

LAST DAYS OF THE CHAUTAUQUA

ships, railways and aeroplanes. It was a great entertainment and was enjoyed by both young and old.

THURSDAY'S PROGRAM.

The big musical event of the chautauqua was saved for the closing day and as it had been a week of good things and regular chautauqua soers were somewhat fatigued, nevertheless they turned out in large numbers to hear Quintano and his band. A good band has always proved a big attraction in Denison and surely the management were not disappointed with the large crowd that turned out Thursday afternoon to hear this excellent band organization. The band made up of thirty-two pieces, was the best ever heard in Denison and even surpassed the famous Thavlu band which proved to be such a drawing card last year.

Following the band concert Father Austin Flemming, of Washington, D. C. gave his lecture, "Oil for Life's Machinery." Father Flemming's lecture was different from anything on the course and was a sentimental or human interest lecture, designed to promote the brotherhood of man. The sentiments expressed by this learned man were lofty and were expressed in such a way one couldn't doubt his sincerity. Father Flemming did not speak of lined and kindred oils nor of lubrication. He spoke of more delicate machinery, but machinery that becomes rough and grinding without the proper lubricant. He spoke of human souls, human hearts, human affections, affections that might be turned into passions and destroyed, and he presented as the oil of gladness, the greatest thing in the world, love, LOVE—that which has been central in all the world's history. When our first parents left the paradise, they went out together, drawn to each other by love, Christ went to the cross for love, and His sainted mother and the other women were drawn toward the cross by emotions of love and affection. "If we all loved one another this earth would again become the garden of Paradise," said Father Flemming. He said that he came to preach the chautauqua gospel and the chautauqua gospel was, "Have ye love for one another, follow the golden rule, all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law of the prophets. Father Flemming's chautauqua philosophy was that here we are, a hundred million of us, in this great big wonderful country. Some Catholic, some Protestants, rich and poor can get along in peace if they practice the golden rule. Let us all practice it. People who do not get along together, do not get along. If the merchants in our small towns criticize each other and their goods, it will not be long before the people will lose faith in the merchants on both sides of the street and buy their goods of the great mail order houses; and the small towns will be wiped out. Some people notwithstanding their differences in creed and politics and social rank, can get along together and most all could if they tried. His speech was a strong plea for the elimination of hate from the world and the cultivation of love, until love should be supreme.

The closing entertainment of the chautauqua Thursday evening was devoted to the great feast of band music by Quintano and his magnificent band and the large tent was filled to overflowing and every available chair was occupied. The entertainment was enjoyed by everyone and it was the universal opinion that the band was the finest that had ever visited Denison.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES.

It was a great chautauqua. The big tent was being lowered Thursday evening before the crowd dispersed from the grounds. The heavy canvass was packed in trunks and left on the ten o'clock train for Missouri. By seven o'clock Friday morning the grounds were cleared and one could not have told that a seven days chautauqua had been held in Washington park. With eleven hundred season tickets pledged for the 1915 chautauqua, it goes to show that people in this vicinity are more than pleased with chautauqua as a summer entertainment.

Those college fellows were the most gentlemanly fellows we have ever seen with a chautauqua. Hon. James E. Watson, of Indiana, who spoke Monday afternoon of last week, said that the middle west has no idea of the dull times which prevail in the east. The dullness is most severe in New England, New York and Pennsylvania but it is quite apparent wherever the industries are of a manufacturing nature. There are 33,000 unemployed men in the city of Indianapolis, and other thousands throughout the state, wherever there are factories to be closed or slowed down. He stated that there would be a large increase in the vote of the republican party in all these sections. Mr. Watson has served his district in congress many years, and was candidate for governor in 1908.

The morning hour lectures by Vernon P. Squires were exceptionally good and he talked to large classes. Many people who attended these morning hour talks regularly, tell us that they were superior to some of those given in the afternoon.

Bertha M. Brown proved a popular leader of the junior chautauqua and every little boy and girl is loud in his or her praises. The junior chautauqua took a prominent part in the week's entertainment.

Prof. Wood on Thursday evening showed how easy it was for a gyroscope to take a man off his feet when he didn't hold it just right. A. R. Nieman, the property man, notwithstanding the fact that he carries considerable weight, was whirled around the platform at a lively rate when the professor left the gyroscope in his hands.

Quintano's band was the big attraction of the week and drew the largest crowd. Everyone was well pleased with this entertainment.

Washington Park makes an ideal spot for a chautauqua grounds. The big shade trees stretching over the tent affords good protection from the hot sun.

Next year the chautauqua patrons are going to petition the Northwest asking them to stop running trains during the chautauqua programs.

AFFLICTION OF BISSELL FAMILY

Death Enters Dunlap Home and Takes Both Father and Mother, Both Passing Away Same Day

BLOW FALLS HEAVILY INDEED
Mr. Bissell Dies at Dunlap and Mrs. Bissell Dies at Omaha Hospital—Two Daughters Remain

Dunlap, July 28—Special—

It is not often that death enters a home and takes both father and mother the same day, but such an affliction visited the Bissell family of this place Wednesday, July 22, 1914. Mr. Bissell passed away about noon at home and Mrs. Bissell at 5:30 o'clock in an Omaha hospital. Mr. Bissell had been in failing health for several years and Mrs. Bissell suffered from an acute attack of pneumonia and was removed to the hospital in hopes of relief, but Mr. Bissell's failing strength could not withstand the shock of her going away and the anxiety attending the operation. Mrs. Bissell passed through the first operation well, but she failed to rally from the second.

Frank S. Bissell was born in Rockville, Conn., June 17, 1855 and died in Dunlap July 22, 1914. Mr. Bissell was the only son of his parents and received a common and high school education. He then took a course in pharmacy and removed to Dunlap with his parents in the early '80's and engaged in the drug business for ten years but owing to failing health, he sold his business and went on a farm in Monona Co. After a term of years he was obliged to give up his farm work and retire from active work.

Katherine Hall Bissell was born at Lisbon, Iowa, January 18, 1864 and died July 22, 1914. Mrs. Bissell was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hall and came with her parents to live in Dunlap in 1880 when her father was division superintendent for the C. & N. W. After Mr. Hall retired from railroad services, the family removed to their farm three miles south of town where Mrs. Bissell lived until her marriage with Mr. Bissell July 1, 1883. Mrs. Bissell is survived by her aged mother, Mrs. Esther Hall, two daughters, Mrs. Carol Lanning and Florence and three brothers, J. W. Hall, Geo. F. Hall, of Dunlap and Howard Hall, of Seattle and two sisters, Mrs. Will Maysent, of Seattle and Mrs. Myrtle Lockwood, of Los Angeles. The blow falls most heavily upon the aged mother and the two daughters, who are bereft of a kindly daughter and both parents and the sincere sympathy of the entire community goes to them, especially, as well as the whole family, both Mr. and Mrs. Bissell were members of the Congregational church from which place the funeral services were held Friday, July 24, at 2:30. A large number of old friends and neighbors were in attendance to pay last respects to their memory and give sympathy to relatives. The interment was made in Pleasant Hill cemetery.

Usually he becomes a good deal of a philosopher. He finds that even his own home town is a world by itself, a theater of absorbing comedy and tragedy. The sun shines just as bright, the oxygen is just as stimulating here as anywhere. As far as happiness goes, that is not a matter of location or movement, but a capacity for taking an interest in the human life around us.
