Mr. and Mrs. John Bolieu came last night from their home in California to look after their holdings in Crawford county. Mr. Bolieu says there was not as much in the earthquakes at Los Angeles as the papers made out. The heaviest quake he describes as feeling like a heavily loaded truck passing you. He says the principal thing California wants now is room in which to store her visitors. There was never such a crowd as there is in this year—Charter Oak Times.

H. W. Stratemeyer of this city, had the contract for erecting the soldiers' monument at West Side. The design is handsome and most complete. A few days ago the monument came from the quarry at Ferris, Vermont, all shined and handsomely chiseled and finished. As turned out by the Vermont firm, the monument is a credit to the art. The statue mounting the massive base is that of a soldier in full uniform, details given to the gun, ammunition box, and everything that marks a soldier at attention. In the shipment, the statue was badly damaged. The legs are broken off at the ankles, and the gun is broken in two. The damage is sufficient to cause rejection of the fine piece of the artist's art and impose a loss of about $100 on somebody, presumably the railroad company where amateurish workmen bumped loaded cars against one another.—Carroll Herald.

Since the heavy rain of last week, many farmers are speculating as to whether the heavy rain caused the corn to lay down, or whether the flood-damaged corn root rot has attacked the crop. The condition of the corn varies in different localities, much of it being down very badly, and the next field standing. Investigation is to be made, we understand, as to whether the roots are diseased or not.

His old time friends were glad to see him at this time.

LOW SCORE BUT RAGGED GAME

Denison Defeats Council Bluffs Nonpareils in Game of Ball on Local Grounds on Sunday Last.

COLLINS PITCHES FOR DENISON

Score One to Nothing in Favor of Nonpareils Until Eighth Inning When Denison Ties It.

The game Sunday last between Denison and the Council Bluffs Nonpareils was witnessed by a good sized crowd of fans and the game was much enjoyed. While the score would indicate a splendid game, it was nevertheless more or less ragged because of a number of poor plays made by both teams. The visiting team made one run in the second inning and Denison failed to score until the eighth, when, with the bases full and two men down, a passed ball allowed Denison to tie the score. In the ninth inning Denison won the game on two hits and a stolen base. Collins, who pitched for Denison, displayed a good head, and held up well until the eighth inning, when it appeared he was weakening, but he rallied and wound up the game in good shape.

The Council Bluffs boys were all gentlemen, and they expressed themselves as being well pleased with the treatment accorded them. Dr. Lewis, who at one time years ago, was a member of the Vail baseball team, played third base for the Nonpareils. He met many of his old-time friends, who were pleased to meet with him again.

We wish to call attention of the breeders of the county that the next issue of this paper will contain the advertising for the different breeders of the county, arranged for at a meeting of the breeders' association held recently. While a good deal of the copy for the ads has been received there are still a number who have not sent in their copy. To make the edition a creditable one for the breeders it is necessary that as many ads as possible appear, and we urge those who have not already done so, to send in their copy at once.

The Cone of Our Pine. So hard is the cone of a pine in our western forests that the imprudent seeds cannot be propagated in the ordinary way. The best way is to burn the cone over a hot fire until it bursts, when the seeds escape. When forest fires sweep the country these pine cones have their chance, and from them new trees grow.

Don't Read When Drowsy. To read or study when tired or drowsy is to strain the eyes to a dangerous degree, writes W. M. Curhart in Public Health. Avoid evening study whenever possible. If you are using your eyes by artificial light, be sure the light does not shine directly into the eyes, and try to have it come from behind and to the left side so as to avoid the harmful glare.

Base Drum and Viol in One. An orchestral percussive instrument that combines the booming resonance of the drum with the range of the double bass viol, according to Popular Mechanics, is the latest in Russian musical novelties. In form it is a combination of both instruments, the four foot finger board being fixed to a skin covered drum.

Keeping Fit. Man in this world is like a traveler who is always walking toward a colder region, and who is, therefore, obliged to be more active as he goes farther north. The great malady of the soul is cold, and in order to counteract this formidable illness he must keep up the activity of his mind not only by work but by contact with his fellow men and with the world.—De Togueville.

Difference in Time. In reply to our observation that he and his son and namesake resembled each other greatly, old Bill Silvers said: "The main difference 'twixt me and young Bill is, when I put in a day at work I don't feel much like running round at night; and when young Bill puts in a night runnin' round he don't feel much like workin' next day."—Pomek's Cantid.

STATE ATTORNEY MAKES RULING

Attorney General Rules That Voting Machines Must be Equipped and Restore the Circle.

MACHINES HERE NOT EQUIPPED

Auditor Portz Confers With State Officials and is Told the Use Will Not Invalidate the Ballot.

There has been more or less talk about the use of the new voting machines recently purchased by the county, at the coming fall election. The question has been raised whether or not the machines have been equipped with a lever which will permit the voter to simply make a cross in the circle in voting the straight ticket. The understanding that while a ruling would be made by the attorney general that machines must be equipped for the circle voting, yet those machines already purchased and not so equipped might be used without invalidating the ballot.

The state newspapers of Sunday last contained the following ruling made by the attorney general: The attorney general's office has ruled that election machines now in use must be equipped with a lever which acts in such manner as to restore the party circle to the ballot. The circle has been restored, whereby a single cross-mark may be taken as a straight party ticket vote. The machines now in use in twenty-two counties have no lever which would, if pulled, register a straight ticket vote. It will cost approximately $50 per machine to equip them with such a lever. The attorney general in a ruling sent out several days ago said that it was the duty of the county election officials to attend to having such a lever placed on their voting machines. There will be no separate ballots, or machines for women voters, the attorney general holds. The women have equal suffrage rights, and no special ballot or machinery for recording their vote is necessary, he says. The firm selling the voting machines in Crawford has agreed to send a competent instructor to Crawford at a meeting of all the election judges will be called about the first of October, and they will be given a thorough course of instruction as to how to open and use the machines. The instructor will be in the county for a month if needed.
