DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democrats of Iowa will meet in delegate convention at Des Moines, Iowa, on WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 16th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices: Governor.
Lieutenant governor.
Judge supreme court.
Superintendent public instruction.
Railroad commissioner.
And for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before the convention.
Each county will be entitled to two delegates and one additional delegate for every 200 votes and fraction of 100 or over cast for Fred E.
White for governor in 1897.
Counties will be entitled to delegates as follows:
Counties. Vote. Delegates.

All voters who believe in the principles advocated by the democratic party, and who are in favor of an economical and constitutional government, are cordially invited to participate in the selection of delegates to the state convention.
By order of the democratic state central committee.
FRED TOWNSEND, Chairman.
G. A. HOFFMAN, Secretary.

The National Watchman Says.

The bankers do not propose to allow President McKinley to dodge them any longer.
The war has thus far furnished an excuse to him to delay giving them a quid pro quo for their campaign contributions. They propose to bring him up to the bull ring in the next Congress.

At the term of the Supreme court now being held at Des Moines, ninety one students will be examined for admission to the bar. This has been before the largest class that has ever before the court for admission to practice.
Of the number forty-five are students from the Drake law school. It is expected that a decision will be handed down during the term in the famous Frank Novak murder case.

It is said that in the Philippines the law which relates to the property of married people is entirely in favor of the wife. Any property a bride may possess is never by any chance settled upon the husband, and if he is poor and the well off he can only become at most an administrator of her possessions.
After death it is said that unless she has executed a deed in her husband's favor, under a lawyer's direction, the property goes to her children and blood relatives, but none to her husband. A married woman retains her maiden name and adds to it that of her husband, with the prefix "Mrs." while the children bear the name of both parents.

"Gentlemen, I do not want my sons to grow up loafers," said the venerable William Skinner, of Holyoke, Massachusetts, when importuned by the promoters, for a reason for not giving an option upon his silk mill to the trust.
That was a terse statement of one of the probable effects of the trust system which is being built up under republican auspices. A share of your patronage is solicited. Charges right. Drive your draying to a man who has come to stay.

THE CAUSE OF MOTTLES.

The time cause of mottles is the use of too cold water in washing the butter and the manner in which it is introduced into the churn. By using too cold water the outside of the butter granules becomes crusted or hardened like the shell of an egg, while the inside is soft.
Now when this mass is worked together these little shells remain in the same condition, and no amount of working of temper will, or even distribution of salt when added, will change the conditions. They do not work up, consequently do not take salt, hence the fine threadlike streaks in the butter.
The manner in which the water is introduced into the churn is responsible for the large mottles, or seeming lumps of white butter throughout the mass.
In the majority of the creameries throughout the country the water is pumped directly into the churn, either through a hose or a pipe. Now, when the water strikes, it is but a few inches from the butter granules, and the water becomes hard and solid like the first case, only that these hard granules are not broken down at all, and the large mottles are the result.
The wash water should be tempered to within two or three degrees of the churn temperature.—N. Y. Produce exchange.

Farms Too Big for the Farmer

Much of the success of the farmer depends in the relationship between the farmer and his farm. Some men can manage an eighty acre farm successfully, but break down when it comes to 160 acres. Others can manage a quarter but cannot manage a half section. A team must always have greater power than the load which it is required to draw. There should always be a reserve power available when it comes to the hill or the mud hole. The farmer must always be bigger than his farm; the editor must always be larger than his paper; the business man, if he would always be successful, must always be capable of handling a larger business than he actually does. In short, there must always be a reserve power available for emergencies. The weaker must always be a servant of the stronger.
When the farm is larger than the farmer, it runs the farmer instead of the farmer running it. In that case the farmer goes under. Some man capable of handling the farm must get hold of it before it becomes a profitable investment. Our readers who have any paper, the business man, if he would
able for emergencies. The weaker

must always be a servant of the stronger.
investment. Our readers who have
always be successful, must always be
must always be a reserve power avail-
