A COLD-BLOODED MURDER. Tom McGinnis "Killed for a Dollar."

Special Correspondence New North-West. WATSON, M. T., Dec. 4, 1879.—One of the most shocking murders ever committed in the Territory was committed yesterday at 11 o'clock at a point about ten miles from here, at what is known as "O'Neill's Crossing of the Glacier road." It appears that early on the morning of the 3d two men came to O'Neill's and began drinking. They gave their names as Ed Pierce and Thomas McGinnis. They had been there but a short time when Pierce proposed a game of cards for the nominal sum of $1, which he succeeded in getting, and played and lost. He finally asked McGinnis for a dollar, which the latter refused, saying that he did not have any more money than he had used for. This seems to have made Pierce mad, for he said that he would shoot him (McGinnis) that he could get the loan of the money without him. McGinnis finally left the saloon and went to a cabin about one hundred yards from the saloon. He was followed by Pierce, who again asked for the dollar and was again refused. Finally McGinnis said that he had stood it as long as he could, and pushed Pierce out of the cabin, at the same time slapping him with his open hand. From the cabin he went back to the saloon and into a back room, where he took up a needle gun and loaded

it. He then went out and met McGinnis at the door of the cabin, approached within three feet of him and fired. The ball entered under the chin and passed out of the back of the head. As soon as Pierce had shot he went back to the saloon, put the gun in a corner and said that he had shot McGinnis and wanted to be hung.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Briney says he "likes Helena." Didn't know that was her name before.

Construction on the Utah & Northern has closed. The terminus will remain at Beaver this winter.

The Grand Jury, which has been very busy up to the present, expects to finish up business in a day or two.

The New North-West is in receipt of handsome Holiday Cards and Hand Bills.

Now is the time to procure them.

Some interesting items from decisions at the Land Office, Washington, will be found on the outside of this number.

It is now a foregone conclusion that no civil causes can be reached this term of court, which necessarily expires with the year.

Several checks, drafts and letters leaving here for the east about October 30 or 35 are missing. The special agent will doubtless look the matter up.

If business men would attend court and see how many jurors "read the account of it in the New North-West" they would know where to advertise.

The basement walls of the Sisters' School building are about completed. The building will be continued next summer and completed if possible by fall.

The ball under the auspices of the Ladies' Educational Aid Society will be held at Masonic Hall on next Tuesday evening. A very pleasant party is anticipated.

Charles Blum's stock of goods has passed into the hands of Sands Brothers, they having bought up the accounts of San Francisco creditors at 55 cents on the dollar.

Rev. James Patterson lectured at the Presbyterian Church last Friday evening on "Travels in Many Lands." The gentleman was a great traveler, but lecturing is not his strong line.

"Turner," the valuable stable hand, aged five years, was taken in charge by William

Jno. S. Pemberton, died at his stable near Deer Lodge Wednesday. He had been sick a little while while, and had been treated by a little while while the following circumstance

occurred:

Mr. McWhirter's son Charley, a young man, was boisterously playing with some other young men. Some of them took hold of Charley and commenced dragging him, when all of a sudden this little girl became horrified, and cried out in the most distressing manner, "Don't kill Charley!" and then, right away, went on and related the circumstances occurring at the jail at the time of the killing of her father, giving a full corroboration of the testimony given by her mother on the trial.

Among other things this little girl stated that the man took hold of her father and dragged him to the jail, and laid on a table. Nobody dared head her testimony, and she suspected that she could relate the circumstance. Who that heard that related to this little girl could doubt the testimony of Mr. Drouillard given at the trial?

With the knowledge of these facts before us, it is extremely difficult to believe Mr.

Drouillard made use of the language attributed to her on her way to the Penitentiary.

Another reason for our inability to believe it is the fact that the language used, is slang. Now, Mrs. Drouillard's most intimate acquaintances never heard her use slang in speaking English, whether she was in speaking French. Her English is very pure for a person of her kind of education. Had her testimony, above, the statement supposed to be made by her on her way to the Penitentiary, (New NORTH-WEST of the 5th inst.) and the New North-West of the 5th inst. as obvious as to immediate suspicion of foul play.

THE MRS. DROUILLARD STATEMENT.

"Fair Play" Market-News Comments Thereon.

Editor New North-West:

Sir—An unfortunate half-witted woman Mary Angeline Drouillard, was sentenced at the last term of court here, to the Territorial Penitentiary for fifteen years. She gave testimony implicating William McKay in the murder of her husband. A large majority of the people who heard her testimony both on her own trial and on the trial of Mr. McKay believe she told the truth. Mr. McKay was acquitted and she was convicted. This ought to have been enough to satisfy the friends of McKay, and that poor, miserable woman's trial on the way to the Penitentiary ought to have gone there with her, there, together with herself, to be buried in oblivion.

But this has not been done. Her supposed utterances on the way to the Penitentiary has been hawked into the newspapers (see issue of the New North-West of the 5th Dec.) For what purpose? Was it to show that Mr. McKay did not aid her in dragging the body of Drouillard into the jail? If so it falls short of the mark, for Dr. Henck testified that owing to her physical condition at the time, it was impossible for her to drag 160 lbs. (the ascertained weight of the body) into the jail. Was it to show the public that she testified falsely at the trial, and that Mr. McKay is an innocent man? If so it falls short of the mark, (in case his accusals do not prove it).

It has one effect though, an effect which perhaps was not contemplated by those who dragged her utterances into the public press, and that is to make some people some how facts to the public in the interest of truth, that were it not for such, over zeal on the part of some of the would be friends of Mr. McKay would likely remain in oblivion forever, or at least, not be hawked before the vicinity of their occurrence. Such facts are as follows:

Mr. Drouillard's little girl Georgie, aged five years, was taken in charge by William

a little while while, and had been treated by a little while while the following circumstance

occurred:

father, giving a full corroboration of the testimony given by her mother on the trial.

dragged him to the jail, and laid on a table. Nobody dared head her testimony,
