The Crawford Rubber company has recently installed a novel machine that is indeed a time saver in removing casings and putting them back on rims. Rims of any size can be put on the machine and a few turns of a crank is all that is necessary to draw the rim together so that the casing can be easily removed in a few moments time. It is equally as handy in getting the casings back on the rim. As all motorists know, rims are most obstinate at times and much time is required in making a tire change.
