

THE TERRITORIAL DEBT WILL PROBABLY BE REDEEMED $20,000 OR $30,000 THIS YEAR.—Herald.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DEVENS wishes it understood that he does not want an appointment to the Supreme Bench until Justice Childs resigns.

BLAINE has declined a Cabinet position under Garfield, according to a Washington telegram, but the truth is presumably contained in an addendum to the statement.

The heaviest foreign mail which ever left the New York postoffice was dispatched on Wednesday by outgoing steamers. It contained 106,778 letters and 162 bags of papers.

THE MINER says: The hat is ready for the editor of this paper—No. 64. Better keep it. It is too small to fit anyone but a Butte politician or a person small enough to crab out of a fair wager.

ABOUT THE ONLY thing of importance of record by the Miner letter will be the continued success of the Republican party. Little did the Democratic managers imagine such would be the result of their scheming.

Now that the question of Chinese immigration has been decided and control of the United States, we may reasonably hope for a modification of the evils. Important commercial privileges in return are but trifling.

"Do good by stealth and blush to find it fame," quotes the Miner. Such fame as found by the Fusionists and their organ may well cause a blush. A more appropriate rendering for Fusionists would be "Do all your stealthy work at night, deny and blush for shame."

SUPERVISOR DAVENPORT says he expects soon to discover the author of the Mercury letter, which cost the Republican party the States of New Jersey, California and Nevada, and the fact that Democratic leaders were inspired of it will damage that party terribly in 1884.

REMOVAL has it that some of the Fusionists at Butte are most bitterly opposed to the introduction of the electric light. They prefer darkness to light because some of their deeds won't bear illumination, and besides some one might see them putting up posters after midnight, another election day.

EX-SENATOR DOBNEY said to a reporter of the Cleveland Herald the other day: General Garfield was elected Senator to fill the term beginning next March. He is not better known in any section of the country to resign. He can decline to serve and that settles the matter. When the Legislature meets it can immediately, in my opinion, elect another man.

BRECKNER reproved his congregation last Sunday for remaining in their seats at the conclusion of the services, saying "this house is for the worship of God, not of man." His reprover was occasioned by the worshippers being anxious to get a glimpse of ex-President Grant who was present. Henry Ward objects not to worship of himself, and doubts forgets all about the dedication of the church in the applause which follows an eloquent utterance.

THE action of the Territorial Board of Canvassers of the vote for Delegate indicates to members do not consider that the majority of the Board is a really honest, vigorous and impartial body. It is a minority when it comes to certifying abstracts. It does seem as though, somehow, a majority should be something to say in this country, and the Territorial Canvassing Board is disposed to give the opportunity to the majority of the Deer Lodge Board; at least they are not to be peremptorily shut off.

"THE Chinese and the Chinese Question" is the title of a pamphlet recently sent us from the east. Its author James A. Whitney, LL. D., and the work comprises three lectures delivered before the New York Academy of the Useful Arts in August, September and October of the present year, and is for sale by the publisher, J. B. Lippincott & Co., New York. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the Chinese question, and is well worth a visit to the Pacific coast some ten years hence, and since that time he has investigated and reflected on the subject.

THE New York Herald's Paris special of last week says: A large number of Nihilist placards have just appeared upon the walls of St. Petersburg, and some of them in the most frequented parts of the city. They proclaim, in flaming characters, the beginning of a fresh revolutionary movement, beside which all former agitation will be considered puny and insignificant. Ominous warning is given that the throne of Alexander will be vacant before the dawn of another year. A vigilance committee has been formed by the police authorities to discover the source of these placards, and many houses thought to contain secret printing establishments have been visited. Several arrests have taken place and more are expected. The people live in constant fear of falling under the ban of suspicion, and between the plots of the Nihilists and the descents of the police they are in a state of exaggerated terror. Thus far, however, the police seem to have been unable to discover the audacious leaders of the threatening conspiracy.

THE Tribune's Cincinnati special says: Governor Williams' death causes a new political complexion to Indiana, which leaves the State without a head and prevents the election of a Senator. The law requires that the Governor or Lieutenant Governor can take their seats; the two Houses must be organized. The Senate was a tie when Gray was Lieutenant Governor. He had the casting vote, as he had two years ago, but the death of Williams leaves a tie to be broken by a defection from one side or the other. The Democrats have determined hereafter to organize the Senate, and will cling to their determination. It is said since the death of Williams the Democrats have not been able to get a majority in either the House or the Senate, and without it neither the Governor nor Lieutenant Governor can take their seats, and at the same time the constitution terminates the office of Acting Governor on the second Monday in January. If this two-sided of the Senate locks horns the State can be indefinitely kept without a Governor. A U. S. Senator to be elected succeeds McDonald. If none is elected, it is estimated that a U. S. Senator will be elected, and if the time comes when the Democrats say no legal election can be made by the present Legislature, and the next one they hope to make Democratic.

Business Declines a Cabinet Position. CHICAGO, November 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says an intense desire of Garfield says Blaine came to Washington at the request of Garfield for a confidential conference. They breakfasted together and there is little doubt that Garfield tendered and Blaine declined first the Secretaryship of State, and second the Treasury portfolio. (Note.—This information is given for what it is worth, which is probably very little.)

THE Democratic party needs something more than a new coat of paint. It needs to take in some of its own.—Phil. Times.

Notes of the Day.

The public debt of Mexico is $144,000,000. The official vote of Oregon gives Garfield 763 majority.

Harry Humphrey, of Boise City, has been appointed a cadet at West Point.

Eastern papers say there is not a single lawyer in the newly-elected State Senate of New Hampshire, which contains twenty-four members.

The burial of Governor Williams took place in a cemetery on his homestead. The sermon was delivered by the pastor of the Methodist church.

I see that St. Julien has gone back to California. I am sorry for Julie. He is a good fellow, but hardly fit enough to keep up with the procession.—Mead 8.

What is worth only forty cents a bushel in Walla Walla, with the prospect that there is the usual crop next year it will be sold for thirty cents. In Boise Valley, Idaho, wheat is sold at ninety cents.

A guest at a fashionable hotel took his seat at a dinner table, but no one appearing to wait on him he remarked: "Have you any waiters in this hotel?" It was replied that he was on the other side of the table, "the boarders are the waiters."

General Meredith Reade, ex-minister to Greece, mentions an old man who recently died at Athens aged 112 years. He had been born to him at the age of 82. The young man is of ordinary size and strength, but is entirely without teeth.

The story is told of a young fellow who went to the Black Hills to make his fortune and wrote back to his father that he had done well. "Meet me at dark just outside of town and bring a pair of pants or a whole blanket. I have a hat."

Senator Hill, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has lost his grip. He is said to have been in New York, posing to disband the Democratic and Republican parties, is treated with derision by everybody, and he is to-day like the man who, without friends or home, Bob Ingersoll says the proposition reminds him of the bargain the rooster proposed to the horse.—"Don't let us tread on each other's feet in the face of the Republican position to-day."

THE RETIRED LIST.

Some Difference of Opinion as to Who shall Retire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It is understood that the chief obstacle in the way of any retirement given by President Hayes is the hostility of Gen. Sherman. He does not believe in retiring men who, although old, are doing very well and they are not so old as staff officers in Europe. It appears there are 27 officers equal to or above grade of Lt. Colonel who might be retired under the law as fast as vacancies occur on the retired list. This would promote 135 younger officers who, with their friends, are urging the law should be enforced. All of the 27 except eight are staff officers. Of these eight three are general officers. It is a source of great concern to officers whether the President persists in his desire to keep the retired list full or General Sherman's policy not to retire men as long as they can be possibly avoided. General opinion to-day about headquarters seems that a compromise will be effected by the retirement of about one-half dozen including Ord, Barnes, Meade and Dumm.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

RIOT NEAR LEADVILLE.

LEADVILLE, November 29.—A riot broke out here to-night from Leadville that is in progress among the miners at Robinson's Camp, about 20 miles from Leadville, and that Lt. Governor elect Geo. B. Robinson had been shot and killed. A relief party has gone from Leadville. The report is believed to be true.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—There seems to be some mystery about the shooting of Lt. Gov. Robinson, at Robinson's Camp, last night. The particulars, so far as heard, are these: There was a dispute about the possession of a mine there, and a guard had been placed to watch it. Last night Governor Robinson and the manager of the mine went to it after dark. The guard, not recognizing them, and not hearing an answer to the inquiry as to who they were, fired, he says into the rock overhead. Governor Robinson fell, shot in the foot. He is now recovering, and it is believed to be fatal. The fact that there has been trouble between the miners and managers during the past week, the guard's story and peculiarity of the wounds make the theory that it was accidental very unsatisfactory.

Trouble Begins. WASHINGTON, November 26.—Horace White and F. W. Withridge, representing the Independent Republicans of New York, to-day presented General Garfield an address congratulating him on his election, which sealed the approval of the principles he had advocated, and promised him support in carrying them out. They gave him the history of the Independent Republican party, and determined advocacy of civil service reform. They dwell on the danger of quadrennial election for President when the spoils are the reward of party supremacy. No other government exposes its trusted servants to danger on the hazard of an election. The abuses of a half a century's growth are not reformed in a day. We believe, however, that public opinion is in advance of any reform of the civil service hitherto attempted, and that you may easily establish rules which shall make an independent merit which shall make an appointed, discharging both partisan service and party affiliation from the test of qualification.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation. It is expected that duties paid last summer under protest on a Chinese steamer which put in to San Francisco will be refunded. Within a half a day a vessel will arrive at San Francisco and be allowed to enter that port upon the same terms as are imposed on ships of other nations.

CHINESE TREATIES. Two New Treaties—Regulation of Immigration Left to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Tribune's Washington special says a treaty between the United States and China instead of the first relates mainly to the question of Chinese immigration and the other is a commercial treaty. In the first the Chinese government practically leaves the subject of regulating immigration to the decision and control of the United States. In return for these concessions of some new and important commercial privileges have been granted. In the second treaty which regulates the whole subject of commercial intercourse, China shipping and other matters, and the United States that of the most favored nation