Missouri Can't Beat This Pair

MISSOURI has a well deserved reputation for mule breeding, but not even the Show Me State can beat hybrids of the class and quality of the pair pictured in the accompanying illustration. They are the finest of their kind—big, smooth and perfectly matched in every way. They are strictly Iowa products, bred and raised by F. A. Hutson & Son of State Center. Exhibited at the Iowa State Fair of 1915, they won the championship ribbon over all comers. The Hutsons are the most extensive mule breeders in the state and perhaps anywhere north of Mason and Dixon's line. For several years past they have made a practice of showing at the state fair and expect to be on hand again this year with their usual excellent consignment. The average reader may possibly entertain the notion that the best mules all hail from Missouri. If so, he is likely to change his mind after looking over the Iowa bred mules that will be on exhibition at the coming state fair.

JACKSON ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Dreessen and Mrs. Gus Gertz autored to Arcadia Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Auen were Denison callers Wednesday.

The director in sub-district No. 5 had window screens and a new screen door put onto the school house. This is something that every school house should have. If we can afford to have them on our homes we ought to protect our children from the flies at school. Let every director in Jackson get busy and get these much needed screens put on before the fall term of school commences, even if the fall term does not commence until the first week in September.

Quite a number of our farmers are now supplied with a new automobile road map and there will be no more mistakes made in traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rickers were Arcadia visitors Wednesday. Mrs. Rickers remained with her mother, Mrs. Jans, who was on the sick list.

John Auen lost a valuable colt by lightning Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kock and sons, George and John, Miss Katie Mau and Wm. Detbarb attended the Sac City fair Friday.

Wm. Kimes was a business caller Friday at Denison.

Would it not be a wise move to get some of those concrete bridges put in right away? In Jackson and in all other townships much better work could be done now and help can be had much easier now than if delayed until the last thing before frost when a good many men who have poll taxes are gone or husking corn, making more money in the corn field. One of the wisest things the county supervisors can do is to get some of this work done at once as this will be a busy fall with a fine crop of corn.

Hannes Stoffers and John Rickers were Jackson callers Friday.

Charles O'Donnell shipped a car of hogs to Omaha Sunday evening.

Elmer Martens made a call in Jackson Friday.

The trustees of Jackson met Friday evening and by a vote the clerk was appointed to see the county supervisors and ask them to commence work at once on the concrete bridges.

Herman Buck was an Omaha passenger Sunday afternoon, where he went to look for feeders.

See Rag Doll Test Made. Every Iowa farmer who attends the annual state fair at Des Moines may see the rag doll method of testing seed corn demonstrated if he will visit the Iowa state college building on the fair grounds. The test is simple, taking but about 15 minutes of time. An experienced tester will be in charge of the booth and will give continuous demonstrations every day that the fair is open. He will explain the method in detail and answer questions in regard to it.

Considering the high state of political tension now apparent, the person of decided views will frequently walk down town alone before next November 7.

Keep the big weeds out of the corn and other crops.

Alfalfa may be seeded 20 pounds to the acre in late summer.

TEMPTING PROVIDENCE. "Mr. Hughes' survey of the immediate past challenges our future. We have muddled along, but our gratitude for such immunity as we have enjoyed should be directed to Providence."—Chicago Tribune. Yes, but another year's waiting in the white house might be a tempting of providence that would lead to a sharp lesson in the precept that the Lord helps them that help themselves. The country blundered innocently into Woodrow Wilson, a minority president, in 1912. Providence has been kind, and tempered the wind to the shorn lambs of business and labor with a passing and fortuitous spell of seeming prosperity. The country can best show its gratitude to providence by declining further trial of Mr. Wilson, now that it has got acquainted with him. It cannot reasonably expect providence to act as guardian ad litem for the people for another four years. Mr. Hughes' watchword of "America first and America efficient" should appeal favorably to a somewhat overworked providence through whose proverbial care for "children, drunken men and the United States" the country has been permitted to "muddle along."—Milwaukee Sentinel. It is much pleasanter to sit comfortably on the porch and read how the capitalists are controlling the food supply, than it is to get out in the sun and raise a vegetable garden of your own. The New York newspapers continue to issue reassuring statements about the infantile paralysis epidemic, in which they derive great comfort from the fact that the cases only increased 50 per cent when they might have doubled.
