From Bishop Bowman. From a private letter, recently received by a gentleman of Montana, from Bishop Bowman, we are permitted to extract the following:

"As you have long since learned, I made my annual visit of conference last September and Fall, without delay or accident. The whole trip was to me exceedingly pleasant and interesting. I have much larger ideas of the extent of our country, and better views of our work in that Western region. Though the ride was hard sometimes, yet it was full of novelty and attraction. I was, as the girls say, 'awfully pleased.' Montana particularly delighted me. It is twenty years younger I should feel like offering myself for the work there. As it is, I am very anxious to send the right kind of men to it."

"Regards to all who remember me."

On Tuesday Justice Countryman was brought before Justice Dedrick, charged with having drawn a gun on Wm. Claassen. The case was tried before a jury, which returned a verdict of "not guilty."

J. D. McCaman, Treasurer of Gallatin county, expects to leave town Saturday and will live on his ranch this summer. Persons having business with the Treasurer can transact it with Judge A. D. McPherson, who will be in charge of the office during Mr. McCaman's absence.

Our poetical friend, W. J. Davies, having recently been the recipient of a new suit of clothes, presented him by some of his friends in town, says that he has been overcome that he is unable to invoke the aid of the muse this week, but hopes to be able to express himself in next week's COURIER.

Daniel Maxey has purchased of John Johnson his property on Black street for $125. This is the best bargain ever made in Bozeman. The lot contains almost one acre of ground, and the building on it could not be erected for $150. Mr. Maxey is having a house 20x18 erected in front of the present building, and will remove his family into it as soon as it is completed.

From a private letter received from a resident of Fort Pease, we learn that the people of that vicinity were favored with two days' snow storm on the 17th and 18th inst.; also that there is an excellent opening there for some one to start out in the mercantile business, there being no store there and the bottom settling up fast with enterprising farmers.

Englefield & Esler this week received a large order for saddles, harness, etc., from J. L. Dawes, post trader at the Crow Agency. A portion of the goods were shipped yesterday. Until about one year ago these goods have been shipped direct from manufacturers in California, but Bozeman dealers, being able to offer goods at the same price as California dealers, they are now purchased here at a great convenience to the traders and to the benefit of the town.

Considerable amusement was created in town on Friday last by nine men, members of the "Young Men's Aid Society of Bozeman," repairing with shovels, axes and picks, to the side-walk in front of the Times office and cleaning it of the snow, shavings, wood, &c., that has adorned (?) it for several months past. The boys now have to walk clear across the side-walk to get to the street to get to their wood pile. It is to be hoped that the extra effort required to walk that distance will help them to keep their wood pile on the side-walk.

Last week, as three young ladies of Bozeman were out cutting riding, an accident occurred that might have resulted seriously, in passing a hitching post on Bozeman street, the end of one of the single-trees struck the post, causing the single-tree to break instantly. At the same time three of the tugs broke off and the horses became detached from the sleigh. The young lady who was driving went over the dashboard after the horses, but on striking the snow in front of the sleigh, she let go the lines. The horses were caught short distance from the scene of the accident. No one was hurt, and the only damage sustained was the breaking of harness and single-tree.

Personal.

-Chas. P. Blakely was in town this Tuesday.

-J. A. Lovely, of Hayden, was in town Tuesday.

-John Yancy is in town from Fort Custer.

-Thos. Mine is in town this week from his home on the Yellowstone.

-Wm. Claassen yesterday left town with a load of goods for his place near the mouth of Stillwater.

-Mr. Wm. Judd, of Deer Lodge, arrived in town on Friday's coach, and is domiciled at the Northern Pacific. He intends to start to the Crow Agency this week.

-Wm. Morris, who has been rusticiating in town for several weeks past after two trips with best cattle to Fort Peck Agency, this week left for Phillipsburg, where he will work this summer.

-Dan. McMillan and James Letta yesterday left town for the Yellowstone. Mr. Letta will haul lumber from the Summit to the river, and Mr. McMillan will build boats to run down the Yellowstone.

-S. H. and John Trout yesterday left town for Emigrant. They made quite a stay in Bozeman this trip, visiting among old friends and acquaintances, who are always glad to see them. Come again, and often.

-We acknowledge a call this week from Frank L. Benepe, who is looking over the ground with the intention of starting an agricultural warehouse here. There being no empty rooms on Main street, he will, in all probability, purchase a lot and erect a building on west Main street. He expects to have his stock of goods here before the harvesting season commences.

-Mr. A. Wolverson leaves town this week for Clark's Fork bottom, having taken up a ranch there in the vicinity of the new town called Coulson. He expects to put in seed considerable ground this spring, and hopes to succeed in raising a large crop. He exhibited his usual good sense by ordering the COURIER sent to his new home, and paying for it a year in advance.

-Mrs. Hunter and son Davis this week left town for Hunter's Springs on the Yellowstone. Dr. Hunter expects to remove there here in ten or twelve days, and the family will make their home there this summer. He will take a stock of goods with him, and will be prepared to entertain travelers in the most hospitable manner, and, as his springs enjoy an excellent reputation here, and are spoken of in the most flattering terms by all who have bathed in them for any length of time, they will undoubtedly be well patronized this summer.

The M. E. Church. Under the above heading a card was published in the last week's Times, signed "Members of the Church," which contained the following sentence: "We, as Methodists, deeply regret that our church after having been dedicated to God, should be so desecrated by the promulgation of Infidelity in the lecture recently delivered by W. Alderson."

On inquiry, we have learned that there are over twenty members in good standing in the M. E. Church in Bozeman, and we have satisfied ourselves that nineteen out of that twenty did not sign the card above mentioned. Indeed, we have ascertained the matter down so close that we are satisfied that not more than one member of the church signed the letter. If it was signed at all of which we entertain very serious doubts.

The majority of the members of the church in this place are honorable people, and to their credit be it said, and would not be guilty of this misrepresenting the sentiment of a large majority of the members of the church.

The author of this card knows as well as we, that the M. E. Church has never been "dedicated to God" any more than one of the halls of this place, and that it will be impossible to dedicate it while there is a debt hanging over it and the house unfinished.

Had I attended the M. E. Church on the evening he speaks of, he would have known, as W. Alderson did not, that the M. E. Church - did not preach an Infidel doctrine - did not preach a word that the M. E. Church can reasonably object to. If he had, we are aware that there are several persons who would be only too glad to prefer charges against him and have him expelled from the church. But they know he has not said anything for which he is justly censurable, although they "deeply regret" that the beautiful and affectionate doctrine of "Total Depravity" was very roughly handled.

They do not see where they and their friends can be benefited by that doctrine, and labor to preserve it in doctrine, and labor to preserve it in violation of their own well known characters.

Wm. W. Alderson being called an Infidel is only another case where people are off wrong and get two Aldersons mixed. The editor of this paper has been often taken for a Christian, although we do not remember having said anything that would lead the people to form such an erroneous conclusion, and perhaps Wm. W. Alderson is taken for an Infidel in the same way.

Now let the cowardly, lying author of the card referred to come out from behind his screen and let the people of Bozeman, yes, let the world know how many of the members of the Methodist church in this place "deeply regret" that the church was so "desecrated by the promulgation of Infidel doctrine." We will guarantee that the Times editor cannot furnish the name of two persons who signed the card and that he knew he was lying when he published the card as emanating from members of the church. If he can, let us know who they are, then the people can judge how much their opinion is worth.

Recent experiments with the telephone between Helena and Virginia City were very successful. The distance is 125 miles.

Theatrical Benefit. FORT ELLIS, M. T., March 18, 1878.

The friends of I. O. Flynn and the remaining members of the old dramatic troupe (including a host of volunteers) have tendered him a benefit to be given at the Post or at Bozeman. O'Flynn has, we understand, chosen the Fort as the scene of operations. The programme is as yet kept "dark," but we are in a position to state that it will surpass anything in the way of amusement yet given. Anyone knowing O'Flynn on the "boards" must acknowledge him as a true actor and a lover of his art. We hope he will have a full house. Notice of performance will be given in our advertising columns.

An Acrostic.

The following is a copy of an acrostic received by a young lady of Bozeman from a gentleman friend of hers, in February last:

Music and mirth from thy bright eyes are beaming, And mischief and fun are seen in thy face. Radiant with smiles like sunshine when gleaming, Youth, beauty and goodness we also can trace.

Loving and kind with a sweet disposition, Every feature would tempt for its acquisition, Every charm that would grace the highest position, Heaven has dealt with a hand quite unerring.

Into thee of the gifts of Nature and God; Now with these are left for the further preparing, To build to the skies what was germinal in the soil. Ever have in view that goodness and culture Received in this life is the wealth of the future.
