Bates, who was pastor of the Baptist church in Denison from 1897 to 1901, died at a hospital in Seattle, Wash., on April 28th. Rev. The Review is issued this week under difficulties. On Monday the gasoline burner on the linotype machine, which melts the metal used in casting the type, balked and it was not until a late hour Monday evening that the trouble was overcome. High test gasoline is required for the burner, but for some reason the gasoline was not up to standard and refused to burn. Not a line of type was set Monday and it was necessary to send much of the matter for this issue to Omaha to have it linotyped so that the paper would reach its readers on time. We have been requested to announce that the closing meeting for the school year of the Mother's club of Whittier school will be held at the west building on Thursday afternoon of this week. An exceptionally interesting and helpful program has been arranged by the teachers of the grades represented in the Mother's club, including an address by Miss Lillian Miller, domestic science instructor of the Denison public schools, and Miss Grace Meyers, librarian, the former's subject being domestic science and that of the latter being library books. A large attendance of the mothers is desired for the occasion. Word was received in Denison yesterday of the death of Mrs. A. W. Wiggins, which occurred at her home at Ottumwa Monday evening following an attack of pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins were former residents of Denison and Dow City and the news of her death will come as a surprise to the many friends of the family residing in this county. Mrs. F. L. Hoffmann, sister of Mrs. Wiggins, went down to Ottumwa last week to assist in caring for her and was at the bedside when she passed away. She leaves to mourn her death her husband, one son, Jay Wiggins, who is engaged in the shoe business at Grinnell, her mother, Mrs. A. Robinson, and three sisters.
