The RECORD office has a new imp.

Pay your taxes and curse the assessor on Monday next.

Mrs. Col. Moale and her son, Foster, are visiting at Fort Shaw.

Freighters wanted for the Yogo mines. Apply to I. G. Baker & Co.

Halpin and Clark commenced running the Martinsdale mail to-day.

The burning of Geo. Steell's saw mill is a most serious loss to Benton.

Cordwood sells readily for $8, and the the supply is limited at those figures.

Mr. Charles Price, a prominent stock owner of Choteau county, has gone to Helena.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Boyle arrived on Tuesday's coach, en route to Fort Assiniboin.

Mail service has been granted between Benton and Yogo, with Wm. Buchanan as Postmaster.

Mr T. A. Cummings has refitted and furnished his office, making it a most comfortable house.

The cattle disease seems to have abated in this county. We hear no further complaint from stockmen.

Hank Jennings, an old time hunter of Montana, is keeping the town well supplied with game and fish.

Col. Moale's Company have moved into their new quarters and the boys in blue are proportionately happy.

Col. J. F. Mulphy was absent in the Shonkin country this week in the interest of W. S. Wetzel & Co.

Yogo and the Belt mountains appear to be attracting more attention than any other point outside of Benton.

Deputy Sheriff T. F. Healy started for the Sun River country on Wednesday, on business connected with his office.

Mr. W. P. Wren returned from Yogo on Saturday, and has disposed of his mining interests at satisfactory figures.

We learn that a new bank is about to be opened in town. It a much needed institution and will doubtless pay handsomely.

The ferryboat at the upper end of town is blockaded by floating ice and several Highwood grangers are unable to return to their homesteads.

The Rev. Mr. Patterson having converted all the hard cases in Benton has now gone to interview the wicked of Helena.

Mr. W. S. Wetzel has returned from Helena with a choice assortment of Holiday goods, which he proposes to sell at bedrock prices.

Mr. J rrie Sullivan has opened up his parlor dining room in the Twing Hotel, and proposes keeping a table that will surprise epicures.

Trade with the Judith Basin is assuming a healthy appearance. Teams are arriving daily and loading with merchandise for that country.

Col. Clendenin, jr., started for Helena yesterday, accompanied by his wife, Miss Tonge and Miss Lepley. The Col. intends making Helena his home during the winter.

I. G. Baker and Co. have moved into their new store on corner of Baker and Main street, and have transferred a good part of the business rush to this part of the town. The building of this firm is probably the largest and most costly of any in Montana Territory.

Sheriff Healy [illegible] communication from Mr. [illegible] S. Indian Agent for the Blackfeet, dated Nov. 18th, which gives the [illegible] finding of the body of [illegible] Cut Bank river, [illegible] Marias. The Sheriff [illegible] the matter, is led to [illegible] the unfortunate man is [illegible] hard work [illegible] the murder was committed by an Indian reservation, the matter should be placed in the hands of the U. S. authorities.

Mr. Samuel L. Kelly arrived on Tuesday's coach from Washington, D. C., and has taken charge of Mr. M. A. Flanagan's prescription and drug department.

Mrs. Mary Savage is expecting in a few days a choice lot of millinery and milliners' goods. The attention of ladies is invited to examine the stock before ordering elsewhere.

Louis Heitman and Harry Hill, at Kleinschmidt & Bro.'s store, are kept so rushed with business that they don't even find time to attend the Benton sociables.

The "Choteau Club" is one of the new institutions of Benton. The members have secured a suit of rooms in the RECORD building and purpose having a good time this winter.

Geo. A. Baker, A. E. Rogers, and W. S. Baker, under the firm name of George A. Baker & Co., have purchased the Winchell sheep ranch, on Belt Creek. Consideration not known.

The stockmen of Choteau propose organizing with a view to the arrest and punishment of cattle thieves, prairie burners, etc. A meeting of the cattle owners of the county will probably be called next month.

A foot race is talked of between Boswell and Bennie Philips. Distance, 440 yards; time, December 9th; stakes $200 a side. We understand the stakes are up and the men in training. A large attendance is expected as both men have admirers and backers.

A large lot of lumber arrived to-day from Steell's mill. The lumber has been on the road some time and is intended for the Odd Fellow's Hall. Work will be commenced immediately on this building which will give employment to several mechanics.

H. M. S. Pinafore—There is a rumor that this gallant craft proposes reaching the head of navigation sometime about the Holidays. Her sails are all set, and there is every prospect of her making this port in safety if she don't upset on the Helena hill or stick on the Cracon-du-Nez bar.

Mr. Charles Jeffiries, Sheriff of Lewis & Clarke county, arrived on Wednesday's coach from Helena and returned yesterday. This was Mr. Jeffiries' first visit to Benton in eleven years, and the sheriff expressed himself as agreeably surprised at the improved appearance of the River Metropolis.

Several Bentonites are stampeding to the Belt mountains, on the strength of a reported assay from Helena amounting to $12 in silver, claimed to have been taken from rock found in the Belt mountain country. We have long been satisfied that good paying lodes existed in the Belt range, and only hope that the report of such a large assay is correct.

Prof. Rolf, formerly principal of the Helena school, and late of the Butte Miner, arrived in town on Friday last and remained over until Monday. The Professor was so well pleased with Benton that we understand he intends making his home permanently with us and will engage in the law business. There is an excellent opening here at present for any enterprising lawyer and we believe Professor Rolf will meet with satisfactory success.

We learn that the ladies of Benton propose giving some entertainments during the Holidays for the benefit of the Episcopal Church building fund. Since the great success which attended their efforts at the late concert we have no doubt of their ability to accomplish a great deal in this direction and we wish them God speed in their good work. Surely no town needs a church edifice more than Benton, and we sincerely hope it may be built.

The Rev. Mr. Blackistone, of the Episcopal Church, will hold service at Benton on the first Sunday of December, morning and evening. The citizens of Benton will be pleased to learn that the Reverend gentleman will visit them for this purpose the first Sabbath of every month during the year, commencing with November, 1879. This arrangement was perfected by Bishop Tuttle, after his visit to Benton last summer, in compliance with the expressed wish of a large number of our people who were anxious to have the attendance of some good minister at stated intervals. Mr. Blackistone reached us on his first visit almost unannounced, and many of the people did not learn of his presence until too late to attend service. Those, however, who had the pleasure of meeting him were much pleased with "our pastor" by which name we may hope to call him, since he is the [illegible] minister that has ever been [illegible] the regular duty in our midst. [illegible] the first Sunday in December [illegible] ance of meeting [illegible] the committee.

THE S. S. CONCERT.

The concert of Tuesday evening, given by the children of the Fort Benton Sunday School, assisted by ladies and gentlemen of the city, marks an era in the history of Fort Benton. It demonstrated beyond the possibility of a doubt that we have in our midst rare musical and theatrical talent that needed only to be utilized to win for itself the highest praise. Even the best informed of our citizens on this subject were greatly surprised at the complete success of the first effort in this direction, and too much credit can not be given to those who participated in the exercises or to those who so successfully managed the entertainment.

The following was the order of the exercise:

Recitation: "The Cricket and the Ant." Arthur Conrad.

Song and Dialogue: "Fanny Grey." Miss Alice Conrad and Master Eddie Moale.

Recitation: "The Chatterbox." Petite Miss May Flanagan.

Song: "Oh Youths' Bright Days." Miss Phœbe Wright and Mr. H. B. Hill.

Reading: "Miss McBride." Mrs. W. E. Turner.

Song: "Kafoozlemn, the Daughter of the Baba." Master Harry Stanford.

Recitation: "The Harebell." Master Samuel Moale.

Song: "My Grandfather's Clock." Petite Miss Fay Turner.

Song: "Thou Art So Near and Yet So Far." Mrs. W. H. Todd.

Comic Song and Dialogue: "Winnie's Welcome" (in character). Miss Annie Ford and Eddie Moale.

Song: "Down the Shadowed Lane." Miss Phœbe Wright.

Song: "Just to Please the Boys," (in character.) Miss Annie Ford and Miss Alice Conrad.

Song: "The Soldier's Orphan Boy." Master Eddie Moale.

Song: "Good Bye, Sweetheart." Mr. H. B. Hill.

Burlesque Operatta: "Il Jacobi, the Millionaire Bootblack." Mr. A. B. Keeler, Miss Phœbe Wright and Miss May Wright.

Whilst we have the inclination, we have not the time or space to notice in detail the many pieces and how well they were rendered by the different performers. Let it be sufficient to say that all acquitted themselves with great credit, making the entertainment a decided success in every respect. We are sure that every citizen of Benton has a high appreciation of the motives of those who seek to offer such amusements to our people, and hails with delight the new order of things that renders such entertainments possible and crowns them with success.

AN M. P. MURDERED.

Mr. Joseph Lessard, who returned from Fort Walsh on Wednesday last, reports the killing of a mounted policeman named Grayburn, about five miles from Fort Walsh, on the 17th inst. Grayburn had been detailed as herder or horse guard, and while riding from the Fort to the herders' camp was waylaid and treacherously murdered. When missed, search was made by a party of policemen headed by Lavellie, the guide, who first discovered the trail of the missing man's horse, together with a moccasin track and the foot prints of an Indian pony. Following these a short distance, the party discovered blood spots upon the snow, and other marks plainly indicating where the man had fallen from his horse. Further search soon revealed the body of Grayburn about twenty yards from the trail, down a steep embankment. He was quite dead, and an examination of his wounds showed that he had been shot from behind, the ball ranging upward, passing through the lungs and lodging under the skin on the right breast. It is conjectured that the unfortunate policeman was met by two Indians, one on foot, the other riding a pony; and while riding along and conversing with the two, the Indian on foot treacherously shot him from behind, killing him instantly. The two then threw his body over the embankment.

The case was at once reported at the Fort, and Col. Macleod ordered a guard placed over the remains that night, and the day following the Colonel rode to the scene of the murder and held an inquest, the verdict of which was that deceased died from the effects of a gun shot wound administered by some party unknown. Good trailers were then set to work to follow the murderer. Lavellie followed up the horse track until it led into an almost impenetrable thicket, where the horse of the murdered policeman was found tied to a tree and shot just behind the ear. Close by Grayburn's belt and ammunition were also found, but no trace of his gun was discovered. The moccasin track was trailed up to the summit of the mountains where it circled around to the scene of the murder, from thence circling and re-circling until it finally led to the camp of the Blood Indians near the Fort. Suspicion points strongly towards the Bloods, and the best prairie and mountain trailers are working up the case. The murdered man was buried on Monday with military honors.

This, we believe, is the first serious evidence of hostility shown by a Northern Indian towards the Mounted Police, and while it may afford no immediate cause for alarm, it is perhaps an indication of the general feeling among the Blood Indians, at least, if not among the Sioux and other tribes. If discovered, a speedy example should be made of the Indian murderer, and the authority of the Police should be strengthned by an increased military force.
