August 5 - "Manasseh and Repentance" - Chron. 33, 1-20.

Again we have called to mind a section of the history of the Jews in the days many hundred of years before Christ was born. This time, it is to King Manasseh, who reigned over the kingdom of Judah, and thus had his capital at Jerusalem. He was but twelve years old when he became king and kid-like he went in for sin, and a high old time.

Of course, there was an awful temptation to do the things of the heathen people about. They had images to be seen with the eye to worship; their religion pandered to the sensual and animal in the nature of the people; there were dances, drunkenness, great eating feasts, much to appeal to the low nature in man. Pretty near the same today are the enticements of wrong doing. Young people get the idea that all there is of life is what animal enjoyments they can get out of it. Debauchery seems worse of course, when a king or leader of the nation sets the bad example.

Manasseh went to the limit and his people were not slow to follow. The temple was desecrated, walls of the city taken down, heathen nasty work ship encouraged, until the record as to the man said that the Jews were worse than the heathen which had been wiped out to allow the children of Israel to inhabit the land. But the almighty God had His eye on this condition of things and took a hand at making of the king an example for even the people of today to profit by.

The king's "joy ride" came to an end one day when his enemies came down upon him, and he found himself bound in chains and carried off to prison in Babylon. Often it was the custom to put out the eyes of kings made prisoners or kill them, but in this case, life was spared. Now comes the interesting part of this lesson: It is told in the great story of the prodigal son that when he arrived at the place where he was hungry and was set to feeding hogs "he came to himself" and began to think of his father's house and what a fool generally he had made of himself. Well, King Manasseh "came to himself" in prison and then bethought himself as to the ways and wherefores which had brought him there. Then he discovered that the help of Jehovah, and the God of his fathers would be pretty handy to a man in his condition. The record says, "When he was in distress he remembered the Lord his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers." He prayed and entreated, and happily for him, his words were heeded. Manasseh regained his throne, was brought again to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Now comes the powerful sentence in the bible record: "Then Manasseh knew that Jehovah was God."

One might well ask why it took those years of wrong doing and rescue from prison and chains to give the truth to the mind of the king. At the same time one answers this question, let them tell why boys and girls insist in our day in careering toward hell, blind to the fact which stares at them from every church steeple, comes from the mouths of parents, teachers, friends that there is a God in the world who will not let any guilty man or woman escape. Perhaps one reason is that the aforesaid boys and girls don't believe that God will ever bring them up with a short turn, but it will. There is one bible verse which will be well for such people to remember: "Be not deceived, God is not mocked."

The king was given another chance in life and he had the good sense to take advantage of it. Strange to say there are people who are rescued, their life spared from their death, who arise from their sick beds and defy God who gave them another chance. Such a situation is simply terrible, incomprehensible, fearful. Yet men who think themselves sane do just that very thing. They laugh and declare they are not afraid, and start out on another round of defiance to their creator, the one who held their breath in His hand. I have personal knowledge of this thing, and so has everyone who has arrived at adult age. My heart goes out to such and I cry "Why? Why? Why?" and there is no answer. There is a promise that some day we shall all understand, but for the present there is no answer to why our choicest loved ones will not heed God's call.

Manasseh did his best to undo the wrong he had done. He removed the idols from the temple, built the walls, obeyed God and commanded the people of Judah to do likewise. He was a wise fellow. He did not close his eyes to the new light which came to him when he "knew that the Lord He was God." In closing I will take time to commend the course of the king, and to recommend it. If like the prodigal son you have come to yourself or like the king, found out from severe experiences that "The Lord He is God" turn about. Try to undo the wrongs you have done. That is simply doing the best to be fair to God who gave them the chance to reform. These Old Testament histories were not put in the bible just to fill up, but to let us draw lessons which will make our lives the better if intelligently heeded.
