FARM RESIDENCE BURNS.

John Nehls' Residence Northwest of Manilla, Completely Destroyed Tuesday, February 24th.

John Nehls informs us that the residence on his farm northwest of Manilla, was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon, February 24th.

John Hollander is occupying the farm and it is thought that the origin of the fire was due to a defective flue. The Hollanders did not discover the fire until the upper portion of the residence was in flames, and at once telephoned to neighbors, who were soon on hand and assisted in protecting the adjoining buildings from igniting.

The furniture on the ground floor was saved, together with some of the contents of the basement, but all the furniture and bedding on the second floor was destroyed. The Hollanders are making their home with neighbors until one of the buildings on the place is fitted up for temporary use as a home.
