CHAUTAQUA WELL ENJOYED

Midland Chautauqua People Pleased
Dunlap Audiences During Past Week—Engaged Next Series

EX-GOV. BRUMBAUGH SPEAKS

The Royal C. Johnson Lecture on Monday Evening One of the Best of the Series.

DUNLAP, August 17.—Special—

Monday's chautauqua was up to the standard with the Lyceum series. The giving of the prelude in the afternoon. They were laboring under the embarrassment of not having received their baggage and had to appear in street clothes in the afternoon program. However their baggage came in town for the evening's entertainment. They made the drive from their last date at Ida Grove across country.

In the evening the lecture given by Royal C. Johnson was one of the best of the whole chautauqua, he being a most forceful speaker and spoke in such a manner that there was not a person in the entire tent that could not hear every word that he said and everyone wanted to, as they were most intensely interested in his message. He has been tersely called a man with a live talk on live subject. His lecture is one of the kind that gives one something to go home and think about and ask themselves questions. He discussed many things that only time can tell whether they may come true or not. In the afternoon Miss Hazel Dophdiele gave her reading, "The Money Maker," and held her audience spellbound through the entire time. She is possessed of a splendid personality and wonderful imagination. In her simplicity and unassuming manner she won the hearts of all.

Madame N. N. Solivanova, the Russian lady, spoke a short time in the evening and tried to make a tale that would answer the questions that had been asked about the Bolshevik conditions in Russia. In the afternoon she made a very interesting talk and asked that the people who came to help the Russian people, she wished we might do so freely for their need of education was great. She is a native Russian and is thoroughly familiar with the conditions in Russia. Her lecture was "Russian Women and Their Problem in Facing Bolshevism." She was active during the war in work in hospitals and soup kitchens and was here in Des Moines in one of the camps. She is spending the remainder of her life in an effort to help her sisters that need help so badly.

The Wakes' Players the Fourth day gave a very good program and some of the people were pleasantly remembered as having been here before on the chautauqua platform. They gave the prelude in the afternoon in a one act comedy and at the evening the play, "Too Much Business," which was beautifully rendered. The rest of the afternoon was taken up by Mr. Glick, university man who talked on "Intolerance," and gave some very good thoughts, and somewhat antagonized the people with socialist tendencies by his criticism of the Socialist. He was a foreign born man and spoke most highly of the advantages he had been able to gain in this country.

Bar's Orchestra on the fifth day was the best by far any of the musical groups that appeared on the whole course. They were a bunch of young college boys and were pleasant and agreeable and gave the public a good program with lots of variety. Their repertoire numbers showed a wide variety so there was no need of anyone not being pleased.

Doctor Sudhindra Bose, of Calcutta, India, gave a lecture that was enjoyed by all and he spoke quite at length of the conditions in India today.

The Edward Clarke company that appeared on the sixth day with a prelude in the afternoon and an entire program at night were a very good number. At night though the people were rewarded by hearing Ex-Gov. Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania that was the headliner of the whole chautauqua course. At the start he announced that he was not running for office, he had no axe to grind and could tell the plain unvarnished truth about a lot of government affairs. He told of the necessity of raising the National debt, that approximately we were a nation with an asset of $8,000,000, had borrowed $30,000,000 and loaned $1,000,000. He said that something should be done to put liberty bonds on par again, and that the H. C. of L. would never be reduced while people persisted in their useless extravagance. Lots of people boasted of what they had done in the war, and that they especially needed it. He also spoke of the folly of so many unharvested crops while the people in great numbers were unable to speak our language and had to be taught that at the beginning of the war.

The seventh and last day, people enjoyed the talk by Princess Neawanna, one of the Ojibwa Indian princesses, who made herself heard and understood to a remarkable degree and held the interest of all. The Temple Choir that appeared as a prelude in the afternoon and an entire program at night were of very medium talent. The pageant given at 7:30 in the evening of the last day was a very artistic and pretty affair but did not present as many children as had some times gone. It appears that many of the children had dropped out at the very last which somewhat weakened some parts.

The Commercial club signed up with the Midland Chautauqua people for another chautauqua the coming summer, a fact the boosters are glad to hear.

FEELIN' FIT AS A FIDDLE

Fellow Townsman, E. W. Pierce, Returns from Vacation Spent at Dakota Farm in Best of Health.

E. W. Pierce returned the last of the week from a vacation spent on his farm up in South Dakota and is feeling like a new man, high in spirits and full in body. After his return to town with Mrs. Pierce, he spent a few days down on the Frank McHenry farm near Dow City, where he met many of his old-time friends and neighbors, and they were all pleased with his complete recovery. Mr. Pierce, as everyone knows, is the Republican nominee for county treasurer, and he is meeting with much encouragement in the campaign advances. From this time on, he intends to get out and visit among the voters, and renew acquaintances. Mr. Pierce has lived so long in Crawford county, and his work for so many years has been such as to bring him in contact with the people, that he knows most of the citizens by name, and being possessed of a good memory, he can call him by his given name "right off the bat."

NEWS FROM OLD SOLDIER

W. A. Porter, Now Living at Marshalltown, Sends Greeting to Denison Friends Through Review

The Review is in receipt of a letter from W. A. Porter, the old Civil War veteran now at Marshalltown. Mr. Porter's old comrades at Denison will be pained to learn that at this particular season of the year Mr. Porter is suffering from a cold, but he is always in good spirits. His letter is as follows:

Marshalltown, Iowa, Aug. 10, 1920
Dear Sir: Enclosed please find one dollar for the Review another six months. I am in the hospital permanently on account of asthma, but have had company—this time of year I am fighting hay fever. It's very warm here at this writing. I would have been glad to have visited my old home town this summer, but was not able to do so. I will celebrate my 78th birthday on August 18th.

Please give my regards to all my old friends in Denison. Respectfully,
W. A. Porter
Station A. I. S. H. Hospital,
Marshalltown, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Schuler and two children, of Chickasha, Okla., arrived in Denison last Wednesday and have been visiting at the home of Mr. Schuler's sister, Mrs. Schuler, during the week. After a visit with relatives and old time friends at Deloit they will go into Minnesota and Dakota for a visit. While in Denison, Mr. Schuler purchased a Buick Six of Merl Myers, and will drive the car to his Oklahoma home. He is engaged in the wholesaling of general merchandise at Chickasha, and is doing well. Mr. Schuler will be remembered as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dawson, formerly of Deloit, but now of McAllister, Okla.

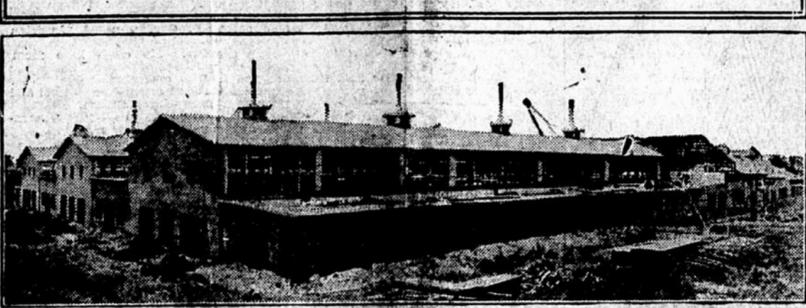

The county officers, including Auditor Portz, Clerk Monaghan, Treasurer Evers, Recorder Cramer and the members of the Board of Supervisors are at Des Moines this morning attending a meeting of the county officials.

The state is making money from the various industries featured at the penitentiary at Fort Madison. The board of control announces a profit of $52,883.59 from January 1st to July 1, 1920. The total receipts at the state prison for the six month period is listed at $432,829.92. The state penitentiary industry returned a net profit of $103,545.22 or a major portion of the net receipts. Total expenses for the period were $109,545.34, thus leaving a net profit of $52,883.59 for the state. The prison returned approximately $100,000 last year to the state, and will do this well if not better for 1920, according to Mr. Schenck. The report according to the board of control shows that assets at Fort Madison are $419,176.65 greater than liabilities.

Judge H. K. Evans, in the district court at Corning, Adams county, rules that school teachers cannot draw salaries when school is suspended because of an epidemic. Miss Mattie Martin and Miss Lucy Campbell, teachers of rural schools in that county, brought suit to collect money due them but withheld by the directors for the reason that no school was held during the month for which the salary claim was made on account of the prevalence of the flu in the district represented. In making an adverse decision Judge Evans contended that the school officials closed the schools not by their voluntary action but by compliance with a compliance with a state law and that the officials would have left themselves liable to indictment had they failed to close the schools as ordered. The case was held and there were no responsible for the consequences. The case involved some fine legal points and the opinion is the same as given in similar cases over the state. Attorney General Havner who ruled just the opposite.

The staid old town of Creston has been passing through a peculiar experience in the past few days. A dog and a dead one at that. It seems that Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McNeese had a dog of royal lineage and exalted pedigree. It roared in the way of a passing automobile and was killed. Elaborate funeral arrangements were made by the bereaved and stricken owners. A specially prepared cement vault was prepared in Grace-land cemetery and the grave was

MONSTER CATTLE BARN HOUSES FAIR STOCK

The above photograph shows the Iowa State Fair's new $200,000 cattle barn as it was nearing completion last week. The barn will be finished and thrown open for the first time at this year's fair. It will house 1,000 head of cattle under one roof. In addition it will include booths for the farm journals, stock food exhibits and the cow test association show.

A sale pavilion, herdsmen's quarters and offices for exhibitors are also to be included in the finished barn. Architects have declared it to be one of the finest structures of its kind in the entire country.

FAIR DATES ARE SEPT. 7, 8, 9, 10

Crawford County Fair Association Issues 1920 Premium List—Shows Excellent Racing Program

LIST OF SUPERINTENDENTS

Farm Bureau to Have Big Booth in Charge of County Agent—Make Plans to Take An Exhibit

The Review acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the 1920 premium list of the Crawford County Agricultural Society. The dates for holding the fair this year are September 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, and of course the fair is at Arion. The officers of the association are: President, C. P. Harvey, Denison; vice president, Sam Fox, Sr., Arion; secretary, O. M. Criswell, Arion; treasurer, W. C. Pollock, Denison. The executive committee is made of the following: Wm. Eggers, C. P. Harvey, John Eggers, L. C. Butler, O. M. Criswell, W. C. Pollock, Marshall, Mott McHenry, chief of police, John Eggers; grounds and privileges, the entire executive committee.

We note the prices of admission are the same as last year, and for a single ticket fifty cents will be charged. The program proper will start on the second day of the fair, as the first day is to be taken up with entries and general preparation. For the second day the racing program is as follows: Half mile running race, prize $100; 2:25 trotting race, prize $200; farmers' running race, prize $50. For the third day the program there will be a five-eighths mile running race, prize $100; 2:29 trotting or pacing race, prize $200; three-eighths mile pony race, prize $50. On the fourth day take the free-for-all trotting race, with a prize of $200; relay race, prize $75; a half mile running race, prize $100; a half mile running race for horses not taking better than third money, prize $50, and a team and wagon race, prize $50.

The different superintendents are given as follows: Superintendent of cattle, George Argotsinger; horses and mules, John Eggers; special class, L. C. Butler; hogs, W. C. Pollock; poultry, George Slater; poultry, D. F. Bryan; grains, seeds and vegetables, Frank Bixler; fruits, W. E. Fishel; agricultural implements, Max Holst; plants and flowers, Mrs. D. J. Butler; culinary, Ellen Eggers; needlework, Mrs. O. M. Criswell; educational exhibit, Mrs. L. C. Butler.

The fair bureau will have a booth at the fair and all are invited to visit the work of the organization. The booth will be in charge of the county agent, and he will be glad to answer any and all questions. And he will tell you why you should become a member of the bureau if you are not already a member. The fair for this year promises to be a good one, and all are invited to invite the co-operation of Crawford county citizens to help make it the best one ever held in the county.

INDIANS AT COUNTY FAIR

Messrs. C. P. Harvey, W. C. Pollock, and Wm. Eggers Secure Attraction from Omaha.

During the past week three of the former fair fair journeymen to the Omaha Indian reservation and secured a great attraction for the coming Arion fair. The officers going were Messrs. C. P. Harvey, Wm. Eggers and W. C. Pollock, and they were able to contract for what they think will be a great attraction at the fair. There will be fifty Indians in the band, and they will have their pees pitched right on the fair grounds; give war dances and go through all the modern customs. There will be 4000 of the "Indian" costumes, the regulation blanket, ponies and a regular old time Indian band. The fair officers are exerting every effort in securing high-class attractions, and yet get something out of the ordinary. The racing program also promises to be a very good one, and the exhibits will be superior to any yet displayed.

H. W. Moeller has taken the oath of office as mayor at Deloit, having recently received the appointment to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of the late Mayor. Mr. Moeller has had considerable experience in municipal affairs, having been a member of the Denison city council for two terms.

Miss Zella Gilmor spent the week end visiting friends at Carroll.

SMITH-HUGHES AGRICULTURE

Vocational Agriculture As It is Popularly Known to be Carried on in Denison High Schools

TO RECEIVE STATE-FEDERAL AID

Denison High School—Proves Valuable to Boys Who Intend to Farm

Smith-Hughes agriculture or vocational agriculture as it is popularly known in Iowa, is being carried on in the high schools of the state. The work is being organized under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes act, passed in 1917, which provided for the establishment of vocational agriculture departments in high schools. The department is maintained under state and federal supervision and the salary of the instructor is paid in part from federal funds. It is not the purpose of the training to replace college agriculture or to attempt to train agricultural experts. The work must be of less than college grade and is arranged in such form as to give the boys practical, useful training which will be of value to them along with their farm experience. Every boy enrolled in the work is required to spend some of the time he has been carrying during the year in the "applied work" he keeps records and accounts of one or more farm enterprises and prepares reports showing what part he has had in the various operations of the summer. This summer work is carried out under the direction of the supervisor with the cooperation of the farm manager.

Denison high school has a vocational agriculture department which was organized in 1918. The work has been on half time basis in the past but will be changed this year to the full time basis. The department was organized in 1918. The first year of work will be a general course in farm crops, including discussions of plants, insects, soils, machinery and farm management. The second year will be devoted to farm crops and with it two periods of practical farm shop, including care and sharpening of tools, practical farm carpentry, harness repairing and rope work. For the second semester farm crops will be continued and a related subject as botany or zoology will be substituted for the shop work. Thus the boy will make two credits each year in agriculture, two in related work in some of the sciences and he will be enabled to elect such general high school subjects as will complete his year's schedule.

The second year of agriculture will include work in the judging, feeding, care and management of livestock. With this will be given some related study in farm sanitation and veterinary practice. Field trips will be made as in the farm crops year and all work will be carried out under as practical conditions as are possible. The keeping of records will be emphasized and each boy will work out a simple system of cost accounting for his home farm. The maximum number of students which can be accommodated in this work at the present time is thirty. The work is open to any boy over fourteen years of age and he can take the course along with his high school course, or without entering high school. This year there will be an attempt to arrange special classes for those who find it impossible to begin the work with the class in September. He may also leave school early in the spring, and be credited for the year. If his record has been satisfactory up to that time, by carrying out assignments as outlined by his instructor.

While the work in vocational agriculture is new in Iowa schools, it has been enthusiastically received where carried out as outlined by the state board and there are not enough instructors available this fall to supply the demand. Many schools have had to refuse admission to a number of those wishing to enter the work because of lack of room. This work provides training in farm accounting as well as in farm crops and animal husbandry, all of which are proving valuable to the boys who intend to farm after they have finished their high school course.

The picnic given at Ricketts on last Sunday under the auspices of the Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 321, held Great Picnic at Ricketts last Sunday. The picnic given at Ricketts on last Sunday under the auspices of the Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 321, was largely attended and was there a great deal of fun. There were more than 800 automobiles parked in all places of the little town. The exercises took place in the little park, and there was something done every minute of the day. A large merry-go-round furnished much joy for the little folks, as well as to many of the older ones; there were many raffles, shooting galleries, refreshment stands and all kinds of games and contests and these were all participated in with a zest and keen enjoyment. Hot lunches were served during the day, and the refreshment stands were excellent. In races there were fat men's races, yardstick races, sack races, married women's nail driving contests, foot races for the boys and girls, croquet, croquet, bowling alley contests and many other interesting things. Prizes were donated by Henry Dorale, Ernest Schultz, Leo Hoppe, Paul Rix, Hugo Rix, Hugo Rix, Elmer Fink, Erwin Fink, Wm. Blow, Herman Bielow, H. L. Mueller, Wm. Mr. and Mrs. James Lunney, of the Juntura valley, Calif., have been visiting relatives in Denison during the past week. Mr. James and William Lunney expect to go to Dakota this week where they will look after a land grant. The Lunneys have been living on a ranch in the San Jacinto valley and are operating a large dairy keeping forty cows, and receiving as high as 80 cents for butter fat. They have a number of pigs, and keeps both the Duroc and Poland China breeds.

Miss Letha Taylor, of Washington, Iowa, is taking a special course in training school in Chicago in preparation for work in social service. When she returned to her home for a vacation she brought with her a number of children from the Ozark days, and she is a very instructive person supported by a number of wealthy Bohemians, the institution being located in the Bohemian settlement in Chicago. Miss Taylor has been doing field work among the people. The youngsters were delighted to get out of the segregated section of the big city. Some of them had never before seen a cow or a pig, and they learned how milk is procured. They also were wonderfully interested to know that cherries and apples grew on trees. The people of Washington have taken a deep interest in Miss Taylor's work and have shown the children many favors.

News and Comment About Iowa People and Events

BY J. W. JARNAGIN

Hanna passed away 75 years ago. The only surviving child of this pioneer settler was Mrs. Emily George, who resides near the old home place; Mrs. Edith Hanna Knapp, residing on an adjacent farm; Mrs. Marie Hanna Tiller, residing north of Cedar Falls, and Hon. Phil C. Hanna, who for thirty years has been in the diplomatic service of his country, much of the time being consul general at Monterey, Mexico. The late George W. Hanna, of Laverne, Kossuth county, who left an estate valued around a million dollars, was a brother.

A real church row has been stirred up in the town of Hospers, Sioux county, over the refusal of the members of the Presbyterian church at Alton, and moderator for that district, to hear Rev. Short, an accredited minister at Sioux City and serving a second term as mayor of that municipality. Rev. G. M. W. Fulcomer, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Alton, and moderator for that district, upon hearing that Mayor Short was to speak in the church at Hospers is said to have immediately registered strong objections. It is stated by Hospers friends of the mayor that the Sioux City Ministerial association stirred up the trouble. The invitation which the mayor accepted was prominent merchant of Hospers, and a member in good standing of the Presbyterian church at that place. Opposition to Mayor Short is based on his friendly attitude toward the L. W. W. organization in Sioux City.

Secretary of State W. C. Ramsey is making a vigorous effort to enforce the state law relating to automobiles. He has sent out a letter to all county attorneys urging them to assist in enforcing the law providing for the collection of the special automobile tax. He goes further and calls attention to the law which provides for the elimination of the glaring headlights. In his letter he says: "Too often motorists are forced to a ditch or off the road because an opposing or oncoming auto is equipped with glaring headlights. The state law demands that the glare be minimized by use of high light or lens as will render the highways safe to traffic. The severity of the state law is required by law to ask enforcement of the motor law in detail and as state highways are built with auto tax funds we wish the law to be enforced. The glaring headlight is a menace and in the interest of public safety as well as law enforcement, I ask your best efforts in helping to abolish this highway danger."

The remnant of the Hanna family recently held a reunion near the old homestead in Black Hawk county on the July 18, 1845. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hanna came from southern Illinois to Black Hawk county and took up the first permanent settlement in that county near where the city of Waterloo now stands. The first Methodist church in that county was established in this log house. The first death in that county was when little Monroe supported schools for the deaf and blind, the former at Council Bluffs, the latter at Vinton, there are a number of afflicted children in the state who do not take advantage of the opportunities thus afforded for an education. The state board of education has placed Mrs. E. C. Evans in the field and she is devoting all of her time in locating the deaf and blind children who do not attend one of the state institutions. The state authorities aver that some parents are wholly indifferent to the matter of an education for their afflicted. Mrs. Evans is meeting with much encouragement in her work. She says that a great many people right here in Iowa, especially foreigners, do not know of the wonderful opportunities the state is offering to such children.

Progress in vocational education as contemplated by the Smith-Hughes bill has been satisfactory to those in charge of the work the past year. In its annual report the state board of vocational training reported that during the past season twenty short term classes in vocational agriculture were conducted with the prospects that there will be an increase of fifty to seventy-five per cent next year. In vocational trades and industries there were twenty-one classes, sixteen continuation classes, six in trade extension and eight in unit trade in vocational home economics there were eighteen classes with a total enrollment of 630. Eleven all the year round departments in public schools were conducted.

Lenne H. Brandt, Corporal of Co. I, Sixteenth Infantry, during the world war, who is now operating a farm between Boone and Story City, was awarded a distinguished service cross recently in Des Moines. The presentation was made by Capt. S. M. Sherrill, head of the local recruiting station, and Lieut. K. W. Thom, publicity man. The citation which accompanied the decoration from the war department stated that the cross was awarded to Corporal Brandt "for extraordinary heroism in action near Fleville, France, Oct. 4, 1918." It went on to say, "Corporal Brandt, with one companion, advanced ahead of his organization, exposed to heavy fire, and silenced an enemy machine gun nest which had killed his company." Brandt was recommended for the decoration by Colonel Harrell of the Sixteenth Infantry.

Notwithstanding the fact that Iowa

That Iowa people are thrifty is shown by report of the comptroller of the currency for the year ending July 31st. On that date 260 out of every 1,000 persons in the state had accounts in national banks within the state. This is 67 more than the average of the nation. The report further shows that there were 329,000 "on demand" deposits in Iowa national banks on that date and 24,000 "time" or savings accounts. Iowa boasted of 353 national banks on July 31st, ranking fifth in the United States. New York, Illinois, Texas and Ohio lead in the number of national banks in the order named. Add to the above report the amount of money deposited in state and private banks and some idea can be obtained of the prosperous condition of the people.

Investigation of conditions at the soldiers' home at Marshalltown, in which Commandant Whitehall and the state board of control were parties, brought out a rather peculiar condition of affairs, the blame finally being placed upon members of the general assembly to exterminate them. Lack of trained nurses was alleged and admitted, also, but excused by the home authorities on the plea that they could not employ trained nurses for $50 per month, the amount paid by the state. The board of control says it is powerless to remedy the condition without a greater appropriation for the home. The government pays $100 per capita toward the support of members of the
