THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1877.
Biancus and Bohunkus.
Now, these two boys to the theatre went
Whenever they saw fit,
Biancus in the gallery sat,
Bohunkus in the pit.
Now, these two boys at last did go
Unto their last long rest—
Biancus of the cholera died,
Bohunkus by request.

And these two boys did separate,
I deeply grieve to tell—
Biancus he to heaven went,
Bohunkus went—Sing Sing.

The Week.
A proposal to reduce the week from seven days to five, and, further, to rename the days, comes from Australia. Mr. H. K. Rusden, the author of this scheme, enunciates his view in a paper on the week in the last volume of the "Transactions of the Royal Society of Victoria," where he expresses the opinion that while reducing the number of the days in the week it would be a good opportunity to discard the present Pagan names, and to substitute Oeday, Twoday, Threeday and Fourday for them—Sunday to be called Goodday. The author is very sanguine as to the success of his proposal, and answers the plea of impracticability with the remark that "the week itself was actually altered by the Romans, Greeks and many other people; and in fact as there is no record of any attempt to alter the week having ever failed, the allegation of impracticability is so far proved to be utterly baseless."

Old Estates.
This matter of laying claim to large portions of valuable city property is becoming an epidemic. The success of Mrs. Myra Clark Gains in securing a title to millions of dollars worth of real estate in New Orleans has given other persons courage to prosecute similar claims. The telegraph announces that the heirs of Col. Henry Becker are taking steps for the possession of $15,000,000 worth of property in Philadelphia and elsewhere, which will probably be a long contest. It is also reported that preliminary arrangements are now being made by the heirs of Cole G. Mitchell, residing in Connecticut, to enter suit to recover the undivided sixteenth of the original town of Davenport, Iowa, which is located in the heart of the city. It will be necessary if this thing continues, to do something by law for arbitrarily quieting titles which are allowed to sleep so long as these.

Farm and Stock.
Hoe the cabbage while the dew is on, but never hoe beans while they are wet.
It is estimated that the loss sustained by Iowa farmers during the past year on account of hog cholera will amount to $800,000.
A herd of 30,000 horned cattle, attended by 7,000 drivers, was not long ago driven from a ranch in Kansas to Texas.
"Save the birds," exclaims the Fort Dodge Times. "Dr. Nicholson informs us that he shot a prairie chicken at seven o'clock in the morning that had sixty-one grasshoppers in its crop, and also a red sparrow whose crop contained thirteen grasshopper eggs."
A successful experiment in transplanting cabbage stalks has been made by Mr. John Robb, of Jefferson City. The stalks or roots which he cut from his cabbage last season and kept through the winter by bedding in the ground, having been planted about two weeks ago, are growing nicely. They are coming out in several prongs, with leaves from two to four inches long. Mr. R. intends pruning them in a few days, leaving the main stalk, and eating the prunings, which make excellent salad.
There are $500,000,000 invested in cows in the United States. The estimated value of butter that can be produced from a first-class cow is $44; while a common cow will produce $30 to $40 worth.
In Spain, an ox or a cow consumes annually sixty pounds of salt, a horse thirty and a pig sixteen. The Swiss say it is impossible to have good meat or milk without salt. The latter is cheaper in Switzerland than in France, and yet it is France supplies the Swiss market with salt.
ANOTHER BIG FARM.
Mr. K. Hadwin, of Canada, has bought 24 horses to open a large wheat farm alongside of the Cass or Dalrymple farm in Cass county, Dakota, 23 miles west of Fargo. He has associated with H. S. Beck, Esq., of Fargo, in the purchase of nearly 6,000 acres of the choice lands on the Northern Pacific railroad in the Red River Valley. Mr. Beck has an energy and years of experience in Western farming. Mr. Hadwin has the means and knowledge of farming in all its details, and bespeak for this firm success in their undertaking. They have rented 1,000 acres for what this season and will break up 1,200 acres of new land and put the 6,000 acres into wheat as soon as practicable. A party of 16 persons came with Mr. Hadwin to settle in Cass county and seem to be delighted with the country, although in the winter season it does not look so favorable as at other seasons of the year. They say no one in Canada would believe that this is so fine a country without seeing it, or that there was so good a chance for a poor man to get such good lands for so little money. Each one of these men can get 240 acres of the best land the sun ever shone upon for $25 if they cultivate and live on the land. Wheat at Fort Garry is 90 cents per bushel and $1 20 at Fargo.

BUTTER FAULT.
The American salt is claimed to be the best in the world, and we doubt not it is, at least, as good as the best. Some of the English brands also stand very high, but we always find this difference, that the English is more subject to become hard and lumpy, and when this is the case, it does not, like the American, readily pulverize again by a little crushing in the hand. The English is much more troublesome to stir in the dairy, and if our dairymen could only become acquainted with our American salt, they would never patronize the English article afterwards. Nor do we find so great a difference in the cost of the two, if only the best English brands are purchased. In looking over the English salt in our market, a few days since, we found that the popular brands of the English dairy salt were held at prices even above that asked for the American. So, if our New England dairymen will insist that their goods shall keep the American salt and sell by weight, they will find it quite as cheap as the best or most popular English dairy salt.

The Household.
ITEMS.
"Madam, did you ever lift a dog by the tail?" "Why no, you cruel thing, you."
"I didn't know, because I saw you carry your little child across a gutter by one arm. A dog's tail is a good deal stronger than the ligaments of a baby's shoulder."
The Week.
It is a good plan to keep a box of plaster of Paris in the house. Be sure and set it where no water can be spilled upon it. If the burner of a lamp becomes loosened, mix up a little with water and put it around the glass top of the lamp, then put the brass on. The whole operation should be performed as quickly as possible, for the plaster hardens or sets almost instantly. A board or some dish you will not need to use again, will be the best thing to mix the plaster on, as it is almost impossible to remove it after it sets. Where there are cracks or large, unsightly nail holes in a plastered wall, plaster of Paris may be used to fill them up.
Musty coffee-pots and tea-pots may be cleaned and sweetened by putting a good quantity of wood ashes into them and filling up with cold water. Set on the stove to heat gradually till the water boils. Let it boil a short time, then set aside to cool, when the inside should be faithfully washed and scrubbed in hot soap-suds, using a small brush that every spot may be reached, then scald two or three times and wipe till well dried. Pots and pans, or plates that have been used for baking and grown rancid, may be cleaned in the same way. Put the plates into a pan with wood ashes and cold water, and proceed as above stated. If no wood ashes can be had, take soda. If coals would clean their pie plates and baking dishes after this fashion after using, they would keep sweet all the time.

THE TABLE.
COGNAC AND BREAD PUDDING.
Soak a cup of prepared cognac in boiling hot milk for half hour or more, then add it to the usual Bread Pudding Preparation (the quantity of bread being about three times as much as the cognac). Enrich and flavor to suit. This is a pleasant and cheap dessert.
FRUIT CAKE.
Three pounds flour, three pounds butter, six pounds sugar, six pounds currants, six pounds seeded raisins, twenty-eight eggs, one ounce ground cinnamon, one ounce grated nutmeg, three-fourths ounce cloves, one-half ounce allspice, two wine-glasses rose-brandy (to keep), two wine-glasses red water (indispensable), one wine-glass wine or extract lemon. Make two large loaves. Bake at least three hours. I know this recipe. It is an old heirloom, and the wedding cake of several generations has been made from it. Don't omit the brandy.
POT ROAST.
Take any piece of fresh beef, lay it in a flat-bottomed pot with two good sized onions; cover only even with the top of the meat with boiling water; cover very tight, and let stew slowly until the water is exhausted; turn it over once or twice; when it begins to brown watch it that it does not burn, and then season with salt and black pepper, and spice, if you choose.
SWEET MACARONI.
Break up a quarter of a pound of the best macaroni into small lengths, and boil it in two quarts of water with a large pinch of salt, until perfectly tender; drain away the water, add to the macaroni in the stew pan a teaspoonful of milk and a quarter of a pound of sifted lump sugar, and keep shaking over the fire until the milk is absorbed; add any flavoring, and serve. Stewed fruit may be served with the macaroni.
BEEFSTEAK PIE.
A paste made of one pound of flour and one-half pound of beef suet minced fine is very good for this pie; line the sides of your dish, place in it your steak, trimmed free of bone and part of the fat, season with salt and pepper, and add lumps of butter rolled in flour; bake in a moderate oven, or you can cut up your steak in inch pieces, or have it minced very fine by your butcher, adding one-quarter of a pound of fat salt pork to every two of beef, and you can also add a few kidneys parboiled and cut in pieces; besides, this pie made in a mold and boiled is very rich and nice.
BOILING.
In boiling, wash the meat slightly with cold water, then put it into the pot with cold water enough to cover it, put on the lid and set it to boil, and occasionally remove the scum as it rises. It should boil fifteen minutes for every pound of meat, counting from the time the water begins to boil. For example: one hour and a half for six pounds, two hours for eight pounds, one hour for four pounds. It should be served hot, with a small quantity of the liquor poured over it. The liquor will make good soup for next day.

Poultry Yard.
SUCCESSFUL HATCHING.
If the following plan is carried out it will not be a rare thing for every egg in the nest to hatch. Have a separate room for attens in which their food, drink, and something suitable for dusting is convenient. Use sifted coal ashes, which is found excellent for that purpose. A day or two after the hen has begun sitting, put them at night on their eggs in the room; 13 are enough for most hens to cover well, and the best should be in a shallow box, placed on the floor where the hen can readily see and return to the eggs. The boxes should not be placed too near together. I always set two or more hens at a time, and after hatching rest those that needed for rearing the chicks. They usually do just as well a second time and without harm. Examine the nest occasionally, and if any of the eggs get broken, carefully wash the others in lukewarm water. When hatching the hen often gets crushed in such a way that the young chick cannot liberate itself, the two, if only the best English brands are purchased. In looking over the English salt in our market, a few days since, we found that the popular brands of the English dairy salt were held at prices even above that asked for the American. Disorder of the Kidneys.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water, or whether they be affected with stone or gravel, or with aches and pains settled in the loins over the regions of the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the printed directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed time. This treatment will give almost immediate relief when all other means have failed.
