Dow City Correspondent Has a Good Nose for News

Vernon O'Meara went to Denison last Saturday and visited his cousin, Leo O'Meara, returning Sunday afternoon.

Every day takes a number of our people to Denison to the chautauqua. They recognize a stronger and better program than ever before and are quick to take advantage of it.

Prof. James Rae and wife are here from Iowa City for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Rae.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wiggins, of Ottumwa, were here last week calling on their relatives and friends. They returned to Denison, where Mrs. Wiggins will make a more extended visit.

Mrs. Clarence O'Meara visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hassett, in Denison on a couple of days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Enos Cross are caring for a 10-pound boy, who arrived at their home July 19th.

Mrs. Charley Smith was down town Saturday for the first time since her recent attack of pneumonia. Many friends are glad to know that she is so much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Pearsall visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. August Mesenbrink in East Boyer township. Miss Janet Muir, of Denison, is visiting her friend, Miss Edith Brazel, this week.

Mrs. Edna Horn and two children came up from Omaha last Friday for a week's visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Marian Gibson.

Mrs. Elmer Haworth is here from Wisconsin for a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. McElwain.

Miss Lucy Healy spent Sunday with her sisters at Charter Oak.

Mrs. Frank Odell is spending several weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Daudel, at Waterloo. Her children, Beryl and Hugh, accompanied her.

Miss Florence Miller is visiting relatives in Lebanon, Mo.

Mrs. Anna Irvin, of Kennewick, Wash., who has been visiting relatives here for several weeks, expects to go to Denison this week for a few days' stay, after which she will proceed to Lohrville for a further visit before returning to her home.

James Binnall came up from Woodbine the latter part of the week for a visit with relatives, returning to his home Monday.

Mrs. James Baber's sister, Mrs. Beard, came up from Dunlap Sunday for a visit here.

Little Evelyn Buss, the 5-year-old daughter of Fred Buss, is very sick with typhoid fever. A trained nurse was secured Sunday from Omaha, and everything that can be done for the child's comfort is being done. All hope that the child may safely stem the fever's tide and pull safely through.

Miss Grace Ringer is here from Omaha for a visit with her friend, Miss Irene Smith.

David McNair is able to be up again after being confined to his bed for several days.

Martin Goddard began work for the Stewart Lumber company last week as bookkeeper, taking the place of E. D. Butts, who recently severed his connection with the firm. Martin is a good thorough workman and will undoubtedly make his work satisfactory in every way to his employers.

Mrs. Jane Wood is expecting a visit this week from Mrs. Wood's sister, whom she has not seen for more than twenty-five years. The lady lives in Kansas. Mrs. Wood is looking forward with great pleasure to her coming.

Miss Alice McChesney, of Chicago, who is a house guest at the Charley Smith home, has been up to Lake View for several days past visiting her friend, Miss Trenna Chamberlin, and enjoying the lake breezes.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McElwain are the parents of a fine baby boy, whose advent occurred July 19th.

Mrs. S. E. Goddard and Miss Agnes Goddard were visitors last week at the home of their uncle, Tom Rule, on the Paradise.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coleman were Omaha visitors one day last week.

We are informed that Miss Grace Thomas has been elected to a position in the town schools at Blanchard, and will leave the latter part of next month to take up her work there. This is indeed good news to many friends of Miss Thomas and is but a just recognition of her work as teacher. She is a graduate of our schools and has always made the most of her advantages. The best wishes of a large circle of friends are hers that she may have great success.

Misses Iva and Nellie Fishel entertained their cousin, Miss Merle Harker, of Ute, last week. She returned home Monday, accompanied by Miss Nellie.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. O'Meara went to Buck Grove Sunday to attend church services, after which they drove out to Johnny Hassett's, where they attended a family reunion of the Hassett family. They report having had a fine time.

The plasterers have finished their work on Fred Beane's new house and it is now in the hands of the finishers. Charley Bybee has returned from a season's work at Denison and is again with Clark Best's threshing outfit.

A newcomer in these parts, giving the name of Ed Hains, was taken up before Mayor Dow Monday morning, charged with procuring intoxicating liquor for minors. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Marshal Binnall took him to Denison the same day and he will thus languish in the county jail until September, at which time the grand jury convenes.

Miss Lottie Bixler, the efficient lady clerk in Herman's store, is taking her annual vacation and has gone out to the home of her sister, Mrs. Bert McCord, to spend a week or two, her mother accompanying her.

Mrs. J. H. Young is entertaining a cousin from Clinton.

Clarence, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Logsdon, is a victim of blood poisoning, the result of a wound on the foot. The physician in charge was compelled to perform an operation and we are told that the foot is improving. The child has suffered greatly and it is sincerely hoped that the member is on the road to permanent recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wiggins and family visited Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin, near Buck Grove.

Friends here of Miss Cora Hamilton and Edgar Wilson will be surprised to learn of their marriage at Council Bluffs a week ago. Miss Hamilton's home was at Carson, but she had visited here with her sister, Mrs. Fred Coleman, at different times and made many friends. Mr. Wilson was employed on a farm near here. They expect to make their home here for the remainder of the year at least, and we trust that they may continue to reside here. The best wishes of many friends are theirs for a long and prosperous married life.

It is rumored that a new doctor has entered the professional arena in our city and that he has rented the office rooms in the J. R. Best building and will soon be ready for practice. Let them come; the more the merrier.

One of Rube Malone's boys was kicked in the face by a horse one night last week and was pretty badly hurt. He is still under the care of a physician, but is greatly improved.

Clark Best's threshing outfit pulled out for action last week and got nicely started at work for Gene Crandall, but Jupiter Pluvius called a halt and all hands are waiting for the grain to dry. Small grain is said to be a fine crop this year.

Friends of Nelson Butler were considerably surprised to learn that he had slipped away quietly to Denison last week Thursday and was married to Miss Agnes Ahart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ahart. They went to Pierson to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Butler, returning to Dow City Saturday evening. They will make their home here. We wish them much joy in their new relation.

Friends here of Mrs. Charley Carroll were pained to learn of her death last Sunday at her home in Arion, and the sympathy of many friends goes out to the bereaved husband and son.

Mr. Smith, the C. & N. W. section foreman, has moved to the east part of town into the house vacated by Earl Ettleman and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Goddard are moving this week into the rooms over the bakery, formerly occupied by the Smith family. Dow City is sadly in need of some desirable houses for rent.

A double wedding took place in Denison Saturday that is of much interest to the people of Dow City. The Misses Mary and Susie Thompson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, became the brides of Asa Ettleman and Ward McDonald, respectively. Rev. Senseney of the M. E. church at Denison performing the ceremony at 2:30 p. m. Immediately after the ceremony the young couples returned to Dow City, where they received the congratulations and best wishes of hosts of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ettleman went out to the Thompson home and Mr. and Mrs. McDonald to the McDonald home. Both young couples have numerous friends who wish them an abundance of the good things this life affords. "May all their years in joy be passed, and each prove happier than the last."

Mrs. Edgar Wilson went to Carson Saturday to spend a few days with her mother.

Miss Bessie Cramer is improving slowly from her severe illness. The nurse is still with her.

Friends of Michael O'Brien, a resident here for many years, but now living on the West Willow, will be grieved to learn of his death on Sunday, July 21st, the cause being heart failure, superinduced by a long siege of Bright's disease. He is survived by a widow, three daughters and two sons. He was 69 years of age.

Fred Colby has purchased the west side barber shop of Valla Vaughn and took possession Monday. We have not learned as to whether or not east side shop will be occupied or not.

J. U. Wise has purchased of Joe McColl the residence property occupied by O. J. Judd. Mr. Wise formerly owned this property and it certainly will seem like old times to them to move into it again.

Mrs. C. W. Carr and son, Vernon, returned to their home at Denison after a couple of days' visit at the W. E. Dow home.

The Friday club will meet next Friday with Mrs. W. L. Swatman. Miss Emma Luck left last week for Wayne, Neb., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rudd.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Norris and family were up from Woodbine Sunday and spent the day at the W. E. Fishel home.

Mel Breen returned Monday from a trip to Nebraska.

There was a union meeting of the Methodists and Baptists last Sabbath evening, the meeting being held in the Baptist church. It was held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., the address being given by Mrs. Bowser, assisted by Miss Van Slake. The service was well attended and proved to be a very interesting one.

Rev. Joseph Stephen was a business visitor at Cameron, Mo., last week.

The Dow City chautauqua is but two weeks away and all are looking forward with great pleasure to it.

Mrs. Joe Pearsall and children spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Hain, near Arion.

Quite a number of our younger set spent Sunday at Dunlap, taking in the chautauqua.

Mrs. Pearl Servoss, of Denison, visited the last of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roy.

Mrs. W. E. Dow visited several days last week with her sister, Mrs. C. W. Carr, at Denison.

On Monday Gardner Cole was taken before the insane commissioners in

Being of Service to Others

(By ELBERT HUBBARD)

I WAS down in Washington a few weeks ago and a street car from Georgetown to the capitol. The car was pretty well crowded. A stout gentleman, rather elderly came in and wedged himself between myself and a woman with a big market basket on her lap.

As the stout man seated himself he gently turned his head to me and pleasantly said, "Neighbor can you tell me the time of day?"

When strangers ask for the time, there is a chance of your timepiece being snatched. This man was too fat to run, and the car was so crowded. No matter what happened I could grab him.

And so I took out my Ingersoll and told him it was a quarter to eleven.

He murmured thanks, and then apologetically explained that he had left his watch at home.

Suddenly it came over me with a thrill that the stout man was Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States.

I would have continued the conversation, but I saw that he was preoccupied. His lips were moving and he was sort of talking to himself and smiling. I guessed he was formulating some kind of speech, an address, a decision of perhaps far-reaching importance. Not wishing to intrude on a world problem, I sat silent.

The car stopped and several people got out. There was room on the other side of the aisle and I was formulated. The Woolsock and moved over, so that I might get a dissolving view of the man who dissolved the Standard Oil company.

A man came in and sat down in the place next to the chief justice. And as this man settled in and he was formulating leaned over and said, "Neighbor, can you tell me what time it is?"

And he was politely informed. This man got out at the third block, and a colored man got in and sat down by the chief justice.

His honor turned toward him and said, "Will you please give me the time of day?"

The colored gent got out just as we reached the foot of Capitol Hill. Chief Justice White got up and fastened on a strap. I did the same. The car swung around the curve and we bumped each other.

"Excuse me," said he. "It was my fault," said he. Then he said, "Would you mind giving me the time of day?"

I consulted my watch and informed him that it was 8 minutes to eleven.

I have wondered since whether the judge's solitude about the time was because he cared or was this his way of being sociable.

And I have since concluded that it was simply his way of being sociable and expressing his good will.

His mind was working, undoubtedly on another theme, but at the same time the kindness of his nature manifested itself in his neighborly question. He gave the other man an opportunity to render him a service.

That, provided the man can accommodate us without positive loss to himself, we confer on him a benefit and a joy.

That is to say, it is a matter of fellowship, and fellowship is Heaven. And here as I write I feel a joy viler of pride than Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States, not only once, but twice, asked me to perform for him a certain specific service, and, fortunately, I was able to meet his request.

I think more of the man and always have and always will for this conversation, even though three other men were honored in the same way in the course of a two-mile ride.

Denison and after due examination, he was adjudged insane and Tuesday he was taken to the state hospital for the insane. For years his mind has been failing, but he has been faithfully cared for by his son, Marion Cole, and family and they have given him every care and attention that could add to his welfare and comfort. He is well along in years and they have the assurance that he will be well cared for where he is going.

The city dads have had another water main laid, beginning at the M. E. church and running south the full length of the street.

Mrs. George Binnall is out again after a three week's illness.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF BIBLE STUDENTS

Pastor Russell's Address at Glen Echo Park, Washington, D. C.

He Declares the Bible to Be the Only Center of Attraction and Standard of Faith—Four Thousand Representatives Present From All Parts.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The International Bible Students Association closed a very successful eight-days' Convention at Glen Echo Park tonight. Approximately forty speakers have addressed the Convention. Pastor Russell was the principal speaker this afternoon. His text was, "But ye are come * * * to the General Assembly and Church of the First-born, which are written in Heaven."—Hebrews xii, 23.

The speaker declared that St. Paul points us back to the institution of the Jewish Law Covenant at Mt. Sinai and uses it as a picture or type of experiences of the Church to be expected at the Second Coming of Christ and the establishment of His glorious Kingdom.

St. Paul pictures the march of the Israelites from the Red Sea to Mt. Sinai, implying that some got to the mountain much in advance of the others, but waited there for the General Assembly. The Apostle points us back to the awful experiences connected with the inauguration of the Law Covenant—Mt. Sinai smoking, lightnings flashing from the cloud and thick darkness which enveloped the mountain, the earth trembling, the Voice of God heard, the people in fear.

All these things, said the Pastor, according to St. Paul, were foreshadowings of still more wonderful things to be expected in the near future in connection with the inauguration of the New Covenant. Many had misapprehended the Apostle's teaching in respect to the New Covenant and thought it already sealed and in operation. But not so. The Scriptures assure us that the work of Christ and the Church during this Age has been a preparatory one, without which the New Covenant could not go into effect.

A Time of Terrible Trouble. Everywhere the Bible associates with the coming of Christ a great trouble upon the world and assures us that the faithful of the Church will be spared from it by their resurrection change. The plowshare of trouble will upset human pride and humble the world and make them glad to welcome the Messianic Kingdom then to be established for the purpose of bringing to Israel and to the world the long promised blessings of the New Covenant.

The introduction of this Kingdom St. Peter styles the Day-dawn. (I Peter i, 19.) He describes its work as most blessed, saying, "Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord—He shall send forth Jesus Christ—whom the heavens must retain until the Times of Restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy Prophets since the world began."—Acts iii, 19-21.

St. Paul's Interpretation of the Mt. Sinai experiences would imply a "Day of Vengeance"—the very term which the Bible uses. Society will be so shaken and its experiences will be so dreadful that, like the Israelites of old, all will be ready to entreat for the Great Mediator—The Christ, Head and Body—Jesus and His Church in glory—to stand between them and the Almighty. It will be in response to this universal cry that the Messianic Kingdom will be established and by the New Covenant take over the control of the entire world of mankind, for whom, by the grace of God, Jesus Christ tasted death.—Hebrews ii, 9.

Terrible as the squaring of the world's accounts will be preparatory to the opening of the New Dispensation with a clean page, they are rational as well as Scriptural. Humanity will be able to look up to God and acknowledge His Wisdom and Justice, and then to thank Him for the loving provision of the Messianic Kingdom, under whose beneficent reign they may be helped back to full human perfection and to a world-wide Eden.

: A Sorrow That Endures :

The sorrow for the dead is the only sorrow from which we refuse to be divorced. Every other wound we seek to heal; every other affliction, to forget; but this wound we consider it a duty to keep open. This affliction we cherish, and brood over in solitude. Where is the mother who would willingly forget the infant that has perished like a blossom from her arms, though every recollection is a pang? Where is the child that would willingly forget a tender parent, though to remember be but to lament? Who, even in the hour of agony, would ever forget the friend, over whom he mourns?

No, the love which survives the tomb is one of the noblest attributes of the soul. If it has its woes, it has likewise its delights; and when the overwhelming burst of grief is calmed into the gentle tear of recollection; when the sudden anguish and the convulsive agony over the present ruins of all that he most loved, is softened away into pensive meditation on all that it was in the days of its loveliness, who would root out such a sorrow from the heart? Though it may, sometimes, throw a passing cloud over the bright hour of gaiety, or spread a deeper sadness over the hour of gloom, yet, who would exchange it, even for the song of pleasure or the burst of revelry? No, there is a voice from the tomb sweeter than song. There is a remembrance of the dead to which we turn, even from the charms of the living.

Oh, the grave! the grave! It buries every error, covers every defect, extinguishes every resentment! From its peaceful bosom spring none except fond regrets and tender recollections. Who can look down upon the grave of an enemy and not feel a compunctious throb that he should have warred with the poor handful of earth that is mouldering before him? But the grave of those he loved, what a place for meditation!

THAVIU'S BAND

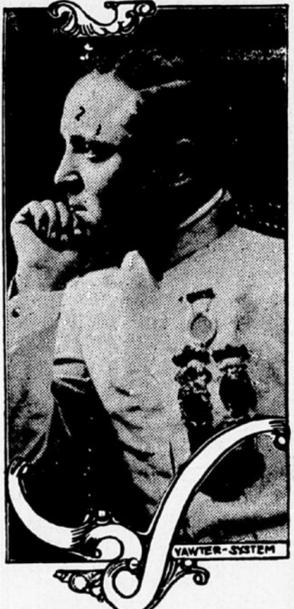

Great Organization of Finished Artists Better Than Ever.

PEOPLE DEMAND! RETURN.

In Addition to Remarkable Band Work There Are Six Grand Opera Singers, Who Appear Both Afternoon and Evening.

Thaviu's International band of finished artists and a sextet of grand opera stars will be the headline musical attraction at the Chautauqua this summer. This is the same great band that appeared on the Redpath-Vawter system last season and is being repeated in response to a universal demand.

Last year the people were fairly carried off their feet by the splendid programs. But Thaviu has strengthened his band and has many surprises in store.

Last year he carried four grand opera singers, who appeared only at the evening program. This year he carries six grand opera stars, and they appear in both afternoon and evening.

Thaviu's International band has scored many triumphs at the White City, Chicago; the Mitchell Corn Palace, Luna Park, New York, and practically all the great entertainment centers where the best grades of band work are demanded.

Disease Prevention.—A bureau of information in preventive medicine for the free use of Missourians is to be established at the University of Missouri with Dr. W. J. Calvert at its head.

The bureau will aim to disseminate information relative to the cause and prevention of diseases and to co-operate with the health authorities and physicians in preventing epidemics. Free examination and aid in checking contagious diseases will be furnished. Free pathological examination will be made at the laboratory of the school of medicine on any material sent by physicians. The chief work of the bureau will be to spread information in regard to the prevention of diseases. The course giving such information has been installed in the university and several future teachers and many of the children in the elementary schools were taught these preventive methods.
