature to have this work go right along and a fair interpretation of the new road dragging law will make this plain.

Summer Short Course at Ames.

Where teachers, preachers, housekeepers, business and professional men and women may study agriculture, cooking, sewing, manual training and subjects required for a teacher's certificate.

In response to many requests the State college at Ames will hold a summer school there June 12-24, 1911. An opportunity will be given to study horses, hogs, sheep, cattle, poultry, butter, cream, soils, fruit, vegetables, flowers, grasses, weeds, insects, corn, oats, cooking, sewing, sanitation, manual training and numerous other subjects besides having a chance to review arithmetic, reading, physics, algebra and other studies required for teachers' certificates.

The teaching will be done by the regular college faculty and other experts. Besides the regular class work use will be made of the laboratories, experimental plots and fields, and the live stock and other valuable equipment belonging to the college.

There will be lectures, demonstrations and conferences to consider ways and means and methods. A convention of all the county superintendents in Iowa will be held at Ames June 8th, 9th and 10th, to consider public schools problems. The last week will be "Rural Life Week" and many conferences will be held by ministers, educators and others interested in rural life, and prominent people from this and other states will address them. Excursions and entertainments will enliven the time. Any one may enter and choose any subjects offered. The program will be so planned that those who wish to take certificate subjects can do so and also take agricultural work while those who do not wish the certificate subjects may put the entire time on agriculture, nature study, home economics and manual training. These two weeks will be packed full of valuable study and healthful recreation and all who can should accept this opportunity. The fee is only $3.00.

Housekeepers, teachers, religious workers, business and professional men and women will be able to get a broad knowledge of these industrial subjects or to specialize in some chosen department. Send to A. V. Storm, Dean of Summer School, Ames, Iowa, for a pamphlet giving more complete information.

Great Sunday School Convention.

The forty-sixth annual convention of the State Sunday School association will be held at Cedar Rapids, on June 6, 7, 8, 1911. This annual "coming together" of the Sunday school hosts of this state plays a large part in moulding the work of the Sunday schools of Iowa.

Strong talent has been engaged for the program. Among the noted "out-of-state" workers will be Mr. Herbert Moninger, Cincinnati, Ohio, editor of the Standard publications; Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, Chicago, International Elementary Specialist; Prof. I. H. Meredith, New York, of firm of Tullar-Meredith, music publishers; Dr. Henry H. Meyer, Assistant Editor Sunday school publications of the Methodist Episcopal church; Dr. C. Humble, Western Secretary Presbyterian Board of Publication, Chicago.

A chorus of 300 voices will lead the music. All delegates will be entertained by the citizens of Cedar Rapids on the "Harvard Plan" (lodging and breakfast), providing notice is sent to Mrs. J. Wilbur Hill, No. 1721 Blake boulevard, Cedar Rapids, chairman of entertainment committee, before June 2, 1911.

For further information, delegates credentials, etc., write to the Iowa State Sunday School association, P. F. Fitch, Secretary, 1231 Eighth street Des Moines, Iowa.
