

STREET PAVING NEXT SPRING

ington avenue; said paving to be 26 feet between faces of curb.

This means that Denison will have pavement on Main street from the Northwestern passenger station to George McHenry's residence in North Denison; on the George Naeve residence east to the north brick school building; on Broadway from Pautsch Bros.' garage to the J. P. Jones residence; from the Norman corner on Tremont street east to the Merchants' hotel; from the Norman residence to Broadway on Court avenue; Center street from the Crawford County bank to the court house; on Sweet street from the Merchants' hotel south to Chestnut street; on Chestnut street from A. B. Reesberg's residence to B. J. Sibbert's corner; Locust street from J. P. Jones' corner south to Clark street; on Walnut street from C. F. Kuehne's residence to W. J. Scrivener's corner.

The council has not decided as yet on the kind of paving to put in, but will receive bids on the following kinds of material:

1. Vitrified paving brick with either Portland cement or asphaltic top fill.
2. Sheet asphaltic with 1 inch binder and 1 1/2 inch wearing surface composed of (a) best grade natural lake asphalt; (b) asphalt.
3. Asphaltic concrete with 2 inch wearing surface composed of select hard stone and (a) best grade natural lake asphalt; (b) asphalt.
4. Warren Bros. bitulithic consisting of two inches of wearing surface.

The one or more materials above specified to be placed upon a 5 inch Portland cement concrete foundation.

5. One course Portland cement concrete pavement 6 inches thick.

The curbing, guttering foundations and pavement to be constructed according to plans and specifications furnished by the city engineer and approved by the city council of Denison, Iowa.

A resolution of necessity as prepared by the city solicitor provides that the cost and expenses of the paving, including the cost of the improvement at the intersection of streets and alleys will be assessed to property owners abutting on or fronting upon that portion of the street so improved and adjacent property adjacent to said streets, but in no case more than 500 feet from the street paved. The assessments to be made in proportion to the special benefits conferred upon the property so assessed.

Since the passing of the resolution by the council on last Wednesday evening there has been much favorable comment and property owners are delighted over the prospect of having pavement next year. It is to be hoped that nothing will interfere with the plans as made by the council.

Fire Lands.

The phrase "fire lands" originated in a passage of early history, which also gave rise to the term "western reserve." After the Revolutionary war, when the colonies consented to cede their claims to western lands to congress, Connecticut reserved from her cession a tract embracing a large part of northern Ohio. The tract thus reserved included the present counties of Trumbull, Geauga, Portage and Ashland and became known as the western reserve. It was settled chiefly by emigrants from Connecticut and was sometimes called New Connecticut. In promoting the settlement of the land Connecticut reserved half a million acres from the western end of the tract for bestowal upon her citizens who had suffered losses during the war, and the lands embraced in this special reserve were called "sufferers' lands" and later "fire lands," because most of the sufferers had been losers by fire. In early times the phrase "fire lands" was sometimes used in deeds in describing the location of land in the tract referred to. — Philadelphia Press.

Love of Money.

The love of money can hardly be the root of all evil, for it is only one perverse passion out of many. But there is a kind of decorum about money which makes the love of it peculiarly dangerous, since it conceals from the lover the nature and effects of his passion. If a man wants too much food, he is evidently greedy. If a woman wants too many clothes, she is evidently vain. But money is not a thing, like clothes or food, that can be enjoyed by itself. It is only a means of getting things that can be enjoyed, and so greed for money is not a direct greed, but indirect. It is a civilized means of conducting the struggle for life, which to a great extent conceals from those who use it the ugliness and the animal nature of that struggle. It is, in fact, a kind of diplomacy, politely conducted, behind which there is war. But the diplomats often do not see the war. — London Times.

Chesterfield on Toothbrushes.

When did the English first adopt the toothbrush habit? In "Esmond" Thackeray makes Lord Castlewood spend "a tenth part of his day in the brushing of his teeth and the oiling of his hair," and in doing so the novelist commits a double anachronism. During the first half of the eighteenth century all fine gentlemen wore wigs and had no use for oil on their hair, while the toothbrush was so late as 1754 unknown to Lord Chesterfield. Writing to his son, Chesterfield says: "I hope you take great care of your mouth and teeth, and that you clean them well every morning with a sponge and tepid water, with a few drops of ardent water dropped into it. I do insist upon your never using those sticks, or any hard substance whatever, which always rub away the gums and destroy the varnish of the teeth." — London Graphic.

Porpoise Jaw Oil.

Practically all the porpoise oil used in this country, even if not in the world, for lubricating watches and other delicate instruments is made near New Bedford, Mass., which many years ago was important as a whaling port. The product is taken from the jaw and certain other parts of the animal, which is caught especially for this purpose. When the industry was in its infancy whalers were depended upon to supply the porpoise, but now the manufacturers maintain a fishing department, which follows the schools of porpoise migrating along the coast and furnish a continual supply of them. The history of the New Bedford industry reaches back to the early part of the nineteenth century to a watch tinker who regulated and cleaned the timepieces of the whalers. — Popular Mechanics.

He Taught Him.

Yells from the nursery brought the mother, who found the baby gleefully pulling small Billy's curls.

"New mind, darling," she comforted. "Baby doesn't know how it hurts."

Half an hour later wild shrieks from the baby made her run again to the nursery.

"Why, Billy," she cried. "What is the matter with the baby?"

"Nothing, muzzer," said Billy calmly, "only now he knows!" — Harper's Weekly.

Injured Innocence.

Irate Parent—What do you mean by holding Willie Jones down in the mud and skinning his nose?

Young Culprit—It wasn't my fault he got his old nose skinned. The mud where I had him was soft, but he kept wriggling around and hit his back on a rock. — Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Swelled.

Mr. Wozggs—I'm through with Bump. I told him we are going to name our baby after some great personage and asked him for a suggestion. Mrs. Wozggs—What did he say? Mr. Wozggs—He said, "Name it after ours." — Boston Journal.

Why They Sting.

Bill—You never see a bee trying to extract honey from the artificial flowers on a lady's hat. Jill—No, because the bees know there is more sweetness under the hat. — Yonkers Statesman.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Adolph Weiss Arrested Tuesday Afternoon on Charge of Assault to Commit Rape on Person.

MISS BRANDENBERG ACCUSER

Weiss is Well Known Young Married Man With Good Reputation and Disclaims All Knowledge

Adolph Weiss, a farmer of East Boyer township, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Costello, charged with assault with intent to commit rape, and placed in the county jail to await preliminary hearing.

It is said that the attempted rape took place yesterday morning about 9:30. The story goes that Miss Verna Brandenberg, fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brandenberg, left the house to go down after the mail from the rural mail box which is a considerable distance from the Brandenberg house. It is said that when in the vicinity of the mail box Weiss jumped out of a corn field, nude, and attempted to assault the girl. Miss Brandenberg is said to have fought off the man, but not until she had scratched him up considerably.

Weiss disclaims having had such a scene with Miss Brandenberg and explains the scratches on his face by saying that he received them several days previous. Adolph Weiss is a married man and during his residence in East Boyer township has been held in high esteem by his neighbors who are loathe to believe that he would attempt such a thing.

The preliminary hearing will be held before Justice Rollins Thursday morning. Being unable to furnish a $5,000 bond for his appearance at the preliminary hearing he was lodged in the county jail.

MR. D. M. ROSE DEAD.

Former Resident of Crawford County for Twenty-five Years and Well Known in This Locality.

The Review is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. John Chris, of Omaha, telling of the death of Mr. D. M. Rose, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lulu Chris, in Omaha, on Friday, August 27th. Mr. Rose was a resident of Crawford county for twenty-five years and has many friends in this locality who will be sorry to learn of his death. Mr. Rose was sick but a few days, suffering a severe attack of kidney trouble. He leaves, besides his widow, six children: Lulu Chris, of Omaha; Fred Rose, of Grand Island, Neb.; Marcia Weigart, of Fortad Falls, Minn.; Mertie Wilson, of Orie Weigel and Hattie Breadlove, all residents of Omaha.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment being made at the Forest Lawn cemetery in Omaha.

Miss Emma Raine, who was taken so seriously sick at Dunlap two weeks ago, has shown some improvement during the past day or two. Word from Dunlap this afternoon is to the effect that she rested better last night than any night since her illness. While she has not regained consciousness since she suffered with the attack of congestion of the brain, relatives and friends have hopes that her condition will continue to improve.

The Denison Normal & Business college opened the fall term on Tuesday with a larger attendance than that of a year ago. Prof. W. C. VanNess is unable to furnish the number of students already enrolled as nearly every train brings additional ones. Two new teachers have been secured for the college faculty, they being Miss Lulu Johansson, of Ravinia, Ill., instructor of English and oratory, and Miss Gertrude Yerovitch, of Des Moines, instructor of Latin.

COMPACT TRAVELING BAG.

Any device which will save room when packing a suit case is welcomed by the traveler. A very compact bag is made of cretonne. At the top of the bag is a folding coat hanger. The bag is made of one long piece of cretonne. The bottom is turned up to form a deep pocket, and the top is cut into a point and forms the flap. Into the deep pocket one can pack shoes, over shoes and slippers, or one's comb, brush and toilet accessories might be slipped into it. Snap fasteners are used to secure the flap so that the contents in the bag will not fall out. A loop of tape and a button will answer the same purpose.

To make the bag still more practical safety pins can be placed at either end of the coat hanger and at the point of the hook. On these pins one can hang skirts and thus make the most of the small closet room which one usually finds on her vacation.

World's Finest Equestrian Group.

London's statues are generally the laughing stock of foreign visitors. They are called "jokes in stone" and other rude names. It is all the more gratifying to find one at least of these generally despised objects gaining the applause of qualified judges. A party of Belgian sculptors and artists on a recent visit were moved to proclaim their conviction that the quadriga of "Victory" on the arch at the top of Constitution hill was not only the finest equestrian group in England, but in the whole world! The sculptor, Captain Adrian Jones, once told the writer that it was twenty years after the first sketch was made that the group was finally put in position. — London Standard.

One of the most singular views on drinking ever recorded occurs in a letter from Sir Henry Ingely on Aug. 21, 1661, printed in "Fryings Among Private Papers."

"Sir William is so ill," wrote the baronet, "one of his doctors told me yesterday there was no manner of hope. I have been taught that Jupiter allows every man who comes into the world a different proportion of drink, which, when he has despatched, there remains nothing for him to do but to die, and that the proportion and expedition make great difference in men's ages." — London Standard.

The Earliest Lamps.

The most primitive lamps were probably the skulls of animals, in which fat was burned, while certain sealskins were also employed for this purpose, says an exchange. When pottery and metal began to be used the principle of these natural lamps was for a long time retained, as seen in ancient Egyptian, Greek and Roman lamps and in the stone cups and boxes of northern nations.

Clean as a Whistle.

The origin of the saying "As clean as a whistle" is ascribed to the "whistle tankard" of olden times, in which the whistle came into play when the tankard was emptied or "cleared out" to announce to the waiter that more liquor was required.

AUGUST HANKE PASSES AWAY

Respected German Citizen Dies of Cancer at His Denison Home on Thursday, August 26th.

BORN IN GERMANY IN YEAR 1843

Lived for a Number of Years at Wall Lake, Later Removing to Denison—Funeral at Wall Lake.

Mr. August Hanke died at his home on West Chestnut street on Thursday morning, August 26th, at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Hanke had been suffering with a cancer which did not respond to treatment although he consulted specialists who did everything possible to stave off the ravages of the disease.

August Hanke was born Sept. 12, 1843, at Joentergost, Province of Posen, Germany. In 1865 he came to America, locating in DuPage county, Illinois, where he took up farming. In 1869 he was united in marriage to Miss Johanna Petersohn at Wheaton, Ill. Fourteen children were born to this union, nine of whom, together with the widow, are left to mourn his death, namely: Mrs. John Sievers, Mrs. Victor Staab, Mrs. Wm. Stock and Edward Hanke, all of Wall Lake; Carl Hanke, of Holiday, N. D.; Mrs. Wm. Zimmer, of Stanton, N. D.; Mrs. Sam Harris and Miss Eliza Hanke, of Missouri Valley; August Hanke, Jr., of Wall Lake; one brother residing in Germany; one half brother, Ernst Neumann, of Trolton, Minn., and one half sister, Mrs. August Zadow, of near Odebolt, and twenty-six grandchildren.

After residing a few years in Illinois the family moved to a farm near Wall Lake, where they resided until about six years ago, when they retired from active work and moved to Denison, where they have since resided.

Funeral services were held at the German Lutheran church at Wall Lake Sunday afternoon, Rev. Frese, of that city officiating, after which the body was laid to rest in the Wall Lake cemetery.

Cards of Thanks.

Through the columns of the Review we wish to sincerely thank our many kind friends and neighbors who so ably assisted us during the illness of our husband and father and who comforted us with kind words of sympathy.

Mrs. August Hanke and Children.

E. P. Stanglin, of Alta, arrived in Denison last week to fill the vacancy in the Lamborn drug store caused by the resignation of Lawrence Randall.

Services were commenced on Sunday evening and will continue until next Thursday. The tent is comfortably seated and well lighted. So far the attendance has been good and every one has enjoyed the important subjects which have been taken up each evening. Mrs. Sype has had many years' experience in evangelistic work, preaching in various states, and for some time has been assisted by her son. The program to be carried out each evening at 8 o'clock with the exception of Saturday is as follows:

- Thursday, "The Great Prophecy Period."
- Friday, "The Sanctuary."
- Sunday, "Court Week in Heaven."
- Monday, "God's View of the Nations."
- Tuesday, "History of the Church."
- Wednesday, "There's No New Thing Under the Sun."

The new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Mote in North Denison is now about completed. They hope to move into it some time this month.

Milton Schuster's "Graces of Musical Comedy" company played to good houses Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. The company had a cast of over fifteen and carried their own special scenery. Both plays were light and airy and seemed to please all. They played an engagement here last season so were not strangers to theater goers.

ARION FAIR NOW IN PROGRESS

They are displaying the advancement of the Remington typewriter from the first machine marketed by this concern up to the present model. Another very interesting feature of their exhibit is the different stages of the manufacture of silk, showing it in a crude state on up to the finished product.

The State Agricultural college at Ames has a booth where they are displaying grain and giving out pamphlets dealing with the care and cultivation of various crops.

The race track is in fine condition and the first of the racing events will be run this afternoon, continuing each afternoon until the close of the fair. A fine band and a company of entertainers are on the grounds.

Church Notes

Rev. Wilber Clappe, of Waterloo, secretary of the men's religious movement, will preach in the Baptist church Sunday morning at 10:30, and also at the union service in the Baptist church in the evening. Rev. E. P. Williams, the local pastor, goes to Mason City Sunday, where he will supply the Baptist church for Dr. Osgood.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Tourtellot will return to Denison Friday of this week from a month's visit with relatives at Anamosa. Rev. Tourtellot will preach the sermon at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, when the congregation will be pleased to welcome their pastor's return.

Methodist Church Notes.

At the regular Sunday morning service next Sunday the annual report of the official board will be read and announcement made of the newly elected officers and committees for the coming conference year. After a short sermon the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed.

As this is the last week of the conference year, the pastor and officers of the church are having a busy week closing up the work of the year and preparing for the new. It is planned to put on the "Every Member" canvass next Sunday afternoon and all members of the church and those who desire to contribute to the finances of the church are requested to remain at home to receive the canvassers.

Everyone is urgently requested to attend the prayer meeting service on Thursday evening, when a most earnest and helpful time will be enjoyed.

Drivers of automobiles are heeding the laws of the state in regard to the operation of machines within the city limits, for no arrests have been made in Denison for over two weeks. Marshal Weeks tells us that the local drivers are following the rules laid down to them, but often drivers from out of the city fail to observe them.

Living Chess.

The game of "living chess" has been given frequently in out of door fetes. The ground is marked in squares, like a huge chessboard, and the pieces are represented by women and men in costumes that indicate their positions—queens, bishops, knights, pawns, etc. The game is played by the directions of two persons seated on thrones at the edge of the board, the pieces making the moves indicated by them.

Very Hard Water.

"Is the water where you live now hard or soft?" asked the aunt.

"It must be pretty hard," replied her niece. "The girl splattered some of it on the lamp chimney the other night and it broke all to pieces." — Ladies' Home Journal.

Smart—Not Elaborate

Are the Fall Fashions Now on Display Here

THE GRACEFUL LINES of the figure are revealed by the Fall styles. The unlovely artificial silhouette of past years has given way to natural lines, the new styles thus combining common-sense with beauty. The skirts are fairly wide and allow free movement in walking. Jackets are of sensible length, as are also the separate coats. The redingote style is a prominent one; many suit-jackets are in Russian blouse effects; the graceful princess style is the favorite in dresses.

ONLY IN COSTUMES designed for evening wear are elaborate trimmings noted. For the most part, the styles are simple, quiet, elegant.
