COX NOMINATED ON 44TH BALLOT

Democrats at San Francisco Convention Finally Name Ohio Governor, James M. Cox, As Candidate

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT 2D PLACE

Presidential Nominee Has Honor of Having Been Elected Governor of Ohio Three Times

San Francisco, Cal.—The democratic national convention, which convened June 28, nominated James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, the party's standard bearer at 1:40 o'clock Tuesday morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four-hour struggle, in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and President Wilson's son-in-law.

The march of the Ohio governor, supported by the anti-administration forces, to victory over William G. McAdoo, backed by the administration men, began with the withdrawal of Attorney General Palmer from the contest at 9:30 o'clock Monday night after a day of deadlock balloting.

From the moment of the elimination of Palmer on the 30th ballot Governor Cox steadily lengthened his lead over McAdoo, with McAdoo delegates flocking to his standard by the dozen, until on the 43d roll call at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Then with the calling of the roll for the 44th and last time the band wagon started amid a mad rush of McAdoo delegations to clamber aboard before it was too late. One after another the delegates deserted for the Ohio governor.

"I move that the rules be suspended and that the nomination of Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio be made by acclamation," shouted Amidon, above the din with a majestic wave of his arm.

A pandemonium of approval burst from the floor and it took the chairman three minutes to calm the din sufficiently to put the motion. It was carried with a wild whoop and the chairman pronounced Governor Cox unanimously nominated.

At the moment Amidon made his motion the tellers had recorded a total of 268 votes for McAdoo on that last roll call and 701½ for Cox. (Michigan with 30 votes had passed while its delegation was being canvassed and was going to vote later but never got the chance except by acclamation.)

The 211 delegates with which Palmer quit the race were divided between Cox and McAdoo, but it was still a race with neither of the two rivals within reach, for the time being at least, of the requisite two-thirds majority, 738 votes.

A presidential candidate had been nominated after forty-four hard-fought ballots, which had threatened to eclipse the celebrated forty-six that it took to nominate Woodrow Wilson in Baltimore eight years ago.

The naming of a vice-president was delayed until later in the day.

But Ohio was evidently not prepared to assimilate all the new laws for Cox was defeated for re-election. But his party renominated him in 1916 and he was re-elected for a third term in 1918, being the only democrat to win in Ohio.

Legislation for which Governor Cox is best known includes a model workmen's compensation law and a child labor law which have been extensively copied by other states. Educators of the country say the Ohio school code, enacted under Governor Cox's direction, will live as a monument to his achievements.

Mr. Cox was born in Butler county, Ohio, in 1870. He attended district school and held his first position as a teacher of the school in which he took his first lessons. He spent evenings and holidays in a printing office. In a few years he received his first assignment on the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

After ten years with the Enquirer, he went to Washington as a private secretary to Congressman Paul Sore of Ohio. At the close of this service, he purchased the Dayton Daily News, borrowing most of the money to pay for it. Later he purchased the Springfield Daily News. He was first elected to congress in 1908.

He recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born, and is making it into a modern farm home where he expects to live on retirement from public office. He married and has four children.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paup visited friends at Mapleton Sunday.

Arrasmith, pastor of the Methodist church. The young people were attended by Jesse Shives, brother of the bride, and a resident of Lake View, and Mrs. Arrasmith.

Following the ceremony the young people departed for Lake View, where they are enjoying a honeymoon at the home of the bride's brother, Jesse Shives. They will make their home in Lake View, where they will be at home to their many friends after July 15th.

PEOPLE FAVOR SUNDAY BALL

By Vote of More Than Four to One People of Denison Express Themselves in Favor of Sunday Ball

461 VOTES FOR AND 119 AGAINST

Lively Election—Review Criticized for Running Paid Advertisement for Those Opposed to Sunday Ball

By a vote of more than four to one the electors of Denison on last Friday, expressed themselves in favor of Sunday baseball. Four hundred and sixty-four votes were cast in favor of the school board permitting the use of the college athletic park for Sunday baseball while 119 votes were cast against the proposition. There were but five spoiled ballots.

It was a lively election and considerable interest was manifest. The polls at the city hall were open from 1 to 6 p. m., and there was a steady stream of voters from the opening hour until the polls closed. On the street, there was considerable electioneering, especially on the part of those favoring Sunday ball and several automobiles were used for carrying voters to and from the city hall. Handbills were in evidence everywhere urging voters to favor the proposition.

The special election was called by the board of education for the purpose of getting the sentiment of the electors of Denison in regard to this question which has been paramount for several years. While the board has not escaped censure for calling the election there can be no doubt now but what the majority is in favor of Sunday ball and it is hoped that the matter will be dropped now.

The Review has been criticized by a number of people for running a half page advertisement in its last issue signed by a number of our most prominent business men giving reasons why they thought the proposition should be defeated. The management takes this means of informing its readers that the columns of the Review are at all times open for legitimate advertising.

The Review is first of all a newspaper for all classes, and means at all times to have its news columns at all times truthful, unbiased and without fear or favor. As an advertising medium, however, the Review is and always has been open to all unobjectionable advertising. We have no more right to close our columns to a legitimate advertiser than the postmaster would have the right to refuse letters for mailing. This newspaper is here to serve the best interests of the community in general and in fulfilling its place in the community should accept also advertising of the people where it is of a legitimate nature. Had the backers of Sunday ball seen fit to advertise, the columns of the paper would have been open to them in the same manner. The Review's editorial policy and utterances are governed in no degree by its advertising columns, and it reserves the right at all times to differ from and criticize any statement or argument made by contributors and advertising patrons. These are our policies and by them we firmly stand.

TIRE COMPANY CHANGES HANDS

Julius Carstensen Sells Out to E. H. Goebel and Lawrence Sevros, Who Are Now in Possession

A deal was consummated last week whereby Julius Carstensen sold the Denison Fire company to E. H. Goebel and Lawrence Sevros, who immediately took possession of the same. The new proprietors were both in the employ of the Crawford Rubber company. The Denison Fire company was launched here a number of years ago by Clarence Chamberlin, who built up quite a business, but sold it to H. A. Carpenter when the war broke out. The business has continued in the same quarters in the Carey building located just east of the Bulletin office.

The new proprietors need no introduction to the people of this community. Lawrence Sevros is an experienced tire repair man who has spent a number of years at the business. Mr. Goebel has lived in Denison for several years, being first employed by Fisher & Gray in the plumbing business. He branched out into the radiator, repair work and is an expert in this line.

The new proprietors are specializing on the Diamond line of casings and tubes and carry a complete stock of all sizes on hand. They will maintain a repair department and are equipped to do every class of work. Mr. Sevros will personally superintend this department. Rebuilding, retreading and vulcanizing of all kinds will be done. They have good equipment for turning out this work but they plan to install additional machinery in the near future.

Both of the new proprietors are hustlers and the public will find them honest and straightforward business men.
