

The New North-West. JAMES H. MILLS PUBLISHER.

The Pullman Car Company has got into trouble with the Canadian authorities on the charge of evading the customs laws.

EX-SENATOR EDWARDS, of Minnesota, who made way for Winthrop, has received his re-appointment to the position of Chief Justice of Dakota.

THE famous Tichborne Claimant is serving out his time patiently at Portsea convict prison. He was sentenced to fourteen years' servitude.

On Wednesday Judge Cox placed Guiteau in the dock, where he should have been long ago. Guiteau exhibited an insolent forbearance on Judge Cox's part, that had disgusted the court.

The transplantation of the North American Review from Boston to New York seems to have been complete, and I have heard a curious statement about it within a few days.

It has been not only generally believed but authoritatively given out that Mr. Rice, having his mind so much on publisher's who had close an equally expensive luxury and "kept a magazine."

It has occurred to any of our publishers, brethren that it would be a good thing to adopt the "pay in advance" system for subscriptions; to put the price where it would be an object to paying subscribers, to notify subscribers of expiration beforehand.

SINCE the war between France and Germany ended the growth of the two countries in population has been curious in its contrast.

SAMEL SMITH and his wife, colored, of Massachusetts, the township of North Hempstead, Long Island, have been married ten years, and are the parents of six children.

WASHINGTON, December 27.—A special from Station Agent Samuel Carr, aged 80 years, brother-in-law of the late Commodore Vanderbilt, has been for twenty years an inmate of the County Poor House.

THE UTAH DELEGATESHIP.

A quite interesting question to the people of the United States, and particularly so to those of the Territories, is set for hearing in Congress early in January—the question of the admission of the Delegate from Utah.

At the November, 1880, election in Utah, for election as Delegate to Congress, Geo. Q. Cannon, a Mormon and polygamist, and Allen G. Campbell, representing the Gentile or Liberal element, were candidates.

Before the certificate of election was issued, Mr. Campbell filed with the Governor Murray a protest against a certificate being issued to Mr. Cannon, which set forth that Cannon was ineligible, and the votes cast for him void, on the grounds that the said Cannon was an alien, disqualified from holding office; that he was living in polygamy with four wives in violation of the law of Congress; that females in large numbers illegitimately voted under the Territorial laws for the Delegate; that the number of such females eligible under the Territorial law exceeded the total number of votes polled, and that he (Campbell) being eligible, and having received legal votes, was entitled to the certificate.

To this Mr. Cannon at a later date filed reply that the members of the canvassing board had no authority to go behind the returns; that the House of Representatives has no power to adjudicate the question of eligibility, etc.; that although the canvassing board had no authority to raise the question of his eligibility, he submitted that on December 1, 1854, by judgment of a Court of competent jurisdiction he was duly naturalized according to law; that this naturalization was raised on him in the Forty-fourth Congress, and was overruled by unanimous vote of the Committee on Elections, on the ground that the judgment of the First District Court of Utah was conclusive; that Congress had no authority to go behind the returns made by Mr. Cannon as to the eligibility of the 18,500 votes cast for Cannon; that the alleged fact of female votes did not appear on the face of the returns, and that this issue is only admissible by Congress Mr. Cannon asked that the certificate be issued to him.

Governor Murray, after considering the matter, issued the following certificate: UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, TERRITORY OF UTAH, GEO. Q. CANNON, Governor of the Territory of Utah, do hereby certify that a regular election for Delegate to the Forty-seventh Congress, held in said Territory on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1880, was held according to the laws of the Territory, and the returns thereof were opened in my presence by the Secretary of the Territory, Allen G. Campbell, who is the person being a citizen of the United States, and of the age of twenty-one years, having the greatest number of votes, and was therefore duly elected as said Delegate to the Forty-seventh Congress, and I therefore do hereby certify accordingly.

Sec. 38. Representatives and Delegates.—In Congress, whose credentials in due form of law have been duly filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, in accordance with the provisions of section 31, may receive their compensation monthly, on the first day of each month, commencing with the first session of the Congress, upon a certificate in the form now in use to be signed by the Clerk of the House, which certificate shall have the name and effect as is given to the certificate of the Speaker; but in case the Clerk of the House of Representatives shall be notified that the Clerk of the House has received a certificate of election will be contested, his name shall not be placed upon the roll of members, until he shall have filed as a member, on or until such contest shall be determined.

On December 7th the Speaker directed the Delegates from the several Territories, except Utah, to present themselves at the Clerk's desk and be sworn in. Cox and Randall then raised the question why the name of the Delegate from Utah was not read, when the Speaker said there was no record on the matter of the Delegate from Utah; that it was the duty of the old Clerk to make up the roll of Members from the Territories, and that all certificates and papers would be read in due time. This brought up a discussion which resulted in all the papers in the case being ordered to be printed in the Record, and the case has gone over until after the holidays.

It is a known fact that he is a polygamist, so living in defiance of the laws of the United States, and therefore not "well disposed toward the Government of the United States." Governor Murray is determined if possible to close out polygamist Mormonism. To reach this he incorporated in Campbell's certificate the unusual phrase "being a citizen of the United States," and holding legal evidence that Cannon was an alien at that date, and "not well disposed toward the Constitution of the United States," referred for these reasons to recognize him in making up the certificate. The question now turns on the Governor's authority to pass upon these questions, it being the exclusive right of Congress to pass upon the eligibility and qualification of its own members.

WASHINGTON, December 27.—A special from Station Agent Samuel Carr, aged 80 years, brother-in-law of the late Commodore Vanderbilt, has been for twenty years an inmate of the County Poor House. He was taken out yesterday by Cornelius C. Williams, and placed in an institution in New York.

THE JEANNETTE.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—Geo. Kenan, of this city, who has had experience as a traveler and explorer in Northeast Siberia, sent the Secretary of State today the following letter with regard to measures for the relief of the survivors of the Jeannette: WASHINGTON, December 22, 1881. My dear Sir: Several years ago over each of the alternative routes which may be taken to reach the Arctic coast, in making their way back from Lena river, in Eastern Siberia, to America, I left bravely respectively to offer for your consideration the following suggestions with regard to the return of the cutter of the Jeannette, and to the return of the survivors of the expedition. As I traveled a mile or more to the north of the Lena, to bring back the cutter of the Jeannette by sea, it is utterly impracticable. First, because it is not certain that the vessel will be west, on account of ice; and secondly, because if the vessel should succeed in doing so, it would not arrive at its destination until late in the season to get back that year. In the meantime the survivors of the Jeannette would be compelled to live at the mouth of the Lena, and would be eight or nine months more of hardship and privation than I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

"Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Washington Post (Democrat) editorially says concerning Speaker Keifer's committee, that many of them are not only incongruous but outrageously partisan. It particularly condemns him for putting into one straight Democratic on the election committee, and characterizes the ways and means committee as simply brutally partisan, but otherwise without form or sense.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The morning papers almost without exception call attention to the disaster which exists with the make-up of Keifer's committee. The discount seems chiefly to be in the West, though New Yorkers feel that they have been left out in the cold.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—Yes, to the tall, thin, and thin, sitting some one behind Keifer's committee, and some one of Keifer's hazy and hazy committee, he said, "I opened my mouth for the first time this morning, and there was not a bit of one crank letter in the lot. That's good, showing the people are learning. They are beginning to look on me as a great man. I don't care a snap whether I'm a great man or a little one. I know one thing, however: I am getting popular; I'm getting up."

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The morning papers almost without exception call attention to the disaster which exists with the make-up of Keifer's committee. The discount seems chiefly to be in the West, though New Yorkers feel that they have been left out in the cold.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The morning papers almost without exception call attention to the disaster which exists with the make-up of Keifer's committee. The discount seems chiefly to be in the West, though New Yorkers feel that they have been left out in the cold.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The morning papers almost without exception call attention to the disaster which exists with the make-up of Keifer's committee. The discount seems chiefly to be in the West, though New Yorkers feel that they have been left out in the cold.

WHERE SHE SUNK AND WHERE THE CREW REACHED.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—An evening paper publishes an interview with Cannon, of Utah, in which, after stating that he received 18,500 votes in Campbell's 1877, and otherwise citing the familiar grounds of his claims for admission as a Delegate, he replies to various interesting questions as follows: "Mr. Campbell raises the question of illegitimacy on the point of your having plural wives. How about that?" "Yes, I'm a Mormon," replied Mr. Cannon, "but this is a late day to raise that question. Certainly the statutes of the United States, as revised in 1852, make it a crime to have more than one wife, but I have served as a Dragoon on the Lena, and I have no fourth term, but circumstances have not changed. I say that this is a late day for this plea. The whole trouble has arisen from the desperate attempt of the Governor of Utah to strip the rights and votes of the people. The returns from the Territory are that I was elected," continued Cannon, "and there is no doubt that Congress will sustain the returns. My religion is the only point raised, and that I am an alien, if the certificate of Mr. Campbell is a prima facie evidence, he can not have his way. I hope to go in on my broad certificate and the election returns. Campbell's certificate is unusual. It contains statements that invalidate it.

MORMON MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—The Secretary of State received the following today, dispatched from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg: ST. PETERSBURG, December 22, 1881. To the Honorable Secretary of State, Washington, General Ignatieff, of the Russian Government, has ordered a search for the second cutter of the Jeannette expedition, and will furnish all funds necessary from St. Petersburg. For subsequent news I will send you a long telegram from the same source, and under that the cutter went through last night to the Navy Department. Will communicate with Melville through a correspondent as regards possible measures to find the second cutter.

TELEGRAMS IN BRIEF.

LONDON, December 21.—John Ludweg Krapf, the African explorer and missionary, is dead.

A fire broke out in Sullivan, Indiana, Christmas night and burned twenty-five buildings.

The steamer Eureka has stricken at Port Townsend from Siska. The Siska mikes yielded over $150,000 this year. The steamer Adams is ordered to Siska to relieve the Wachuset.

WASHINGTON, December 23.—The Times' Washington special says: An ex member of the Northern Pacific Railroad, who has a fund of inside facts growing out of his former connection with that body, has decided to offer a resolution in the House immediately after the holidays to authorize an investigation of the affairs of the Northern Pacific.

WASHINGTON, December 23.—There were issued to-day over Secretary Kirkwood's signature twenty-seven pieces of bounty land script to the heirs of John Paul Jones, captain in the American navy in appreciative acknowledgment of brave and meritorious services in connection with the capture of certain British vessels of war.

PHILADELPHIA, December 20.—The will of the late Colonel Forney was admitted to probate to-day, and there are no public bequests.

PARIS, December 21.—General Garibaldi writes to a friend in this city that he will come to Paris and try to reconcile the French and Italians.

BOSTON, December 20.—It is stated that Judge Justice will be appointed to succeed Chief Justice Gray as head of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts.

DUBLIN, December 23.—Peyott, formerly proprietor of the Dublin Ireland, publishes a letter in which he says that Fenianism is practically extinct in America and in the Irish and nearly so in Great Britain.

Holland & Estill's

Livery Feed and Sale Stable. OLD VALTION STAND. DEER LODGE, MONTANA. Stylish Turn Out, Good Saddle Horses, Careful Hostlers. SPECIAL ATTENTION Given Discard Animals. Horses Broken and trained.

Kentucky Stables. FEED, SALE AND LIVERY, OPPOSITE McBURNEY HOUSE. Deer Lodge - Montana. Waid & McAndrew. PROPRIETOR. HORSES BROKEN AND TRAINED.

METROPOLITAN. JOHN FERBER. PROPRIETOR. Has the Finest Bar Stock on the West Side and a Good Billiard Table and cozy club-room. A Special Invitation to the whole community to come and see us.

Western Brewery. J. E. VAN GUNDY, Proprietor. Deer Lodge, - - Montana.

Bottled Beer? Put up Expressly for EXPORT AND FAMILY USE. FINE LIQUORS AND CIGARS. J. E. VAN GUNDY.

DEER LODGE BREWERY. N. CONTANCIN. SUCCESSOR TO PETER VALTION.

TAILORING. D. J. HRYER, Deer Lodge Mont. A KLEINSCHMIDT, ADDISON SMITH. KLEINSCHMIDT & CO. COR. MAIN & THIRD STREETS. DEER LODGE, MONTANA.

GROCERIES! Saddlery, Harness, MILWAUKEE BEER, IMPERIAL WINE. DRY GOODS, Clothing, Boots & Shoes, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

JOS. McDONNALL, Dealer in Deer Lodge, - - Montana. FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE! Full line of Bedding, Feathers, Mattresses, Baby Carriages, &c.

Holland & Estill's Livery Feed and Sale Stable. OLD VALTION STAND. DEER LODGE, MONTANA. Stylish Turn Out, Good Saddle Horses, Careful Hostlers. SPECIAL ATTENTION Given Discard Animals. Horses Broken and trained.

Kentucky Stables. FEED, SALE AND LIVERY, OPPOSITE McBURNEY HOUSE. Deer Lodge - Montana. Waid & McAndrew. PROPRIETOR. HORSES BROKEN AND TRAINED.

METROPOLITAN. JOHN FERBER. PROPRIETOR. Has the Finest Bar Stock on the West Side and a Good Billiard Table and cozy club-room. A Special Invitation to the whole community to come and see us.

Western Brewery. J. E. VAN GUNDY, Proprietor. Deer Lodge, - - Montana.

Bottled Beer? Put up Expressly for EXPORT AND FAMILY USE. FINE LIQUORS AND CIGARS. J. E. VAN GUNDY.

DEER LODGE BREWERY. N. CONTANCIN. SUCCESSOR TO PETER VALTION.

TAILORING. D. J. HRYER, Deer Lodge Mont. A KLEINSCHMIDT, ADDISON SMITH. KLEINSCHMIDT & CO. COR. MAIN & THIRD STREETS. DEER LODGE, MONTANA.

GROCERIES! Saddlery, Harness, MILWAUKEE BEER, IMPERIAL WINE. DRY GOODS, Clothing, Boots & Shoes, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

JOS. McDONNALL, Dealer in Deer Lodge, - - Montana. FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE! Full line of Bedding, Feathers, Mattresses, Baby Carriages, &c.