BROGDENS NOW IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brogdens Write From Corning, Calif., Where They Are Now Visiting

WILL VISIT SAN FRANCISCO

Rice One of the Great Crops in Tehama County, and One May Ride for Miles and See Rice Everywhere

Corning, Calif., Oct. 10, 1920. Editor of Denison Review, Denison, Iowa. Dear Editor: Just a few lines in regard to our trip. As we left Washington, Wash., our train carried us over the snow capped Cascade mountains. The mountains traverse the state from north to south, east of the rugged and rough mountain lands. Here one sees many lumber camps and log trains in operation. In the valleys vegetation of all kinds grows abundantly, also fruits and flowers. One on Puget sound. The Columbia river affords unexcelled harbor facilities. From the top of Council Crest (Fort) one can look out over the beautiful Willamette valley. Here again nature gives forth abundantly from the soil. Wheat is the staple crop in Oregon, oats being largely raised. Hops are also a very important product. Oregon is the cattle raising center of the Pacific coast, but along the Columbia river one sees the great salmon industry in operation. We reached Corning, Tehama county, California, September 20th, and are having a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lyon. Mrs. Lyon is a sister of Mrs. Brogdens.

Corning is a town of about 2500 population. Here the H. J. Holz company have a fine building where they process the olives. The largest olive packing company is also located at Corning, where the famous Maywood brand of olives is processed. Here the women of the town are very busy. Fruit drying is an important industry. Tehama county is the largest wool producing section in California; hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of wool are shipped from Corning and Red Bluff yearly.

One of the many things California is proud of is its beautiful paved highways. We are on the Red Bluff south as far as San Diego. About thirty miles south of Corning we found rice growing extensively. It is the largest industry in Glenn county. Miles and miles along the highway one sees nothing but rice.

Rain is almost unknown here during the summer months. The flowers bloom all winter. Average rainfall here is 26 inches. We visited one drying yard where Sam has had 50,000 worth of prunes on large wooden trays, and there are several drying yards here. There was one car of prunes shipped from Corning recently which brought $11,000. Peaches, pears, apricots, grapes and almonds are also extensively grown here. These were all taken care of before we arrived in Corning. The grapes are being dried extensively and are of a fine flavor.

We leave soon for San Francisco, and from there will begin our northern trip home. Have seen some wonderful country and beautiful scenery. We are going from Corning to San Francisco by auto and are told we will see much beautiful scenery and pass one of the largest dairy farms in California. Also pass over what is called the Berkeley hills, which we are told is a beautiful drive. From these hills we will see the city of Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, also San Francisco Bay which lies between Oakland and San Francisco.

After arriving in San Francisco we are going to take a drive by auto along what is called the Pacific Ocean drive, going by way of Golden Gate and San Cliff house, where the boats enter San Francisco bay. Along the ocean drive to what is called Twin Peaks, where one can look over the city of San Francisco and the Pacific ocean. From here we will drive to Palo Alto, where the Stanford university is located. Here one of the greatest museums in the United States is located.

BUCK GROVE ITEMS

The Misses Nellie and Mary Flahive, of Denison, visited the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fitzpatrick. Jas. McNertney, of Denison, came Saturday to visit his friend, Paul Welch. Edward Mill, with his sister, Mrs. William Denton, also Mrs. Welch, and Mrs. Bunney, autoed to Denison Thursday afternoon. They got caught in the rain and were delayed several hours in getting home. Mrs. Welch remained over until Sunday, the guests of her cousin, Mrs. Clarence O'Meara, and family.

The construction gang which has been at work here on the new school, left Saturday for South Dakota. There were a quiet lot of Greeks and Mexicans and several of them were fine musicians. E. S. Metcalf reports the sale of twenty-four six month old pigs for the snug sum of $54.10. Mrs. Emma Weller and family visited at the Will White's home near Denison Sunday.

Henry Beerman, Sr., is reported to have been quite ill with heart trouble, but is resting easier at this writing. Nick White is in charge of the section here now. Robert Docherty, of Dow City, was calling on old friends here Sunday. Little Glen Hain has been somewhat under the weather for a few days.

Tom White, of Sioux City, was a business visitor here from Wednesday night until Thursday afternoon. The first traveling show since before a year played here last Friday evening to a very large audience. Post Office Inspector Monroe, of Ft. Dodge, checked up on the Buck Grove office Monday and expressed himself as well pleased with the conduct of the same. He went from here to Carroll.

LUTHERANS PLAN CONVENTION

Great Convention of Lutheran Men to Meet in Des Moines October 28th, at Savery Hotel

The coming state convention of the Lutheran men of Iowa, which is to be held in the Savery hotel, Des Moines, on October 28th, promises to be the greatest gathering of this kind ever held in Iowa. Every congregation that has a brotherhood is planning to send at least two delegates and all other Lutheran churches are expected to be represented by some of its members. Rev. P. O. Bersell, of Ottumwa, is in charge of the program and is outlining a day of conference that will be full of interest from the time of the opening of the convention until its close. The first plans were for a banquet for five hundred men and women. Present indications point to a much larger number than this.

H. L. Ekern, former insurance commissioner of the state of Wisconsin, will attend the convention and discuss the insurance plan being set forth in detail the plan and showing the value of such an institution within the Lutheran church in America. This department has aroused great enthusiasm among the men and promises to be the greatest binding force imaginable, holding the Lutheran men to the church and to each other. The Lutheran brotherhood of Des Moines are making every plan possible for the comfort, convenience and entertainment of all delegates. The Lutheran building, will be open and all members of the brotherhood will be taken care of from these headquarters. The convention headquarters is at the Savery hotel at Fourth and Locust streets.

'THE GUMPS' HERE OCT. 23

Oh Min, Uncle Elm, Min's Mother, Chester and Andy, the Funniest Cartoon Family, Coming to Denison

COMPANY CONTAINS 40 PEOPLE

Production Throughout Is Lavishly Framed With Splendid Scenic Settings, Says Manager Keith

On Min—the Gumps are coming to Denison. Manager Keith requests the Review to spread word that he has engaged "The Gumps," a big musical farce comedy, for an appearance in Denison opera house on Saturday evening, October 23d. Sidney Smith's "The Gumps," declared by the Chicago Tribune and other metropolitan newspapers to be the funniest cartoon family in the history of newspaperdom, forms the pivot of the story around which Howard McKent Barnes has written a play and Casper Nathan and Isham Jones composed harmonious interludes to be the capstone of diverting and laughter producing possibilities. The company of forty contains the names of many players well and favorably known to New York's Broadway and Chicago's loop, headed by James R. Fraser and Rose Jansen in the role of Andy and Min, the principal characters. A clever girl chorus, prettily captured, enters the play which is profuse with novel specialties, original ensembles and colorful dances. The production throughout is lavishly framed with splendid scenic settings, complete with every attribute, making possible faultless presentation.

Children of Buck Grove, were Manilla callers Sunday for a while.

GINGER BOY

Ginger Boy was the smallest dog seen in the show of the American Pomeranian club in New York. He weighs two pounds, two ounces.

SOLDIER ITEMS

J. P. Murphy left Monday for Colorado, Neb., after an extended visit with the folks at home. Miss Elsie Dorale is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Herman Klinker, near Denison.

It's hard in these times to distinguish the idle rich from plumbers, carpenters and house painter who won't work Saturdays.

LECTURE COURSE THURSDAY

First Number on Winter's Program to Be Given by Redpath Concert Company—A Splendid Organization

The first program to be given by the Redpath concert company under the auspices of the Denison Post, American Legion, will be rendered Thursday evening, October 21st, at the opera house, when the Redpath concert company will appear. This company is made up of an orchestra of five members and Edward Barrow, tenor soloist. In a letter to the Review the manager of the company, Jacob Johnson, Keith Vawter says: "It was my good pleasure to hear the Redpath concert orchestra at Trinity church in Cedar Rapids last night, and I don't mind saying that I am very proud of the fact that we are able to offer our patrons such a splendid organization. It is a good program musically and a good program popularly."

WASHINGTON ITEMS

A very enjoyable time was spent at a club dance in Buck Grove Friday evening. Mrs. John Zimmer and children visited at the Leonard O'Brien home one day the past week. Linford O'Brien was a visiting friend in the vicinity of Danbury Sunday. Dennis Brothers were called to Denison on account of the serious illness of their sister, Nellie. Lawrence McNertney is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Deq Griffin.

Dr. T. J. Bieme, of West Side, was a caller in Washington township one day the past week. Adolph Pike shelled and delivered 1,000 bushels of corn last week. Miss Alice Watje spent the week end at the parental home from her school duties in Denison. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Winn were Dow City shoppers Thursday.

Maurice Biernes was a visitor in the D. O'Brien home Sunday. Many farmers are starting to pick corn. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McBride were visitors in the Otto Watje home Sunday. Louis Finigan began picking corn for D. P. O'Brien Monday.

Nellie and Mary Flahive spent the past week at the T. Fitzpatrick and F. O'Brien home. Mrs. Thos. Fitzpatrick is reported on the sick list this week. Miss Ella Kane, of Dunlap, spent Sunday at the home of her brother, Dennis. Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmer entertained their neighbors and friends at a dancing party at their fine new home Sunday evening. All report a most enjoyable time.

J. Bauman and J. H. Heiler were business callers in Dunlap Sunday. Joe Stoen, of Ames, has from Odebolt and is again working for Adolph Johannsen. Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Hunt, of Denison, spent Saturday for a few hours Friday to greet their friends. Mr. Hunt is one of the partners of the Boys' store at Denison. From here they drove to Coon Rapids.—Manning Monitor.

With paper so short it is not absolutely necessary for the metropolitan news to print more than 50 pages of stuff that no one reads. After complaining about the wretched condition of the roads, many motorists in the district about the small tax placed on their machines.

About time to send Mexico an ultimatum notifying them they don't have to have well have to send them another note. As Satan finds mischief still for idle hands to do he has not yet come out against the six hour working day and five day week.

News and Comment About Iowa People and Events

The latest excitement in Montgomery was occasioned by the plea made by the attorney for Bert McCaul, indicted for perjury in connection with the trial of parties for the ax murders at Villisca some years ago. In making the matter under advisement the judge remanded the case for trial in Pottawattamie county. The petition alleged that at the trial of the Jones-Vilkinson slander case in 1916 and during two trials of L. G. J. Kelly that the adherents of Wilkerson, the detective, crowded the court room and calculated to prejudice the jury in said trial. The petition is signed by twenty residents of the county. In the affidavit of R. W. Beeson, which supports the petition for the change of venue, it is alleged that there was and still is a division of the people over the murder and the subsequent trials. It is alleged in this affidavit that a great many people have made up their minds as to the guilt of McCaul and that it was hard for Mr. Beeson to get signatures of business men for the petition for the change of venue on account of the fear they might have that it would hurt their business. Mr. Beeson believes that the few persons who do not take sides in the stories of Wilkerson are afraid of expressing themselves because they would incur the ill will of the majority.

A clinic was recently conducted at Leon in connection with the teachers' institute. Dr. Craven, a noted specialist in preventing tuberculosis, and Dr. Craven, a noted specialist in tuberculosis, and Dr. Craven, a noted specialist in tuberculosis, were in charge. In Decatur county the Red Cross recently arranged for a county nurse whose duty it is to visit the schools of the county and see that the health of the children is safeguarded throughout the year and that sanitary conditions are right in all schools. Miss Agnes Swift, of Washington, a nurse of wide experience, has been employed and she is now on duty.

The second state park under the law enacted by the 38th general assembly is to be dedicated Wednesday, October 21st, to the memory of the late 900 acres in the vicinity of Keosauqua is to be formally taken over by the state. Gov. W. L. Harding and Dr. L. H. Parnum, with several members of the state board of conservation, will be the principal speakers. One of the features of the dedication will be a fox hunt which will probably take place on the site of the dedication. Many well bred fox hounds are owned in this region where fox hunting has been indulged in for years. An important matter to be decided at the meeting is in regard to the protection of wild game on this tract which for many years has been the home of pheasants and grouse as well as foxes and an extensive tract of land. The state board of conservation is for the preservation of wild life as much as possible. This new park area lies in a great horse shoe bend of the Des Moines river and has long been famous for its natural beauty and the wide sweep of the river, bordered by rugged bluffs and scamed with deep ravines. The citizens of Keosauqua and vicinity contributed liberally to the purchase of the tract which was bought at an average price of about $50 per acre.

The bridge was erected at a cost of a half million dollars and was nearly three years in building. Recently 15,000 pigeons were released at Cedar Rapids. The birds belonged to the Chicago Flying association and were released at 6:45 in the morning and by 10:35 the first one reached Chicago. The air was black with pigeons for twenty minutes after the start as many of them appeared to be unable to get their bearings. Thousands of persons watched the fly off.

Registration and enrollment headquarters of the state teachers' association which convenes in Des Moines the first week in November will be at the auditorium instead of at Hotel Savery as in former years. An educational exhibit will also be displayed at the auditorium as a feature of the convention. Forty reservations for exhibit booths have already been made for the displays which will include chiefly school supplies and equipment. The congestion which resulted from last year's convention is the reason given for changing headquarters since a still greater crowd is expected this year. Approximately 2,000 reservations have already been made by teachers for the Mary Garden concert.

C. C. Swain, M. A., Columbia university, 1915, with side experience in the organization and directing of consolidated schools as state inspector of consolidated schools in Minnesota for the past six years, has joined the faculty of the Iowa State Teachers' college. He is giving his time and attention to the preparation of superintendents and teachers for the consolidated schools of the state. The first public appearance of the Fourteenth regiment, cavalry, stationed at Ft. Des Moines, was at the dedication of the new bridge across the Des Moines river on University avenue, Des Moines. The men mounted, with new uniforms and prancing steeds, and a fine mounted band, made a parade through the principal downtown streets and then drew up at the bridge where an interesting program was rendered. Members of Argonne Post, American Legion, also participated in the parade. The great cement bridge was dedicated to the memory of the soldiers from Des Moines in the world war. A bronze tablet will bear the historical reference and remain as a memorial throughout the passing years.

The German parochial school at Yorktown, Page county, the home of a large number of people of German descent continues to be a bone of contention. Several mass meetings have been held regarding the closing of the school. It is stated that Bert York, of Yorktown, is under peace bonds and ordered not to appear at Yorktown under the same conditions as speaker and leader of mass meetings. The last meeting was quite largely attended and the gist of the session was the signing of a petition to close all parochial schools in Page county in Iowa and in the United States. The school is to be fully protected by the government. A deputy sheriff attended the last meeting.

Ft. Des Moines is being completely remodeled for the Fourteenth cavalry regiment which is now stationed there. The quarters were formerly used by the quartermaster and are being reconstructed and stalls for the mounts put in. Many of the wooden structures, erected for temporary duty, have since been dismantled or sold. The wooden passages that made the fort a labyrinth during the war are being pulled down to afford more space. Many of the more solidly constructed buildings are being utilized for company entertainment halls and other similar purposes. The temporary hospitals are also being demolished.

Mrs. Mary Hickey, of Cedar Rapids, brings suit against Sherman Freeman for $18,000 damages because of injuries inflicted by a ram that broke into her front yard and made a vigorous assault upon the defenseless woman when she attempted to "shoo" it out. The ram aforesaid had a well developed pair of vicious horns securely attached to a head as hard as marble and with a battering force of sufficient power to make quick work of all opposition. The woman averted in her petticoat in the district court that she received serious and permanent injury.

The farm bureau organization in Bremer county conceived the idea that a home demonstration agent would be the proper thing so an effort was made to get in touch with some competent young woman who could handle the job. A committee was appointed to make selection and when this became known abroad two applications were received. One wanted $2,800 per year and the other offered $2,300. In addition to these salaries, 10 cents per mile for each mile traveled on official business was offered. The last named young woman accepted the position offered in Jones county. There the salary was $2,200, but they paid 15 cents per mile instead of 10 cents. The committee, however, has not yet given up hope.

Notices have been served of a suit to be tried in the Clay county district court at the October term which will in many respects be a test case of the law in question. L. A. Wittig, of Spencer, administrator of the Louis Lehman estate, is bringing suit against the Harmony Light & Power company and the Electrical Supply & Construction company of Spencer for $800 damages for cutting trees in front of the Lehman farm near Gilbert Grove. The electrical supply and construction company erected the power line for the Harmony Light and Power company and the trees were cut while the line was being built. In his suit Mr. Wittig asks for $300 actual damages and $500 exemplary damages. He charges that trees were maliciously and wantonly cut and that a beautiful hackberry tree in particular was split half in two. The branches were left to fall on a fence and injure it also, he says.

Many fellers begin to holler for increased production soon as the factories shut down as the result of high prices. Possibly some of the women who have been fighting all their lives for the right of suffrage will forget to register when the times come. Indians smoke pipe of peace with Governor Cox, but apparently the braves had to get along without any firewater. Continued high prices of bread makes some folks in Denison feel very crusty.

Both Young People Living at Council Bluffs and Came Here for Over Sunday Visit at the Krauth Home

Carl Krauth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krauth, of this city, and Miss Krestene Anderson, of Council Bluffs, were married at Vaik Sunday morning. The marriage of this young couple was a complete surprise to their friends. They came up from Council Bluffs on Sunday evening in company with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson for an over Sunday visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krauth Saturday evening when they procured a marriage license and Sunday morning in the pretext of calling on a druggist at West Side, left the city in a car in company with Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, going to Vaik, where they were married. They returned to Denison in time for dinner at the Krauth home, at which time the announcement was made.

Carl Krauth was born and reared here in Denison and is a young man of exemplary habits, who holds the confidence and esteem of all. He received his education in the public schools here and graduated from the college. Early in 1917 he enlisted in the service and chose the cavalry branch. For some time he was stationed on the Mexican border, but later was transferred to the Hawaiian Islands. His record in the army was good. After his honorable discharge he returned to Denison, remaining here but a short time before going to Council Bluffs to accept a responsible position with the Harle-Hass Drug company. He is still in the employ of this concern. The bride has long been a resident of Council Bluffs and is a most estimable young woman of pleasing personality and has a host of friends at that place. She has been a member of a number of occasions and has made many friends here. For the past several years she has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Consumers Oil company. Mr. and Mrs. Krauth are spending a few days here in Denison visiting at the home of his parents. They will make their home at Council Bluffs. The Review joins with their many friends in extending hearty congratulations.

Many fellers begin to holler for increased production soon as the factories shut down as the result of high prices. Possibly some of the women who have been fighting all their lives for the right of suffrage will forget to register when the times come. Indians smoke pipe of peace with Governor Cox, but apparently the braves had to get along without any firewater. Continued high prices of bread makes some folks in Denison feel very crusty.
