Paint is Best For Walls and Ceilings Lincoln Walamo is a sanitary dull finish paint for walls and ceilings. It combines the durability of an oil paint or an enamel with the soft, velvety beauty of water color or fresco. Lincoln Walamo is the ideal finish for walls and ceilings. It is much superior to wall paper or wall coverings which are held in place with unsanitary, germ breeding paste. "Saxon Days"

Spring and the Saxon Make the Whole World Kin

There is practically no person at this time of the year free from the most persistent of germs—Automobilitis—and if you are behind the steering wheel of the sturdy Saxon, the easiest and most comfortable car to drive, you will realize more than ever the pure delight of spring motoring. Plenty of Room Sit in the back seat and stretch your legs to their fullest extent. Note the comfortable riding quality given by the full cantilever springs as they cradle you over the roughest of roads. Nothing but comfort and plenty of room. Then again note the handsome appearance, beautiful in every line; compare the Saxon with cars costing twice as much and you will be just as enthusiastic as we are. A Wonderful Car The Saxon is truly a wonderful car. Starting right from the radiator and working back through the car to rear axle we know of no better material than is contained in the various parts, nor any part which is surpassed by more improved or modern design. The Saxon motor is a marvel, throttling down to two or three miles an hour on high with a steady, even, smooth, power flow, or will give you a clean pick up to 40 miles an hour in a minute and a half. Still Less Than $1,000 The most remarkable of all is the price, which is still less than $1,000.00. Prices are bound to advance, however, and we urge you to place your order at once.
