

TRIBUTE PAID CHAS. SAUNDERS

Fifty Head of Shorthorn Cattle Sell for $52,310, Setting a Record for Single Breeder.

MANY TO SOUTH AMERICA From Small Beginning, Mr. Saunders Now Tops the World in Sales Ring, After Nineteen Years

Manilla, June 5.—(Special to the Review)—The American Shorthorn breeders paid a great tribute to Mr. C. A. Saunders and his Cumberland Short horns when they paid him an average price of $1046.20 on fifty individuals at the big sale which was held last Thursday. It was the most successful pure bred stock sale ever held in the United States by a single breeder and it was a great distinction to Crawford county to have within its borders a herd of cattle from which fifty head were taken, which sold for $52,310 setting a new record for an auction sale held by a single breeder. Mr. Saunders has sold twenty-three head of Shorthorns of his own raising, bred by his Cumberland type, none of which was over two years of age, at an average price of $1023 per head. This only goes to show that the Cumberland herd of Mr. Saunders stands among the very best. The assemblage of breeders from all over the United States and the presence of South American buyers will long be remembered by those who attended the sale. Vast throngs of people arrived on the early morning train and many hundreds of automobiles and by noon there were fully fifteen hundred people at the Cumberland farm and the speculative interest as to the possible average became most interesting as the hour for the opening of the sale approached. The crowd filled the big sale tent one hour before the sale was scheduled to begin. When Col. Jones mounted the rostrum and the undefeated Cumberland Ayle with seven of his get entered the arena an uproar of applause burst forth. The opening remarks of Col. Jones were very brief. He eulogized the work in the northwest by the late James J. Hill and expressed the sentiment of everyone when he stated that it was a distinct loss not to be able to hear a personal message from the great "empire builder." Another great disappointment was the absence of Col. F. M. Woods, who had previously sold Mr. Saunders' stock. He had officiated at so many of the Cumberland stock farm sales that it seemed queer that he was not present to participate in the crowning event of the Cumberlands. Col. Woods, always an admirer of Shorthorns, took particular interest in Mr. Saunders' sales and it was largely through his influence that the Saunders herd was established. Others who spoke briefly at the opening of the sale were F. D. W. Harding, Dean Curtis and F. D. Thomson.

Throughout the sale the get of Cumberland's Type and the cows that were bred to it were given the distinct preference by the buyers at the ring side. The sale was opened with a Cumberland Type heifer that sold very quickly for $1160; ten others followed her in quick succession and the eleven head averaged $860. These Cumberland heifers were followed by Gypsy Cumberland III, the champion show heifer and a full sister to Cumberland Type, which it was expected would top the sale. There were many opening bids on this grand cow with a nice bull calf at foot, but the final contest was between Leslie Smith & Son and Francisco V. Maissa of Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America. She was finally sold to the South American buyer for $3030. Immediately after the sale of this fine cow eight Cumberland Type bulls were led into the ring. The first to be sold was that grand bull, Royal Type II, a wonderful red calf that was so much admired by everybody in attendance at the sale. He was a seven months calf and sold for $1800 to E. A. Hess, of Council Bluffs. The principal bidder against Mr. Hess on this animal was a buyer from the state of Alabama. Bellows Bros. topped the bull sale on Type's Lord for whom they paid $2600. Many considered this eight months' calf a worthy successor to his undefeated sire. The eight Cumberland Type bulls sold for an average of $1153.35. Gypsy Countess of Cumberland Type, sold to Leslie Smith & Sons at St. Cloud, Minn., for $2100. A bull calf, full brother to Cumberland Type, sold with this cow. Sixteen out of nineteen of the cows set with calf at foot, most of them by Cumberland Type, and rebred to this bull, sold for an average of $1453.44.

More than a dozen states were represented at the sale and one buyer came all the way from Buenos Aires South America, to attend the sale. This was Francisco V. Maissa, a wealthy land owner and ranchman who is establishing a herd. He came to Iowa and to the Saunders sale because he was convinced that he could find no better stock anywhere on the globe. The South American bought heavily at the sale. Other states represented at the sale were Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Colorado, California and Alabama. David Warnick & Son, of Loveland, Colo., who purchased the junior champion Cumberland Type bull of Mr. Saunders last January at the Denver show, purchased some good cows at this sale.

The crowd in attendance at the sale was so much larger than had been anticipated that it was necessary for the residents of Manilla to throw open their homes to accommodate the visitors. The church people had charge of the feeding of the multitude and right well did they perform the task. More than fifteen hundred people were fed at the noonday meal and nearly as many were served supper, all of which was provided free of charge by Mr. Saunders. So interested were the people of Manilla in this sale that all of the places of business were closed during the afternoon to afford the proprietors and clerks an opportunity to attend the sale.

Mr. Saunders is to be congratulated upon the record he has made in the livestock business. He started at the very bottom of the class in the breeding business and by good judgment, hard work and perseverance has brought his herd of Cumberlands to a high state of perfection. For nineteen years he has stood by the Cumberlands, having implicit faith that they were what was needed and the fact that he has held the most successful sale in the history of the Shorthorn goes to prove that he has been working on the right track.

The sale was clerked by Mr. Sears McHenry, of this city, who kindly furnished us the following list of buyers together with the prices paid for the various animals:

New Soy Bean True "Find." A new variety of soy bean that promises to be a true "find" for Iowa combining the ideal qualities of early maturity and high yield, is now under a second year test at the Iowa agricultural experiment station. The new variety in last year's test, from a stand of perfect maturity, gave the exceptional yield of 25 bushels per acre.

The variety, probably of the "black eyebrow" strain, comes from central Asia. It was one of the thirteen varieties of soy beans sent last year for testing to the cereal breeders at Ames by the United States department of agriculture.

Last season was as hard on the soy bean crop as on the corn crop, but the new variety stood the test. Not only did it yield the heaviest crop of seed recorded on the station plots, but it matured every bean. Eleven of the thirteen varieties under test failed to ripen seed or quit growing early in the season. The main difficulty to date in soy bean growing in Iowa is to get a variety that matures. The new variety promises to fill the bill.

This year selections from the new variety will be planted and a systematic effort made to breed strains superior to the parent variety. L. C. Burnett, chief in cereal breeding, hopes to produce a grain that will bring the soy-bean into its own in Iowa.

Soy beans have a wide and varied use. As a seed crop they return an average of $2.50 per bushel. From soy beans comes the "milk" used in making milk chocolate. When ground they make a meal equal in feeding value to linseed or cottonseed meal, which offers a satisfactory solution to the problem of the corn belt concentrate. They are now used as food.

Marriage Licenses. The following licenses to wed have been issued from the county clerk's office since the last issue of this paper: May 31, E. A. Stone and Elizabeth Menag; June 3, G. A. Weed and Elizabeth H. Maynard; June 6, Henry Christensen and Amelia Petersen; Harry M. Clark and Edna A. Schnoor; June 7, Lawrence Christensen and Sigrid Halverson, Richard A. Nelson and Elsie A. Wolf.

The straw votes on presidential preferences show the drift of sentiment on the part of the people who manage the polling.

In Social Circles

The members of the Baraca and Philathea classes of the M. E. Sunday school gave a beautiful party on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woolston, complimentary to Miss Edna Schnoor and Mr. Harry Clark, who were married this (Wednesday) noon. The delightful literary and musical program preceded the dainty lunch which was carried out in the red and white color scheme of the decorations. Harold Dietrichsen gave a wonderfully clever toast to the bride, which was written in verse. He pictured the bride-to-be as a painting, and the closing lines of the rhyme were "My imaginary painting and Edna Schnoor, belong to Harry Clark for evermore." Estell Johnston toasted the groom and Alfred Bowen, in well chosen words, presented the young couple with a half dozen silver spoons as a token of esteem from both societies. Garden flowers and red hearts were profusely used in decorating the house and the effect was very pretty. About sixty young people enjoyed the lovely party.

Mrs. Dybbro entertained about fifteen little tots on Monday afternoon in honor of the fourth birthday of her daughter, Donna. The children played games and enjoyed the dainty refreshments which were served on the lawn. A beautiful birthday cake, which was electric lighted, was the admiration of all. Donna received a number of party gifts from her little friends. The Priscilla club was elegantly entertained by Mrs. A. B. Lorenzen on Tuesday. Fancy work was the diversion of the afternoon, after which elegant refreshments were served. A farewell party was given for Esther Gates at the home of her sister, Mrs. Carl Caswell, on Wednesday evening. Eight young girls were present and enjoyed the evening of games and music. Very nice refreshments were served. Miss Gates has spent the past year in Denison attending school and will be greatly missed by her school mates. She left Monday for her home at Lewis, Iowa.

The Coffee club members and several guests were elegantly entertained by Mrs. E. C. Chamberlin on Thursday afternoon. The usual social treat was enjoyed and then all were invited to the dining room, where one long table was spread with place for four teens. A profusion of goodies and pastries were artistically used in decoration. A delicious three course luncheon was served and during the last course a beautifully decorated birthday cake was brought in and surprised everyone, especially Mrs. Frank Woolston, in whose honor the surprise was perpetrated. The club presented her with a beautiful spoon and a "special friend" gave her a beautiful cup and saucer. She was thoroughly surprised as she did not suspect that any one knew it was her birthday.

Mrs. J. P. Conner entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw. The Home Guards met with Miss Ruth Siletto on Tuesday evening. After the business session a social time was enjoyed and dainty refreshments served.

A large attendance is desired as tea will be served and a splendid program of six numbers given. Each club in the federation will be responsible for a number on the program. The delegates will meet promptly at 3 o'clock for the transaction of business.

Mrs. B. F. Philbrook entertained a number of ladies on Saturday afternoon as a courtesy to Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw. The invitation list was made up of oldtime friends and neighbors of the honored guest. After a social hour, refreshments were served at small tables. Mrs. Melson, of Jefferson, was an out of town guest. The Hill Kare club was royally entertained by Miss Hilda Rohrer on Monday evening, when all enjoyed the usual social time.

Covers were laid for eight and a delicious dinner was served and enjoyed by the young people. The color scheme was a dainty pink and white. Following a most delightful social hour the party of young people attended the high school class play.

Mrs. A. B. Lorenzen entertained the German Priscilla club at her home Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent with fancy work and a most delicious luncheon, served by the hostess was enjoyed by the members. W. A. McHenry entertained at a family dinner last Wednesday evening, the occasion being the fiftieth birthday of his son, Sears. Mr. and Mrs. Edward George were up from Omaha and the McHenry family enjoyed a regular reunion.

Wherein All Children Join In Spectacular Costumed Exhibition of What They Have Enjoyed All Week.

The children are to be remembered at Chautauquagain this year. Again, as in former years, a trained child specialist will be here to take charge of the Junior Chautauqu, and entertainment of a new and novel character is being provided for all children under fourteen years of age.

The children's department is coming to be looked upon as one of the very substantial features of the Chautauqu. Each year has brought a different set of amusements, and these have always been instructive and highly enjoyable to the youngsters.

This season entirely new features will be introduced, and these will eclipse anything that has been offered in the past. Six forenoons will be devoted to high jinks, and the final day will close with a grand pageant in special costumes that will set a new mark in spectacular juvenile display at Chautauqu. This will afford the children a rare chance to show what they have learned and to exhibit their ability as actors on the big platform before a crowd of people.

Advertisement for Bethlehem Steel Company. Title: Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition? Text: The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective. The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need. The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them. Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community. The solution of the public utility problem is regulation of rates. The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price. We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government? CHAS. M. SCHWARZ, Chairman EUGENE G. GRACE, President Bethlehem Steel Company
