D., where he will remain until the last of the week transacting business. Messrs John and Joseph Stellock were down from Vail Monday calling on county seat acquaintances and transacting business. Rev. J. C. Tourtelot will go to Anamosa the last of the week to officiate at the wedding of Mrs. Tourtelot's sister, Miss Grace Byerly. Miss Louisa Jones will return home the last of the week from Chicago to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Jones. Harold Silletto, who is attending the state University at Iowa City, is expected home tomorrow to spend the Xmas vacation with his parents. Glenn Kelly, who has been conducting a barber shop at Deloit has moved to Denison and is now working in the shop under the Crawford county bank. Mrs. Otto Hansen, who has been undergoing an operation at the Mehan hospital, has so improved that she was able to return to her home last week. John Silletto, of Des Moines, will arrive in Denison the last of the week, to remain here until after Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Silletto. A year's subscription to the Review would make a most acceptable Xmas gift to a relative or friend and one which would be appreciated for 52 weeks of the year. Mrs. Adelbert Jones and children, residents of San Diego, Calif., will arrive in Denison the last of the week for an extended visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. E. Jones. Misses Eunice Jones, Dorothy Tucker, Grace Ingraham, Irene Cook and Alice Swanson, who are attending Grinnell college, are expected home this evening to spend the holidays at their parental homes.

They left the first of the week for a few days visit with relatives at Manilla. Henry Moeller suffered an attack of heart trouble at a hotel in Omaha last week and his condition was so serious that he was rushed to a hospital for treatment. He was springing to return home and apparently is now enjoying his usual good health. Miss Mary McHenry, who is attending Ferry Hall's seminary at Lake Forest, is expected home tomorrow to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sears McHenry. Miss Agnes Johnson, her roommate, will accompany her to Denison to be her guest during the Christmas vacation. Miss Emma Nielson will return this evening from Lincoln to spend the Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Nielsen. Her roommate, Miss Emma Stevens, of Long Beach, Calif., will accompany her to Denison and her sister, Miss Dorothy Stevens, will come Saturday. The boys store has entered into an arrangement with Ralph Cassard for the exclusive sale of the Edgewood Dairy products consisting of milk, butter, cream, cottage cheese and butter milk. On page five of the first section will be found their advertisement, which will be of interest to the people of Denison. The boys and girls who have been clipping out the advertisements of the Grau Drug Co., which have appeared in this week's issue of the Review must turn them in at the drug store not later than Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. The boy or girl who hands in the largest number of these advertisements will receive a beautiful Christmas present. "Ikey and Abey," the farce musical comedy presented at the Germania opera house Thursday evening, drew a fair sized crowd, but people generally were disappointed with the production. It was a farce from the standpoint of merit. Many of the Denison theater goers are so disgusted with the class of attractions that are brought to Denison they have ceased to attend. On page four of the first section, will be found a full page advertisement of Mr. Bruce Rogers who recently purchased the implement and automobile business of such a success. Mr. Rogers will conduct the business along conservative lines and will handle practically the same line as did his predecessors. He is thoroughly familiar with farm implements having been a farmer all his life and is a competent judge of implements. "I heard Billings forced his daughter into a marriage with a rich creditor—practically sold her." "That's queer. The newspaper accounts of the wedding say he gave her away."—Baltimore American. WHERE SANTA CLAUS NEEDS A STEPLADDER - BY BART

Merry Xmas. Fourteen pages this week. Mr. Floyd Cornish, of Odeboit, is in town today transacting business. Crawford county has thus far this winter during the past week. The mercury has gone down as low as 12 degrees below zero and the weather man reports that the end is not yet in sight. Reports from the northwest are to the effect that temperatures are as low as 20 degrees below the cipher mark and that snow is general. Coal men are having trouble in supplying the demand owing to the scarcity of that commodity, but they have been able thus far to keep families supplied although compelled to substitute other grades at times. The ladies of the Current Events club are completing arrangements for their Christmas entertainment for the benefit of the children in Denison who might not have a happy Christmas if they were not for their efforts. The entertainment will be held in the club rooms of the Carnegie library as in former years. The club will gladly receive gifts of clothing or toys on or before Saturday of this week. All who wish to donate kindly notify the secretary, Mrs. Benj. F. Mill.

PARENT-TEACHERS CLUB Committee Appointed to Interest the Mothers—Mrs. English Not to Lecture in Denison. Denison is to have a parent-teachers club. That is if the committee of teachers and parents are able to interest enough fond mothers to make a success of the undertaking. Clubs of this kind are common in all of the large cities and have proven a great benefit to the community and especially to the children. The parent-teachers club is organized to study and investigate child welfare and to discuss methods to better conditions. Last week a committee composed of Miss Fanny Hayes, Miss Fay Chamberlin, Mrs. Frank Woolston, Mrs. Thos. Norris and Mrs. Ira Gillmor, was appointed to investigate whether or not Mrs. English, of Des Moines, should be procured to deliver an address to the children of Denison on sex problems. After sounding the sentiment of the community it was decided that it would not be best to have a lecture of this kind and the matter of the parent-teachers club was brought up with the result that Miss Hayes, Mrs. Woolston, Mrs. Gillmor and Mrs. Norris were appointed a committee to organize the club. We sincerely hope that they will be able to interest a sufficient number of parents in Denison to form the club, for we are confident that much good will result from an organization of this kind.

AMERICAN CAMERA MEN. Always on the Alert to Anticipate Events of the News. It is safe to say that American camera men lead the world in alertness and enterprise and in that illustrious talent known as "news sense." The news photographer is expected to anticipate the news. He must look far ahead, calculate future news values and supply photographs which events months before the presidential nominations are made, for instance, he must secure portrait studies, not only of the probable nominees of every party, but of possible dark horses. When the names of the nominees are flashed over the country the newspapers must have pictures ready to publish. The news of the great naval battle between the English and German fleets off the coast of Jutland came absolutely without warning, but nevertheless the American papers were able to publish within the hour photographs of the vessels engaged. The photographs had been collected months, even years, before in all parts of the world and kept against a possible time of need in thousands of newspaper offices. Even the unexpected death of the president of China did not catch the American papers napping, and the called announcement of his death was illustrated with his portrait and that of his successor and his cabinet. All photographs of news interest with even a remote chance of having any future value are carefully preserved and classified in newspaper offices. The great dailies have enormous collections of such views gathered in all parts of the world, which are kept in readiness against a time of need. One firm in New York has a collection, which is constantly growing, of upward of a million such pictures. The collections contain thousands of portraits of people in the public life of every country in the world. Every city of importance has been photographed, as well as scenes illustrating every conceivable human activity which by any chance may figure in the news. Let some accident occur, some event of general interest in the most remote corner of the world, a battle, a storm, an earthquake, any untoward event, and by drawing on the inexhaustible supply of this library the newspapers will appear on the street an hour or so later with the actual photographs of the scene.—"The Camera Man," by Francis A. Collins.
