KIRON NEWS.

The past week has been one of unusual activity in the line of business in Kiron. Stock and grain have been marketed very greatly and loads of machinery and lumber and goods have gone out. Our town does very little blowing in print, but actual business. Mrs. Otto Clauson went to Denison Wednesday to join her mother, Mrs. A. P. Lillieholm, and together leaving for Oakland, Neb., Thursday morning to visit at the home of Rev. John Cedargren, and attend a mission meeting held there for a few days. Louie Gronau, who has suffered with the auto fever for some time, purchased a machine at Denison last week of the Overland make and now, together with his family, will enjoy the skimming over the roads. New wide and standard cement walks were laid in front of the Hoaglund and Sedarberg business places and also in front of the hotel last week. From apparent appearances a booze fighter with one arm gone appealed to our citizens Monday morning for aid, but was quickly stopped by our mayor and told to move on. These otherwise able bodied fellows should be turned down when begging as they could make their own living or otherwise have the county they hail from care for them. As long as they play the charity objects and the people will respond these fellows will avoid work. The Kiron school closed Friday last and the teachers, Misses Mary and Aubrey Walker, of Denison, who have been instructors for the past year, returned to their homes this week. A splendid picnic dinner was served under the N. P. Swanson grove, which was greatly enjoyed by the scholars and a number of the parents. Larson, and family. Together they left Saturday noon for Lawton, Iowa, to visit relatives. John Samuelson, of Arnold, Neb., is visiting his father, J. B., and brother, B. A., and their families north of town this week. John used to be a resident in this locality some twenty-five years ago and finds that many of his acquaintances have changed during this time. John Anderson will have a residence erected at once on the lot he recently purchased in the west part of town and will become a resident of Kiron. Art Benson has the contract to build the same. John Erickson had several cement walks put in on his residence premises this week, which adds greatly to his already beautiful property. The Mission Sewing circle meets on next Thursday afternoon at the home of A. F. Lindburg. Plans are being formulated for an excursion to Lake View, possibly on June 23d. We shall more definitely report of it in our next letter. Mr. and Mrs. Swan Mauritz returned home Saturday morning from a short pleasant visit with relatives and friends at Omaha. The crop prospects are most excellent and promise a good yield. The grain fields from present conditions, will give good returns if nothing checks it, while the corn fields show a splendid stand with the best of prospects for a bumper crop. Mrs. Alice Wickell and children, of Mamre, Neb., arrived Saturday for an extended visit with relatives and friends. On Thursday night an automobile went south from town which failed to have the lamps lit and several teams that were met came nearly running away. heavy fine for his violation of law which endangered the lives of several. John P. Ogren returned home Friday night from his visit at Bristow and Spencer, Neb.
