DAIRY TRAIN FAILS TO ATTRACT

Few Dairy Herds in Crawford County May Have Been Responsible for the Small Attendance.

ALL COULD HAVE PROFITED
Prominent Dairymen Accompany the Train and Give Very Interesting Talks—Dr. Gibson Sings.

The dairy special, which visited points in western Iowa last week, failed to attract much of a crowd when it reached Denison on Friday afternoon. The fact that Crawford county has very few dairy herds may be responsible for the small attendance, although every farmer who has milk cows could have profited by hearing the lectures delivered by men who have made a study of this important industry.

The three special cars came into Denison over the Illinois Central railway, being attached to the regular west-bound passenger train, which arrives in Denison about noon. The afternoon program was divided into three parts, the first being the lectures at the high school gymnasium. Mr. W. B. Barney, state dairy and food commissioner of Des Moines, was the first speaker on the program and devoted his time to boosting for the dairy. He declared that the local co-operative dairies need and are worthy of help for they bring results to the localities in which they are situated. Mr. Barney stated that there are 476 creameries in the state of Iowa, and that 470 of these are located in the northern two-thirds of the state, showing that the north is more inclined to the dairy industry than the southern part of the state, and for that reason the land in northern Iowa is worth from $15 to $50 more an acre than land in southern Iowa. In speaking of the seed corn proposition Mr. Barney advised that farmers in northern Iowa purchase seed corn from their neighbors or seed houses in this locality or a little north of here and not send to the southern part of the state for it. The reason for this is that the corn from southern Iowa will not mature in the northern part of the state. Mr. Barney's talk was received by everyone present as he had much valuable information to impart.

E. E. Estle, dairy expert, who accompanied the train, was the next speaker on the program, and he gave those present an insight into the care of a dairy herd along the line of proper rations. Mr. Estle could not say too much in favor of the silo, but in building one he impressed upon his audience that it should be built of good tight material that would prevent an excess of air reaching the silage. The contents of a silo must be kept air tight if the best results are obtained, said Mr. Estle, and on bringing out this point he said that those who make sauer kraut do not use a barrel with staves that will permit the air to get in, for then when ready to use it would be found in a mushy condition. He advised farmers who do not have silos to grind their corn, cob and all, so there would be no waste as there is a certain amount of feeding value in the cob. He ended by giving a few examples of balanced rations for milk cows.

Dr. J. I. Gibson, our former townsmen, was present and favored the audience with his famous song on the Iowa milk cow, which was appreciated by everyone present. After the lectures all went to the Laub livery barn to inspect the local dairy cows which had been brought in for judging purposes. It had been planned to look over the cows present, but the time was so limited that the characteristics of only one or two cows were explained. A number of people took advantage of visiting the three special cars on the I. C. tracks. All three cars were lighted by a farm lighting plant which can be installed on any Iowa farm at a small cost. Water was supplied to the cars by a farm pumping and storage system. There was also a type of milking machine in operation, which created considerable interest among those who had never had an opportunity of seeing one of these wonderful machines. There were several other exhibits in the way of Babcock testers, separators, milking utensils, etc. One of the most interesting exhibits was that showing the relative value of foods. It was shown that beans and corn meal are the only food stuffs that are relatively cheaper than milk. There were three cows on exhibition in one of the cars, one a prize Jersey for which the owner has refused $3,000 and also a Holstein and an Ayrshire, all three being representative of leading dairy breeds. All three cows have been tested and made records in the production of milk and butter.

DELOIT ITEMS.
The last number of the lecture course will be given at the hall on Friday evening of this week. This number consists of music and readings by a couple of very talented young women. Plan to attend and enjoy the entertainment.

HEART FAILURE CAUSES DEATH

Olaf Gradin, of Near Kiron, Dies Very Suddenly While Sitting in His Wagon.

ENERGETIC AND HONEST MAN
Deceased Came to America in Year 1868 and to Crawford County a Short Time Later.

Kiron, March 20th. (Special to the Review)—The news that quickly spread throughout the neighborhood on last Monday morning of the sudden death of Mr. Olaf Gradin, came as a great surprise and shock. Mr. Gradin left home in the morning well and hearty, and went to the P. Sjodin farm to bring home a stove he had purchased. At the Sjodin place he was in the wagon waiting for the stove to be brought out, and an apparent stroke of heart trouble quickly ended the life of this honored pioneer.

Olaf Gradin's birthplace was in Helgum, Guxas, Sweden. Born on March 2, 1844, he had reached the age of 72 years and 11 days when the chapter of his life was closed. He remained in his native land until 1868, when he decided to come to America, where he had heard of the opportunities open to those who possessed vim and energy. He believed that a living could be more easily made here, and under better circumstances than it could be obtained in his native country. Coming first to Crawford county, he decided to locate here and for a short time made his home south of Kiron. Later, the neighborhood north of Kiron in Ida county induced him to purchase a tract of land and build a home and he has resided there ever since. In 1874 he was united in marriage to his now surviving wife. This union was blessed with six children, who are Alfred and Abraham, Matha and Mrs. John F. Petersen, all of this neighborhood. Olaf Gradin, of Hawarden, Ia., and Mrs. Reo Osbeck, of Mead, Neb. All of the children were present at his funeral except Mrs. Osbeck, who was unable to attend. Besides the family, he is mourned by one sister, Mrs. Lars Anderson, in Kiron, one brother, Lars Olsen, in Sweden, besides a very large circle of neighbors and friends.

Mr. Gradin was converted in the year 1876, and baptized on April 8th of the same year. He joined the baptist church in Kiron, transferring his membership to the Ida Church, which was organized in 1855 with Mr. Gradin as one of the charter members. He remained a very faithful member and supporter of the church up to the time of his death.

Mr. Gradin was one of the sturdy, energetic and honest type of Swede, who always make the best kind of fathers, citizens, neighbors and friends. In his home, as elsewhere, he could always be relied upon, as his principles, which he always followed, were to be honest and fair and square with all with whom he came in contact. Being of a very energetic and industrious nature, he managed with hard work and practical planning to succeed in his tilling of the soil to such an extent that it allowed him to rest and enjoy in peace his latter days, and leave his loved ones well provided for. Those in need never went away from his door empty handed, and in all local undertakings, which were for the upbuilding of the community, Mr. Gradin was always found to assist and promote in any way he could. He was a pioneer, and one of the pioneers of his neighborhood.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon from the church, the services being conducted by Rev. A. E. Carlson, the pastor. The services were attended by a large concourse of neighbors and friends. The remains were interred in the Arthur cemetery.

Small Potatoes Good Seed.

What shall Iowa farmers do with all the small potatoes they have on hand this year?

Plant them, advises the extension potato man at Iowa State college. There's no use in buying costly new seed with such good seed at hand.

Sound potatoes the size of hen's eggs and of good shape are good seed. They should be planted whole, since it takes this much tuber to give the hill a good start and because the uncut skin protects the seed from rotting and drying in the ground.

The best stands ever secured are obtained by the use of whole seed of moderate size, says this authority. It is best not to use small potatoes every year, since it may run the seed out by propagating from the weaker hills year after year which grow the small potatoes; but of the same stock, the moderate sized potatoes are the very best for planting. Where machine planters are used the whole seed is planted more accurately than if cut seed is used.

Small potatoes for seed are used so extensively abroad that in Great Britain, for instance, potatoes are graded into three sizes, chats, seed and ware. This is but a sample of the way his candidacy is being received everywhere he speaks.

The fact that some of the congressmen want the government clerks to work more does not prove that they could safely move to have public officials in their own districts keep longer hours.

"Keep Your Eye on Kuehnle!"

We are in receipt of a copy of the Butler County Press, published at Greene, containing a copy of an address delivered by Carl F. Kuehnle up on "American Citizenship."

The Press is very enthusiastic about the candidacy of Mr. Kuehnle and predicts that he will carry Butler county by a vote of two to one against the entire field.

Mr. Kuehnle spoke before the Butler County Farmers' institute recently and made a distinct impression. The demand for the publication of his speech was so insistent that Mr. Tracey, the editor, published it in full, and yet it must be borne in mind that Mr. Kuehnle had a very limited acquaintance in this but a sample of the way his candidacy is being received everywhere he speaks.

It is believed that aeroplanes will be promptly sent out to locate Villa as soon as the money is appropriated for them, the building contracts let and army men taught how to operate them.
