

KIRON ITEMS

A very pretty wedding took place at Neumanns Grove, Neb., on Tuesday, January 20, in which two prominent Kiron young people took the leading part. Raymond Larson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Larson, and Miss Elizabeth Lundell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Lundell, comprised the couple that entered into the holy bonds of wedlock. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. J. A. Christiansen, at Neumanns Grove. Rev. Christiansen, who has many years' residence in this beautiful town, is a long time old friend of the bride and groom. The Christiansens married and carried out a pleasant and happy wedding, which was a surprise to the couple. At present, they are residing at Neumanns Grove. The bride is the daughter of the former prominent pioneer couple of Wheeler township. Mr. and Mrs. Lundell is a very splendid young lady. Endowed with a bright and happy feeling and a writer joins in with their many friends in wishing them a pleasant, safe and successful voyage, and may storms of trouble and sadness never cross their path.

The marriage last week of Edner Larson and Pearl Beaumont, of which the Review had a writeup in last week's issue, took place at Denison. The couple went to Omaha to visit before returning home. This estimable couple are two bright young people, well and favorably known to all the Kiron people. Edner is a genuine Kiron boy and a first class man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Larson, and will continue to reside on and farm the old homestead south of town. The bride who has been a successful teacher in the Kiron high school up to the time of teaching the single scholar, which she from now on will call her husband, is a splendid, fine young lady, who will make her husband a fine wife and helpmate. We are much pleased over the fact that she has been won by one of our boys who will assist this locality in their permanent location in their midst. The bride and groom, congratulations, and wish them all of life's richest blessings, and may the divine blessings and favors attend them over their new life.

friends has passed away. The funeral will be held from the Baptist church, Tuesday afternoon. We will give the complete obituary in next week's letter. She had reached the age of 79 years, month and four days. W. R. Brunnett and wife and Eldred Larson were visitors at Carroll Friday and Saturday. He has rented the John Quack farm, five miles northeast of Kiron for the coming year. Chas. Baricher, of Denison, autoed to Kiron Saturday morning on professional business. P. B. Miller, our restaurant man, P. B. Miller, had an experiment Saturday night that he would not care to repeat. A leak of a gasoline tank, the liquid on the floor resembling water, and Peter noticing the same, not knowing of the leak in the tank, applied a match to ascertain if it was water or oil, and very quickly was assured of what it was by the explosion that followed. The fire was started in the kitchen when the act was being performed. The fire alarm soon drew the fire department upon the scene, who soon had the fire extinguished. Some damage was done to the partition wall, beside a flooding of the rear apartment of the restaurant. The damage was slight, which might have proven otherwise. Carl Dobbett says that Peter will hereafter use a different method, to test gasoline from water. Richard Rydeen, of Winthrop, Minn., is enjoying a visit with the Lundell families this week. Mr. Rydeen recently sold his land holdings in Minnesota and has decided to purchase land in Canada. Mr. R. L. Andrews was suddenly stricken with a stroke on Sunday morning, which left him in a serious condition, at present reports are that he is slightly better. The stroke affected his right side and impaired his speech and sight functions, which we hope is but temporary, and together with his many friends hope for a very speedy recovery. Mr. S. J. Peterson, of Pillager, Minn., is a visitor this week at the home of his brother, Rev. S. J. Peterson at the Baptist parsonage. A Church Merger Twenty Protestant denominations will send delegates to a convention at Philadelphia February 3d to 6th to consider a merger of christian interests. The proposal is to form a council of these denominations. It would open the way to a gradual merging of the interests of these bodies. Sectarian spirit has created costly duplication and harmful rivalry. It has lowered the efficiency of the church. It splits worshiping bodies into little congregations that are too small to command influence and can not afford to pay their ministers a living wage. The churches are not private clubs. They were created to spread the christian religion. They should sink the liturgical prejudices and tweedledum and tweedledee difference that keep them apart, contrary to the spirit of Christ. The people who are most enthusiastic about getting money out of the public treasury are usually the most indignant when the tax rates go up.

Two Spots. The city folks who wave the red flag are the same fellows who are listening to soap box orators while the country people are studying how they can perfect themselves in farming and the trades. The country town merchant need not think that his money spent for advertising serves merely to draw trade from some less enterprising townsman. Its principal effects is to save money from flowing to the cities and into competing towns. Among those who complain when the young people go off to the cities, are the folks who kick if a dollar is spent to brighten up the country school room, and make it look like a live place. Which is Healthier? Recent statistics show that in several rural agricultural states, the rate of insanity per hundred thousand

WESTERN ROX-SALT-BOX "LET THE CATTLE BE THE JUDGE"

Best Because Purest There are two ways of producing salt. Ordinary white salt is produced from wells, by evaporation. Water is pumped down into the salt vein, where it dissolves the salt, after which it is pumped up again and evaporated. Any minerals or other impurities in the water used, remain in the salt. All soluble impurities in the salt vein itself are brought up with the brine, and cannot be eliminated by evaporation. Western Rock Salt is mined. We obtain the salt in its original purity and strength, just as nature formed it. We are able to select the purest salt at all times, leaving any shale or other impurities in the mine. So you can see that the purest salt, though it may be whiter, cannot compare in purity and strength with Western Rock Salt. Western Rock Salt-Box is made of purest white rock salt, pressed into 50 lb. blocks under tremendous pressure. They are the same grade of pure salt as the white rock salt, but they are not so long. "Carrying On" at 20° below zero DURING the severe weather of early December, when most construction efforts lagged, the building of Consumers Service Stations proceeded without interruption. Heavy tarpaulins over wooden frames sheltered workmen against the icy gales of northern Iowa when the thermometer dropped to eighteen and twenty degrees below zero. Making Good, As Promised These measures are made necessary by the increasing demand for Consumers Service Stations and the service they represent. Scores of towns have been promised Consumers Service Stations by spring. They are looking forward eagerly to the opening date. Our construction department has a way of making good on such undertakings when onlookers say it is impossible. Supplying Go-Gas and Texaco Oils will be the function of the Consumers Service Station here, when it is finished. GO-GAS, the full-value gasoline, is acclaimed, by motorists who have tried it, the best gasoline they ever used. Texaco Oils and Greases are backed by the reputation of the Texas Company, one of the three largest oil companies in the United States. Consumers Service Stations, Inc.
