SCIENCE LECTURE WELL ATTENDED

Five Hundred People Attend Christian Science Lecture by John C. Lathrop Last Friday Evening

SPEAKER ANSWERS QUESTIONS
Synopsis of Talk Will Prove Interesting to Those Who Were Unable to Hear the Speaker

About five hundred people were in attendance at the lecture delivered by John C. Lathrop, C. S. B., at the opera house on Friday evening of last week, and everyone enjoyed the fine discourse. Mr. Lathrop was brought to Denison through the efforts of the local Christian Science church to deliver his lecture on Christian Science; its Naturalness, Simplicity and Practicality. The speaker is prominent in the Science church, being a member of the board of lecturership of the mother church at Boston. During his address Mr. Lathrop answered questions in regard to Science and cleared up many points that people had generally misunderstood.

The Review is able to furnish the following brief synopsis of his lecture:

The Bible records that Jesus made his complete demonstration over material law in his resurrection and disappearance from material sight. He said to his disciples: "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he will guide you into all truth." At another time when impressed by Peter's recognition of the Christ, he said: "Upon this rock (or understanding of the Spirit of truth) I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. It is of prime significance that Jesus had withheld higher teaching from his disciples because of their mental unreadiness to 'bear (it) now,' which higher teaching would be revealed in the fullness of time, through 'the Spirit of truth' who 'will guide you into all truth.'"

This great fact, that the Spirit of truth has come and is now leading the world into all truth, has become historical. For over fifty years it has been conclusively demonstrated by countless cases of mental reform and physical healing. In the year 1866, Mary Baker Eddy, a New England woman of Puritan forbears, through a purified state of mental readiness, discovered the divine Principle of being; and through further inspiration gradually developed the spiritual rules, which assumed a method or system of healing and reform which she was divinely lead to name Christian Science.

The material human will is the chief obstacle in the way of mortals understanding Christian Science. The natural spiritual fact of the illness of God, or Spirit, and of spiritual man and spiritual universe which the Bible teaches, is most unnatural to the material senses of mortals, whose god is matter, whose man and universe are material, and whose will or law is material opinion or belief. Matter is the opposite of Spirit in nature and expression, and being the very reverse of God it cannot be the creation of God, Spirit.

One of the common beliefs of life and intelligence in matter is the power that is given to a drug to restore health. This faith in matter in the form of a material, and universe are harmful to most forms, because it shuts the door on direct faith in God, Spirit, as the immediate and only restorer of health and life. What a god some people make of medicine. The drug is said to be given to assist nature to produce a cure; but the drug has no intelligence, it does not know where to go, then how can it assist nature in the cure of disease? Nature truly is the natural healer of disease, but matter is not nature. Nature, rightly understood, is the manifestation of divine Principle, and Principle, or Love, and the spiritual Life thereof are not expressed through a negative false belief called matter.

Looked at materially there always will be something unsolved in regard to vitality and health, but it is found that Christian Science disengages these forces, sets them free from their material complications, and reveals health and vitality to be spiritual qualities or forces. Christian Science teaches that there is one and only real Mind, or divine Principle, which is all life, intelligence, and substance. Therefore, must include all true nature, vitality and health. Therefore, when nature is healing the sick, it does not mean that some mysterious force is at work in matter; but it means that divine Principle or divine Mind is being naturally expressed through spiritual thoughts, through the good thoughts of hope, faith and understanding, through the law of Life, Truth and Love; such thoughts destroy the false beliefs of fear, disease and sin.

This divine Principle of the universe and man is active, concrete truth, and as such is capable of being demonstrated in all human affairs. Such demonstration is made through prayer, according to the Christianly scientific method of Christian Science. The availability of the Christian Science prayer lies in its practical, workable nature. The Christian Science prayer works, or avails, just in so far as one understands and applies the divine Principle and rules of Christian Science to discordant mortal beliefs. Anyone can understand how Christian Science heals the sick, and anyone can be a practitioner and give a treatment in the measure that one obtains this understanding.

If Christian Science is truly natural

It must be simple, because true nature is simple and sincere. A simple thing is one that is plain and single; not complex. To be simple is to be clear, direct, humble and unadorned; not combined with something else. Matter possesses none of these characteristics, but is complex, entangled, vague and deceitful; for this is the character of the material mind. Matter is anything but simple.

The only substance that is simple, artless and entire is Spirit, and its qualities are the same. Spirit is God, and God, good, is the simplest thing in the world to the good and pure-minded.

Jesus lived a life of simplicity, a life apart from matter or the flesh. He saw man in God's likeness and his law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus will make anyone "free from the law of sin and death." Christian Science is this simple law of life and intelligence in Spirit, not in matter.

Christian Science goes to the root of evil or sin and finds it to be only the impersonal and false claim that there is a power apart from God, good. It shows how each individual can, and must, for himself overcome these subtle evil beliefs. Christian Science shows that as the resistance of these false evil beliefs is not personal, therefore no personal harm can be done. This impersonal method of handling evil is the only method by which evil can be destroyed and therein lies the great practicality of Christian Science.

Christian Science is practical, as the healed and regenerated everywhere do gladly testify. Christian Science is a divine law or system of perfect rules to be proved, and while the absolute is always possible, no one must think that he is expected to attain it in any other way than by steps and stages. No one ever does so. Whatever explains what fear, sin and disease are, whence they originate and how they are to be overcome is eminently practical.

Fear is the shadowing torment of human existence that is responsible for more than half of human discord and disease. Christian Science shows that fear comes from ignorance or sin. It teaches one how to rise out of ignorance and out of sin, and thus prevent and heal all kinds of fear. Men and women of riper lessons and experience surely should realize their dominion over the mesmerism of fear, limitation and reversal. All persons should realize the danger of becoming self-satisfied, or satisfied with a "good enough" medicine or a "good enough" religion. Nothing in matter is good enough for one who is seeking freedom, peace and salvation.

Self-determination and self-development are now said to be the only road to liberty and progress. This is true, and is the teaching of Christian Science. Self-determination, or the freedom of the individual to decide for himself, and self-development, or the freedom of the individual to develop himself, are inborn and inalienable rights. They are really laws of divine Love and justice, forever governing and directing the man of God's creating.

Leo F. Walters, of St. Joe, Mo., was alone in the trenches in far away France when a sweater was handed him by a Red Cross nurse. He noticed a piece of paper pinned to the garment and upon the paper was the name of Mrs. Goldie Thompson, Hopkins, Mo. He wrote her that he was in possession of the sweater which she had knit and he thanked her for it. She answered the letter and proceeded to tell him a few things, that she was a widow, was engaged in certain kinds of work and so on. He answered her letter and later on photographs were exchanged and finally he proposed and after the lapse of weeks on account of having been transferred he received an acceptance. Upon landing at New York he telegraphed her and while awaiting his discharge the wedding day was set for Monday, September 22d, at Bedford, Iowa. They both reached Bedford upon the same train, registered at Hotel Garland and here for the first time the soon-to-be bride and groom stood face to face. After taking dinner together they went to the Presbyterian manse where Rev. Currie pronounced them man and wife in due and legal form. The bride lived happily ever afterwards; it is only a prophecy for future fulfillment.

Attorney Witham, of Greenfield, was solicited to fill out questionnaires during the enforcement of conscription. In carrying forward the work he was accused of changing questionnaires and of charging an exorbitant fee for his services. He was indicted by a federal grand jury. His trial was called in the federal court at Creston and after a full statement of the case charges were withdrawn. The prosecuting witness died with the flu soon after preferring the charges.

Michael McAndrews, of Sioux City, died presumably from an overdose of a medicine put on the market by J. C. Miles, pharmacist, who was placed under arrest, charged with manslaughter and to convince the court of the harmlessness of his preparation he drank six bottles in the presence of the judge. The case has been remanded to the grand jury for investigation and Miles is out on a $5,000 bond.

Miss Abbie Allen, for many years a faithful nurse and assistant in the post office at Corning, was placed under arrest some months ago by direction of a post office inspector, charged with the misappropriation of funds. The case was carefully considered by the federal grand jury at Creston and

SAM O'HARE IS ON DEATHBED

Former County Attorney of Crawford County Sam V. O'Hare Said to be Dying in St. Louis

HIS RELATIVES ARE WITH HIM
Been Confined to Hospital for Two Months—Robert Grayson Now With Him—Getting Every Care

From the Muskegoe Daily Phoenix, of Muskegoe, Okla., under date of October 12th, we learn of the serious illness of Crawford county, coming here with the name of Sam V. O'Hare, formerly county attorney of Crawford county. For the past two months he has been confined to St. Luke's hospital at St. Louis, Mo., where he is receiving every possible care. His sisters and his law partner, our own Robert Grayson, are at his bedside, and no hopes are held out for his recovery.

Many oldtime friends in Denison and at Carroll will deeply regret the illness. For a number of years prior to 1904 Sam V. O'Hare was a resident of Crawford county, coming here with the name of Sam V. O'Hare, formerly county attorney of Crawford county. For the past two months he has been confined to St. Luke's hospital at St. Louis, Mo., where he is receiving every possible care. His sisters and his law partner, our own Robert Grayson, are at his bedside, and no hopes are held out for his recovery.

Sam V. O'Hare is on his deathbed at St. Luke's hospital in St. Louis. His sister, Mrs. J. J. Rooney, and his law partner, Rob Grayson, have gone to his bedside following the receipt of a report that there is no hope for his recovery.

Mr. O'Hare, himself, stimulated by narcotics, is unaware of his critical condition. He sent a telegram Thursday to Mayor John L. Wisener saying that he was progressing nicely and would probably be able to return home within two weeks.

For more than two months he has been in the hospital, but instead of improving his condition has rapidly grown worse until now his physicians have stated it is only a matter of a short time until his death. It is not kept under the influence of morphine he has convulsions.

His sisters and friends here, taking his letters and telegrams at their face value, have not considered his condition serious. All his letters have been written by his nurses, however. One sister, believing him in no danger, started to her home in Minnesota, but stopped off at St. Louis to see him. It was she who sent the message that caused Mrs. Rooney to ascertain who the guilty parties were. They drove to Red Oak to consult a couple of fortune tellers. Mr. Young went to one and Mrs. Young to the other. The fortune tellers, so the story goes, each described the boys and said they were out selling books and at that time were in Clarinda. Mr. Young thereupon telephoned the sheriff at Clarinda and the two boys were apprehended at a movie. The watches were found in their possession.

Michael Cornwall was the manual training instructor at Manson. He also taught physics and was something of an athlete. And in addition to his other qualifications he was well versed in that ancient and outlawed game known as crap shooting. The teacher interested a number of his pupils in the art and the manual training room became an amateur gambling den. Then it was that indignant parents got busy, a special meeting of the school board was called and all this resulted in the prompt dismissal of the young instructor from the school and he is now seeking another job.

The board of supervisors of Emmet county has posted a notice offering a reward of $200 for the apprehension of anyone stealing an automobile from any resident of that county. The supervisors further offer a reward of $200 for the arrest of any person or persons who hold up any citizen of that county for the purpose of robbery. Automobile thieves have been unusually active in that section and on one occasion an assault by highway robbers cost the life of a prominent citizen. The supervisors have instructed the sheriff to lay in a supply of ammunition and to arm a force of deputies and go after every suspicious character who cannot give an account of himself.

Leave taking at Ft. Des Moines in preparation for the abandonment of the hospital has revealed warm attachments formed during the months thousands of disabled soldiers have been brought there for rehabilitation. The townspeople and the various activities that have looked after the welfare and comfort of the men have bidden farewell to each group that has departed. The nurses have been very attentive through the ordeal at Belleau Wood was able to make his whereabouts known to the chaplain who promptly returned the money held in trust.

A year ago this fall Timothy Smith, of Page county, along with some other boys, got into a watermelon patch on the farm of C. L. Harland. His son, Paul, was watching the melon patch, armed with a shot gun, and when he heard the boys entering, it being dark, he opened fire and severely wounded Timothy Smith and Bert L. Hudson, a companion. Timothy Smith brought suit against C. L. Harland and his son Paul and a jury recently awarded the wounded young man $500 damages. Bert L. Hudson also brought suit against C. L. Harland and this will come up at a later term of court.

Henry Anderson and Ted DeVore are in jail at Clarinda awaiting the action of the grand jury, the specific charge being that of entering a house and taking $4 in money and two watches. The boys were canvassing for "The Price of Our Heritage," the book written by Chaplain Robb. When they went to the home of M. H. Young, near Yorktown, nobody responded to their alarm at the door and so they unhooked the screen and entered, taking the money and watches. When the Youngs returned they discovered the theft and immediately took steps to ascertain who the guilty parties were. They drove to Red Oak to consult a couple of fortune tellers. Mr. Young went to one and Mrs. Young to the other. The fortune tellers, so the story goes, each described the boys and said they were out selling books and at that time were in Clarinda. Mr. Young thereupon telephoned the sheriff at Clarinda and the two boys were apprehended at a movie. The watches were found in their possession.

FIFTY-ONE YEARS AT TIME OF DEATH

Thomas White, of Buck Grove, Whose Death Was Announced Last Week, Lived in Crawford 36 Years

WAS A CIVIL WAR VETERAN
Deceased Was Also With the English Army for Many Years—Came to America in Year 1859

BUCK GROVE, Oct. 21.—(Special to the Review)—Thos. White was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, 81 years ago, and when a lad of 17 enlisted in the English army and fought in the Crimean war three years and then came to the United States in 1859, and worked in New York city two years. When the civil war broke out he enlisted and fought until the end. He participated in the battles of Cedar Mountain, Sulphur Springs, Fredericksburg, Va., Vicksburg, Jackson, Miss., Run and several other battles and was honorably discharged the 21st of June, 1865, at Harts Island, N. Y. harbor.

He was married in Newport, N. Y., in 1867 to Miss Ellen Donovan and four children were born to this union. William, of Sioux City; Mrs. J. P. Welsh, of Buck Grove; Mrs. Kate O'Meara, who died fifteen years ago, and Thomas, of Sioux City.

The family came to Crawford county thirty-six years ago and settled on a farm where they remained until they retired and built the home in Buck Grove where his loving wife died twelve years ago. Since then he remained in his home beside his daughters, and all that love and care could be done for him. He was a very robust man until five years ago when he had to succumb to an operation and two years later he sustained a broken hip from which he never fully recovered.

He was buried from the Catholic church here. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Burkheiser, of Defiance, after which the remains were followed to the final resting place beside his wife in the Catholic cemetery at Denison.

Mrs. Emma S. Meyers is at Sioux City this week attending the Baptist state convention. In the work of the women of the Baptist denomination of the state Mrs. Meyers holds a place of some importance. She is editor of a department for the women in the state organ published weekly at Perry. In this connection it might be said that Denison has a goodly number of women who are most active in the Baptist state work, among whom are Mrs. R. P. Plimpton, Mrs. T. E. Pearson and Miss Susie Craft. The Denison Sunday school under the superintendency of Mrs. Plimpton, ranks standard in the state of Iowa.

Mrs. Julius Rohwer returned Friday to her home in Schleswig after a week's visit in Denison with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rath.

Des Moines Capital: The power to reduce federal taxation lies with the people, who can accomplish anything at Washington by bringing to bear upon that body the pressure of unanimous opinion. While the chairman of the house ways and means committee and the appropriation committee argue that taxes must continue on the present basis, the popular will of the people can change their minds.

Bellevue, on the Mississippi river below Dubuque, is the home of Miss Esther Mace who has called for Port au Prince, Hayti, to join her lover, Rev. Harry E. Petersen, to whom she is to be married upon her arrival. Rev. Petersen is chaplain of the First Provisional Brigade of the United States marine corps. The couple became engaged before America's entry into the world war, but the wedding was postponed so that each might perform a service in the great struggle. Rev. Petersen is a graduate of McCormack Theological seminary, Chicago, Ill. His bride to be graduated from the Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago, and served in France as a Red Cross nurse.

Mrs. Abbie Gardner Sharpe, of Arnolds Park, Lake Okoboji, is seriously ill in a hospital at Spencer. She is the only survivor of the historical Spirit Lake massacre in 1857 and it was through her untiring zeal that the state erected a monument on the spot where the improvised fort stood. The old log cabin in which the Gardner family resided still stands in an enclosure in the woods and Mrs. Sharpe charges an admission from which she maintains the grounds and keeps up a very creditable museum of Indian relics. Abbie Gardner was 13 years of age when she was carried off into captivity after seeing her parents murdered by the infuriated red men. She was born in 1844 and consequently is now 75 years of age.

Some years ago what was supposed to be a tramp stopped at the Lindley home near Nora Springs, Floyd county, and asked a young lady, Miss Sarah Lindley, the only person at home, for $2. This she gave him and he went his way. And now it is announced that the supposed tramp died nearly three years ago at Minneapolis, and in his will bequeathed to "Sarah Lindley, Iowa," $6,000. It has taken the court authorities all this time to locate the heiress, who is now a clerk in a store at Osage, Iowa.

The American Legion is to the soldiers in the late war what the Grand Army of the Republic is to the veterans of the war of the rebellion. Iowa now has 212 posts of the American Legion, but two other states having a larger number. The first death in Iowa among the membership was at Bloomfield, Davis county, and the victim was Elmer McVey, of Post No. 78, and his funeral was conducted by the members of the legion.

O. M. Goldsmith, an attorney in Chicago, recently visited his brother, Judge C. D. Goldsmith at Sac City. The Chicago lawyer is a veteran of the civil war and at the dedication of the battlefield of Gettysburg he was among the soldiers commissioned to guard President Lincoln on that memorable occasion. Edward Everett, the noted New York orator and statesman, was selected by the war department to deliver the dedicatory address and Mr. Goldsmith, along with others of his company, stood at attention during the two hours of its delivery. And when it was completed Abraham Lincoln was introduced and in an extemporaneous effort lasting only a few minutes gave it posterity and to the world that immortal speech known to every schoolboy as President Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Like a good many other counties when the war broke out there was a township in Keokuk county named German. Last fall a report reached that county that Saylor Shanafelt, a Keokuk county boy, had been killed on the battlefields of France, and so to honor his memory a petition was presented to the board of supervisors asking that the name of German township be changed to Saylor, the first name of the heroic soldier, and this change was made. Some months afterwards it was learned that Saylor Shanafelt was alive and well and he is now at his home in that county. A short time ago Mr. Shanafelt and others presented a petition to the county board asking that the name of the township be again changed and that it be named Plank township in honor of a young man by that name who lost his life on the battlefield in France. The name was accordingly changed to Plank.

INSTITUTE TO BE HELD OCT. 23-24

Inspirational Institutes to be Held in Denison at the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches This Week

ALL TEACHERS MUST ATTEND
Schools of the County to be Closed on Dates Mentioned and All Teachers Must Attend Sessions

County Superintendent of Schools F. N. Olry makes announcement of a splendid inspirational institute to be held in Denison on October 23d and 24th. The sessions will be held in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, just west of the Carnegie library, and in telling of the institute Mr. Olry makes the following announcements together with the program. By reading the program it will be noticed that there are a number of prominent educators on the program and each session will be worth attending:

The general meetings will be held in the assembly rooms of the Presbyterian church. Places for other sessions will be announced later. All schools in the county will be closed for the two days of institute and any teacher failing to attend the full time will forfeit her regular salary for the time missed. Practice what you teach—Be punctual—attend every session. We are fortunate in being able to get very capable instructors. They are men and women who are leaders in education and who will bring to us the newest in educational ideas and ideals. Each lecture is planned to give us definite help. Will you get your part? The fact that you are teachers means that you stand for high ideals and that you are leaders in your community. Your thoughts and actions influence the community in which you live and in which you work. Come with the intention of getting the most possible from the institute and you will go to your schools with new plans and higher ideals and better fitted to lead your pupils to meet and solve the bigger problems of school work. School officers and patrons and prospective teachers are invited to attend all sessions. Crawford county teachers have an excellent record for attendance and I know that this year will be no exception. Please bring pencils and this program. Notebooks will be furnished. Yours for better schools, F. N. Olry, County Supt.

Des Moines Capital: The power to reduce federal taxation lies with the people, who can accomplish anything at Washington by bringing to bear upon that body the pressure of unanimous opinion. While the chairman of the house ways and means committee and the appropriation committee argue that taxes must continue on the present basis, the popular will of the people can change their minds.

Iowa City Citizen: What has become of the old fashioned college man who had a hard time getting a respectable job after graduation, because his education was so purely theoretical and impractical?
